INTRODUCTION

A variety of new subjects is included in this edition of the Blue Book, one of the most important probably being the printing for the first time of a list showing the names and addresses of all the major party candidates for elective state offices from 1863 to and including 1940, and a complete list of all appointive state officers for the same period, together with information showing the date each office was created. The set-up of each state department has also been amended to show the date created and the location in the Capitol by unit or wing and floor.

Complete results of the primary and general election of 1940 are supplied in the Political section, followed by an abstract of the West Virginia election laws. The Census section has been revised to include the 1940 statistics which were released late in the year. The very latest available information with reference to state finances, business, manufacturing, etc., is supplied in other statistical sections of the book.

The entire field of prison reform and probation and parole is covered in the new Penal section, and the complete Selective Service personnel, by counties and districts, is included in the Military section. Both Agricultural and Conservation sections embrace much new material.

In addition to the Constitution of West Virginia, the Constitution of the United States is printed in full, and at the end is appended a table showing the date of the ratification by the West Virginia Legislature of all amendments submitted since 1863.

As usual, there is a review of business conditions in West Virginia in 1940, and a resume of the more important happenings during the year. Complete revision has been made in all state, federal, county and municipal registers.

The editor expresses again his deep appreciation to state and federal officials, circuit and county clerks, city clerks and recorders, and all others in public and private life who so willingly, cheerfully, and promptly responded to numerous requests for aid in the compilation of data for this edition of the Blue Book.

*The Constitution, originally consisting of a preamble and seven articles, was adopted September 17, 1787, at a convention in Philadelphia which had assembled on May twelfth of that year. ## ARTICLE I

Relation to the Government of the United States

1. The State of West Virginia is, and shall remain, one of the United States of America. The Constitution of the United States of America, and the laws and treaties made in pursuance thereof, shall be the supreme law of the land.

Internal Government and Police

2. The government of the United States is a government of enumerated powers, and all powers not delegated to it, nor inhibited to the States, are reserved to the States or to the people thereof. Among the powers so reserved to the States is the exclusive regulation of their own internal government and police; and it is the high and solemn duty of the several departments of government, created by this Constitution, to guard and protect the people of this State from all encroachments upon the rights so reserved.

Continuity of Constitutional Operation

3. The provisions of the Constitution of the United States, and of this State, are operative alike in a period of war as in times of peace, and any departure therefrom, or violation, thereof, under the plea of necessity, or any other plea, is subversive of good government, and tends to anarchy and despotism.

Representatives to Congress

4. For the election of representatives to congress, the State shall be divided into districts, corresponding in number with the representatives to which it may be entitled; which districts shall be formed of contiguous counties, and be compact. Each district shall contain, as nearly as may be, an equal number of population, to be determined according to the rule prescribed in the Constitution of the United States.

ARTICLE II

The State

1. The territory of the following counties, formerly parts of the Commonwealth of Virginia, shall constitute and form the State of West Virginia, viz.:

The counties of Barbour, Berkeley, Boone, Braxton, Brooke, Cabell, Calhoun, Clay, Doddridge, Fayette, Gilmer, Grant, Greenbrier, Hampshire, Hancock, Hardy, Harrison, Jackson, Jefferson, Kanawha, Lewis, Lincoln, Logan, Marion, Marshall, Mason, McDowell, Mercer, Mineral, Monongalia, Monroe, Morgan, Nicholas, Ohio, Pendleton, Pleasants, Pocahontas, Preston Putnam, Raleigh, Randolph, Ritchie, Roane, Summers, Taylor, Tucker, Tyler, Upshur, Wayne, Webster, Wetzel, Wirt, Wood and Wyoming. The State of West Virginia includes the bed, bank and shores of the Ohio River, and so much of the Big Sandy River as was formerly included in the Commonwealth of Virginia; in all territorial rights and property in, and jurisdiction over the same, heretofore reserved by, and vested in, the Commonwealth of Virginia, are vested in and shall hereafter be exercised by the State of West Virginia. And such parts of the said beds, banks and shores as lie opposite, and adjoining the several counties of this State, shall form parts of said several counties respectively.

