I don't think McHugh & Keadle have worked that much. Beth, FCJ Thompson's Case Coordinator, mentioned that the reason Thompson is being sworn in tomorrow is because Judge Cummings is pushing her to because something with his retirement. That leads me to believe that he may be at or close to his limit. Judge Keadle is now helping out in Randolph, but so is Steptoe & Henning. I don't think there is anything that rejects these if they go over the limit. That is how former Family Court Judge Arrington got in trouble with the Retirement Board one year – he was paid 2 or 3 times his limit.

The only other senior status magistrate that could be close to meeting the limit is Nancy Means & she watches hers very closely.

I will ask Chris to check on Cummings and Keadle.

Hi, Shannon:

I got Carpenter's contract back, and it should be headed upstairs for the Chief Justice's signature.

I was thinking with his, it seems like there are others who would have reached the limit by now if he has. I know it's their responsibility to keep track and let us know, but is there something in place like with the financial / auditor people where they start rejecting invoices over the $20,000 or whatever it is? It just doesn't seem like Carpenter would have reached the limit first. Do Justice McHugh and Judge Keadle have contracts already?

THANK YOU!
Jen