[All of the territory of West Virginia was taken from the Commonwealth of Virginia and in the first constitution forty-four of the above named counties were designated as forming the State of West Virginia, and in addition the counties of Berkeley, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Morgan and Pendleton were to be admitted should the constitution be adopted by a vote of the people of the districts comprising the counties. The districts adopted the constitution and these six counties became a part of the State.

The remaining five counties were created by acts of the legislature as follows: Mineral County, from Hampshire County, on February 1, 1866; Grant County, from Hardy County, on February 14, 1866; Lincoln County, from parts of Cabell, Putnam, Kanawha and Boone Counties, on February 23, 1867; Summers County, from parts of Greenbrier, Monroe, Mercer and Fayette Counties, on February 27, 1871; and Mingo County, from Logan County, on February 23, 1895.]

Powers of Government in Citizens

2. The powers of government reside in all the citizens of the State, and can be rightly exercised only in accordance with their will and appointment.

Requisites of Citizenship

3. All persons residing in this State, born, or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, shall be citizens of this State.

Treason, What Constitutes—Penalty

6. Treason against the State shall consist only in levying war against it, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. Treason shall be punished according to the character of the acts committed, by the infliction of one, or more, of the penalties of death, imprisonment or fine, as may be prescribed by law.

“Montani Semper Liberi”—State Seal

7. The present seal of the State, with its motto, “Montani Semper Liberi,” shall be the great seal of the State of West Virginia, and shall be kept by the Secretary of State, to be used by him officially, as directed by law.

Magistrates Servants of People

2. All power is vested in, and consequently derived from the people. Magistrates are their trustees and servants, and at all times amenable to them.

Rights Reserved to People

3. Government is instituted for the common benefit, protection and security of the people, nation or community. Of all its various forms, that is the best which is capable of producing the greatest degree of happiness and safety, and is most effectually secured against the danger of maladministration; and when any government shall be found inadequate or contrary to these purposes, a majority of the community has an indubitable, inalienable and indefeasible right to reform, alter or abolish it in such manner as shall be judged most conducive to the public weal.

No bill of attainder, ex-post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of a contract, shall be passed.

Excessive Bail Not Required

5. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishment inflicted. Penalties shall be proportioned to the character and degree of the offense. No person shall be transported out of, or forced to leave the State for any offense committed within the same; nor shall any person, in any criminal case, be compelled to be a witness against himself, or be twice put in jeopardy of life or liberty for the same offense.

Unreasonable Search and Seizure Prohibited

6. The rights of the citizens to be secure in their houses, persons, papers and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated. ### Freedom of Speech and Press Guaranteed

7. No law abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press, shall be passed; but the Legislature may, by suitable penalties, restrain the publication or sale of obscene books, papers, or pictures, and provide for the punishment of libel, and defamation of character, and for the recovery, in civil actions, by the aggrieved party, of suitable damages for such libel, or defamation.

Relating to Civil Suits for Libel

8. In prosecutions and civil suits for libel, the truth may be given in evidence; and if it shall appear to the jury, that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives, and for justifiable ends, the verdict shall be for the defendant.

Private Property, How Taken

9. Private property shall not be taken or damaged for public use, without just compensation; nor shall the same be taken by any company, incorporated for the purpose of internal improvement, until just compensation shall have been paid, or secured to be paid, to the owner; and when private property shall be taken, or damaged, for public use, or for the use of such corporations, the compensation to the owner shall be ascertained in such manner as may be prescribed by general law: Provided, That when required by either of the parties, such compensation shall be ascertained by an impartial jury of twelve freeholders.

Safeguards for Life, Liberty and Property

10. No person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, and the judgment of his peers.

Political Tests Condemned

11. Political tests, requiring persons, as a prerequisite to the enjoyment of their civil and political rights, to purge themselves by their own oaths, of past alleged offenses, are repugnant to the principles of free government, and are cruel and oppressive. No religious or political test oath shall be required as a prerequisite or qualification to vote, serve as a juror, sue, plead, appeal, or pursue any profession or employment. Nor shall any person be deprived by law of any right, or privilege, because of any act done prior to the passage of such law.

Military Subordinate to Civil Power

12. Standing armies, in time of peace, should be avoided as dangerous to liberty. The military shall be subordinate to the civil power; and no citizen, unless engaged in the military service of the State, shall be tried or punished by any military court, for any offense that is cognizable by the civil courts of the State. No fact tried by a jury shall be otherwise re-examined in any case than according to the rules of the common law.

[This section, prior to its amendment, read as follows: "In suits at common law, where the value in controversy, exclusive of interest and costs, exceeds twenty dollars, the right of trial by a jury of twelve men, if required by either party, shall be preserved; except that in appeals from judgments of justices, a jury of a less number may be authorized by law; but in trials of civil cases before a justice no jury shall be allowed and no fact tried by a jury shall in any case be otherwise re-examined than according to the rules of common law."]

The amendment as set forth above was proposed by joint resolution of March 7, 1879, and was adopted at the general election in 1880. Vote on the amendment: For ratification, 56,482; against ratification, 34,073; majority, 22,409.]

Trial of Crimes—Provisions in Interest of Accused

14. Trials of crimes, and misdemeanors, unless herein otherwise provided, shall be by a jury of twelve men, public, without unreasonable delay, and in the county where the alleged offense was committed, unless upon petition of the accused, and for good cause shown, it is removed to some other county. In all such trials, the accused shall be fully and plainly informed of the character and cause of the accusation, and be confronted with the witnesses against him, and shall have the assistance of counsel, and a reasonable time to prepare for his defense; and there shall be awarded to him compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor.

Religious Freedom Guaranteed

15. No man shall be compelled to frequent or support any religious worship, place or ministry whatsoever; nor shall any man be enforced, restrained, molested or burthened, in his body or goods, or otherwise suffer, on account of his religious opinions or belief, but all men shall be free to profess, and, by argument, to maintain their opinions in matters of religion; and the same shall, in no wise, affect, diminish or enlarge their civil capacities; and the legislature shall not prescribe any religious test whatever, or confer any peculiar privileges or advantages on any sect or denomination, or pass any law requiring or authorizing any religious society, or the people of any district within this State, to levy on themselves, or others, any tax for the erection or repair of any house for public worship, or for the support of any church or ministry, but it shall be left free for every person to select his religious instructor, and to make for his support such private contract as he shall please.

Provisions for Removal of Officials

6. All officers elected or appointed under this Constitution, may, unless in cases herein otherwise provided for, be removed from office for official misconduct, incompetence, neglect of duty, or gross immorality, in such manner as may be prescribed by general law, and unless so removed they shall continue to discharge the duties of their respective offices until their successors are elected, or appointed and qualified.

General Elections, When Held—Term of Officials

7. The general elections of State and county officers, and of members of the legislature, shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November, until otherwise provided by law. The terms of such officers, not elected, or appointed to fill a vacancy, shall, unless herein otherwise provided, begin, on the first day of January; and of the members of the Legislature, on the first day of December next succeeding their election. Elections to fill vacancies, shall be for the unexpired term. When vacancies occur prior to any general election, they shall be filled by appointments in such manner as may be prescribed herein, or by general law, which appointments shall expire at such time after the next general election as the person so elected to fill such vacancy shall be qualified.

[The original section provided, that the general election should be held on "the second Tuesday of October," and the change was made in order that the election of state officers would fall on the same day as the presidential election. The original section also provided that the terms of office of members of the legislature should begin on the first day of November next succeeding their election, but the amendment provided that the term should begin on the first day of December.

[This section, prior to its amendment, read as follows: "No citizen shall ever be denied or refused the right or privilege of voting at an election because his name is not or has not been registered or listed as a qualified voter."

ARTICLE V*Division of Powers

1. The Legislative, Executive and Judicial Departments shall be separate and distinct, so that neither shall exercise the powers properly belonging to either of the others; nor shall any person exercise the powers of more than one of them at the same time, except that justices of the peace shall be eligible to the Legislature.

ARTICLE VI*Legislature

1. The legislative power shall be vested in a Senate and House of Delegates. The style of their Acts shall be, "Be it enacted by the Legislature of West Virginia."

Composition of Senate and House of Delegates

2. The Senate shall be composed of twenty-four, and the House of Delegates of sixty-five members subject to be increased according to the provisions hereinafter contained.

[The Senate is now composed of thirty-two, and the House of Delegates of ninety-four members.]

Senators and Delegates—Terms of Office

3. Senators shall be elected for the term of four years, and Delegates for the term of two years. The Senators first elected shall divide themselves into two classes, one Senator from every district being assigned to each class; and of these classes, the first to be designated by lot in such manner as the Senate may determine, shall hold their seats for two years, and the second for four years, so that after the first election, one-half of the Senators shall be elected biennially.

Division of State Into Senatorial Districts

4. For the election of Senators, the State shall be divided into twelve Senatorial districts which number shall not be diminished, but may be increased as hereinafter provided. Every district shall elect two Senators, but where the district is composed of more than one county, both shall not be chosen from the same county. The districts shall be compact, formed of contiguous territory, bounded by county lines, and, as nearly as practicable, equal in population, to be ascertained by the census of the United States. After every such census, the Legislature shall alter the Senatorial Districts, so far as may be necessary to make them conform to the foregoing provision.

[There are now sixteen senatorial districts, as provided by Acts of 1937, Ch. 128.]

Senatorial Districts Designated

5. Until the Senatorial Districts shall be altered by the Legislature as herein prescribed, the counties of Hancock, Brooke and Ohio, shall constitute the first Senatorial District; Marshall, Wetzel and Marion, the second; Ritchie, Doddridge, Harrison, Gilmer and Calhoun, the third; Tyler, Pleasants, Wood and Wirt, the fourth; Jackson, Mason, Putnam and Roane, the fifth; Kanawha, Clay, Nicholas, Braxton and Webster, the sixth; Cabell, Wayne, Lincoln, Boone, Logan, Wyoming, McDowell and Mercer, the seventh; Monroe, Greenbrier, Summers, Pocahontas, Fayette and Raleigh, the eighth; Lewis, Randolph, Upshur, Barbour, Taylor and Tucker, the ninth; Preston and Monongalia, the tenth; Hampshire, Mineral, Hardy, Grant and Pendleton, the eleventh; Berkeley, Morgan and Jefferson, the twelfth.

[By the provisions of the reapportionment act of 1937 (Acts 1937, Ch. 128) the number of senatorial districts was increased to sixteen, the number of senators to thirty-two, and the counties rearranged in the various districts.]

Provision for Delegate Representation

6. For the election of Delegates, every county containing a population of less than three-fifths of the ratio of representation for the House of Delegates, shall at each apportionment, be attached to some contiguous county or counties, to form a Delegate District.

[By the provisions of the Acts of 1901, Ch. 10, the House of Delegates consisted of eighty-six members, each county having at least one member. Since the general election of 1916, the House of Delegates has consisted of ninety-four members, each county having at least one member. See Ch. 30, p. 270, Acts 1915, Regular Session.]

Delegate Apportionment After Census

7. After every census the Delegates shall be apportioned as follows: The ratio of representation for the House of Delegates shall be ascertained by dividing the whole population of the State by the number of which the House is to consist and rejecting the fraction of a unit, if any, resulting from such division. Dividing the population of every Delegate District, and of every county not included in a delegate district, by the ratio thus ascertained, there shall be assigned to each a number of Delegates equal to the quotient obtained by this division, excluding the fractional remainder. The additional Delegates necessary to make up the number of which the House is to consist, shall then be assigned to those Delegate Districts, and counties not included in a Delegate District, which would otherwise have the largest fractions unrepresented; but every Delegate District and county not included in a Delegate District shall be entitled to at least one Delegate.

Designation of Delegate Districts

8. Until a new apportionment shall be declared, the counties of Pleasants and Wood shall form the first Delegate District, and elect three Delegates; Ritchie and Calhoun the second, and elect two Delegates; Barbour, Harrison and Taylor the third, and elect one Delegate; Randolph and Tucker the fourth, and elect one Delegate; Nicholas, Clay and Webster the fifth, and elect one Delegate; McDowell and Wyoming the sixth, and elect one Delegate.

[There are now no delegate districts, each county having at least one member.]

Further Apportionments

9. Until a new apportionment shall be declared, the apportionment of Delegates to the counties not included in Delegate Districts, and to Barbour, Harrison and Taylor counties, embraced in such districts, shall be as follows:

To Barbour, Boone, Braxton, Brooke, Cabell, Doddridge, Fayette, Hampshire, Hancock, Jackson, Lewis, Logan, Greenbrier, Monroe, Mercer, Mineral, Morgan, Grant, Hardy, Lincoln, Pendleton, Putnam, Roane, Gilmer, Taylor, Tyler, Upshur, Wayne, Wetzel, Wirt, Pocahontas, Summers and Raleigh counties, one Delegate each.

To Berkeley, Harrison, Jefferson, Marion, Marshall, Mason, Monongalia and Preston counties, two Delegates each.

To Kanawha County, three Delegates.

To Ohio County, four Delegates.

[Many changes have been made in this apportionment. Kanawha County, the largest in population, now has eight delegates.]

Arrangement of Senatorial and Delegate Districts

10. The arrangement of the Senatorial and Delegate Districts, and apportionment of Delegates, shall hereafter be declared by law, as soon as possible after each succeeding census, taken by authority of the United States. When so declared they shall apply to the first general election for members of the Legislature, to be thereafter held, and shall continue in force unchanged, until such Districts shall be altered, and Delegates apportioned, under the succeeding census.

Additional Territory May Be Admitted Into State

11. Additional territory may be admitted into, and become part of this State, with the consent of the Legislature and a majority of the qualified voters of the State, voting on the question. And in such case provision shall be made by law for the representation thereof in the Senate and House of Delegates, in conformity with the principles set forth in this Constitution. And the number of members of which each house of the Legislature is to consist, shall thereafter be increased by the representation assigned to such additional territory.

Residence Requirements for Senators and Delegates

12. No person shall be a Senator or Delegate who has not for one year next preceding his election, been a resident within the District or county from which he is elected; and if a Senator or Delegate remove from the District or County for which he was elected, his seat shall be thereby vacated.

Eligibility to Seat in Legislature

13. No person holding a lucrative office under this State, the United States, or any foreign government; no member of Congress; no person who is a salaried officer of any railroad company, or who is sheriff, constable, or clerk of any court of record, shall be eligible to a seat in the Legislature.

Bribery Conviction Forfeits Eligibility

But such imprisonment shall not extend beyond the termination of the session and shall not prevent the punishment of any offense, by the ordinary course of law.

Accounting for State Monies

27. Laws shall be enacted and enforced, by suitable provisions and penalties, requiring sheriffs, and all other officers, whether State, county, district or municipal, who shall collect or receive, or whose official duty it is or shall be to collect, receive, hold or pay out any money belonging to, or which is, or shall be, for the use of the State or of any county, district, or municipal corporation, to make annual account and settlement therefor. Such settlement, when made, shall be subject to exceptions, and take such direction, and have only such force and effect, as may be provided by law; but in all cases such settlement shall be recorded, and be open to the examination of the people at such convenient place or places as may be appointed by law.

“Majority” Defined

32. Whenever the words, “a majority of the members elected to either house of the Legislature,” or words of like import, are used in this Constitution, they shall be construed to mean a majority of the whole number of members to which each house is, at the time, entitled, under the apportionment of representation, established by the provision of this Constitution.

Compensation of Members

33. The members of the Legislature shall each receive for his services the sum of five hundred dollars per annum and ten cents for each mile traveled in going to and returning from the seat of government by the most direct route. The only change made in section 33 was to strike out the words “four dollars per day” and insert “five hundred dollars per annum.” Vote on the amendment: For ratification, 160,929; against ratification, 122,744; majority, 38,185.]

(1) Every such appropriation shall be embodied in a separate bill limited to some single work, object or purpose therein stated and called herein a supplementary appropriation bill; (2) each supplementary appropriation bill shall provide the revenue necessary to pay the appropriation thereby made by a tax, direct or indirect, to be laid and collected as shall be directed in said bill unless it appears from such budget that there is sufficient revenue available; (3) no supplementary appropriation bill shall become a law unless it be passed in each house by a vote of a majority of the members present, and the yeas and nays recorded on its final passage. Each supplementary appropriation bill shall be presented to the governor of the State as provided in section fourteen of article seven of the Constitution and thereafter all the provisions of said section shall apply.

Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as preventing the Legislature from passing in time of war an appropriation bill to provide for the payment of any obligation of the State of West Virginia within the protection of section ten of article one of the Constitution of the United States.

Sub-Section D—General Provisions

First: If the "Budget Bill" shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the expiration of its regular session, the governor may, and it shall be his duty to issue a proclamation extending the session for such further period as may, in his judgment, be necessary for the passage of such bill; but no other matter than such bill shall be considered during such extended session except a provision for the cost thereof.

The board of public works may provide for public hearings on all estimates and may require the attendance at such hearings of representatives of all agencies, and all institutions applying for state monies. After such public hearings, it may, in its discretion, revise all estimates except those for the legislative and judiciary departments, and for the public schools as provided by law.

Third: The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.

Fourth: In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, except amendments thereto heretofore made and ratified by the people, the provisions of this section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall be construed as preventing the governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by section seven of article seven, or as preventing the Legislature at such extraordinary sessions from considering any emergency appropriation or appropriations.

If any item of any appropriation bill passed under the provisions of this section shall be held invalid upon any ground, such invalidity shall not affect the legality of the bill or of any other item of such bill or bills.

or if there be no such person, as aforesaid, then to any person (other than those for whose default the same may have been forfeited, or returned delinquent, their heirs or devisees), for so much of said land as such person shall have had claim to and actual continuous possession of, under color of title for any five successive years after the year 1865; and have paid all State taxes charged or chargeable thereon for said period.

When for any five successive years after the year 1869, the owner of any tract of land containing one thousand acres or more, shall not have been charged on such books with State tax on said land, then by operation hereof, the land shall be forfeited and the title thereto vested in the State. But if, for any one or more of such five years, the owner shall have been charged with State tax on any part of the land, such part thereof shall not be forfeited for such cause. And any owner of land so forfeited, or of any interest therein at the time of the forfeiture thereof, who shall then be an infant, married woman, or insane person, may, until the expiration of three years after the removal of such disability, have the land, or such interest charged on such books, with all State and other taxes that shall be, and but for the forfeiture would be, chargeable on the land, or interest

5. The Journal of the Senate shall be daily drawn up by the Clerk and shall be read the succeeding day. It shall be printed under the supervision of the Clerk and delivered to the members without delay. 42. When a bill or resolution of the House of Delegates is passed or rejected by the Senate, the fact of its passage or rejection, with the bill or resolution, shall be communicated to the House of Delegates.

Messages

43. Messages may be introduced in any stage of business except when a question is being put by the presiding officer, while the yeas and nays are being called by the Clerk, or while the ballots are being counted.

Passage of Bills and Joint Resolutions

44. When a bill or joint resolution is put upon its passage, the President shall propound the question, "Shall the bill (or joint resolution as the case may be) pass?" On the passage of every bill or joint resolution the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and be entered on the Journal. When the bill is on a second reading, and the question is upon striking out, the President shall propound the question: "Shall these words be stricken out?"

Motions

45. When the question is pending, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, for the previous question, to lie on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to adjourn the question to a different day, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are herein arranged.

46. On the first reading of a bill, a motion to reject the bill shall be in order.

Adverse Report by Committee

47. If a Committee shall have reported adversely to a bill, the President immediately after the report of said committee is read shall put the question: "Shall the bill be rejected?", which question shall have precedence over all motions, except a motion to adjourn.

Reconsideration of Vote

48. The question being once determined must stand as the judgment of the Senate, and cannot during the session be drawn again into debate unless reconsidered, and it shall be in order to reconsider any vote only within two legislative days next after the one upon which such vote was taken. A motion to reconsider shall be in order only when made by a Senator who voted with the prevailing side, and when the vote was not taken by yeas and nays all Senators will be conclusively presumed to have voted with the prevailing side.

49. When motions are made for reference of the same subject to a select committee, and to a standing committee, the question in reference to the standing committee shall be first put.

Division of the Question

50. If the question in debate contains several points, any member may have the same divided; but on motion to strike out and insert, it shall not be in order to move for a division of the question, but the rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition; nor prevent a subsequent motion to simply strike out; nor shall the rejection of a motion simply to strike out prevent a subsequent motion to strike out and insert.

51. In filling blanks, the largest sum and the longest time shall be first put.

Previous Question

52. There shall be a motion for the previous question, which being ordered by a majority of the members present, if a quorum, shall have the effect to cut off all debate and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions on which it has been asked and ordered. The previous question may be asked and ordered upon a single motion, a series of motions, or may be made to embrace and authorize motions and amendments and include the bill to its engrossment and third reading and then, on renewal and second of said motion, to its passage or rejection. It shall be in order pending a motion for or after the previous question shall have been ordered on its passage, for the President to entertain and submit a motion to commit with or without instructions to a standing or select committee; and a motion to lay upon the table shall be in order on the second and third reading of a bill.

A call of the Senate shall not be in order after the previous question is ordered, unless it shall appear upon an actual count by the President that a quorum is not present.

All incidental questions or orders arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether an appeal or otherwise, without debate.

Yeas and Nays

53. When the yeas and nays are ordered, or a call of the Senate is directed, the names of the members shall be called in alphabetical order.

54. The yeas and nays on any question shall, at the desire of one-tenth of the members present, be entered on the Journal and any member may enter any protest on the Journal upon the determination of any question. After the yeas and nays shall have been taken, and before they are counted or entered on the Journal, the Clerk shall read over the names of those who voted in the affirmative and those who voted in the negative, at which time any member shall have the right to correct any mistake committed in enrolling his name.

55. When a bill or joint resolution passed by the Senate shall be amended by the House of Delegates, the question on agreeing to the bill or joint resolution, as amended, shall be again voted on by yeas and nays in the Senate, and the result entered upon its Journal. In all such cases the affirmative vote of a majority of all the members elected to the Senate shall be necessary.—(Const., art. 6, sec. 31.)

56. In all elections of officers which may take place in the Senate the vote of a majority of all the members elected to the Senate shall be necessary.

57. In all elections of officers which may take place in the Senate the vote shall be viva voce, and be entered upon the Journal.—(Const., art. 6, sec. 44.)

Executive Session

58. When nominations shall be made in writing by the Governor to the Senate, a future day shall be assigned, unless the Senate unanimously direct otherwise, for taking them into consideration.

59. When acting on the nominations of the Governor, the Senate shall be cleared of all persons except the Clerk, his assistants, the Sergeant-at-Arms and Doorkeeper, and all such officers shall be sworn to secrecy.

60. All confidential communications made by the Governor to the Senate and all proceedings thereon, shall be by the members thereof kept secret until the Senate shall, by unanimous affirmative vote of the members present, remove the injunction of secrecy.

61. All information and remarks touching the character or qualification of any person nominated by the Governor to office, shall be kept secret. The Legislative proceedings and the executive proceedings of the Senate shall be kept and recorded in separate books.

Constitutional Amendment

62. When an amendment to be proposed to the Constitution is under consideration, the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected to the Senate shall not be requisite to decide any question for amendments, or extending to the merits, being short of the final question.

Adjournment

63. When the Senate adjourns each day, it shall stand adjourned to 2 o'clock P. M. the next day, unless the Senate otherwise direct.

64. When the Senate adjourns each day, every member shall keep his seat until the President leaves the chair.

Parliamentary Practice

65. In all cases not provided for by the Rules of the Senate or the Joint Rules of the Senate and House of Delegates, the Senate shall be governed by the practice in the House of Representatives of the United States.

Suspension of Rule

66. No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor and no rule shall be suspended except by a vote of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate present.

Withdrawal of Bills from Committee

67. Any bill, resolution or business may, by a vote of the majority of the members present, be withdrawn from the committee to which it had been referred or be taken from the table, and placed upon the regular or special calendar of the Senate in such order of business as the Senate may direct.

RULES OF THE HOUSE OF DELEGATES*(Regular Session, 1939)

ELECTION AND DUTIES OF OFFICERS*Officers and Their Compensation

1. The House, at the commencement of each Legislature, shall elect a Speaker, Clerk, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper. All officers, except the Speaker, shall receive such compensation as the House may determine.

Vote to be Viva Voce

2. In the election of officers by the House, the vote shall be given viva voce, and a majority of the whole number of votes given, a quorum being present, shall be necessary to elect. If, upon any vote, there be no election, the person having the lowest number of votes shall be dropped, and any votes thereafter given to such person shall not be taken into the counting to affect the result in any way. But if two or more have the lowest and equal number of votes, they may be voted for again. No question before the House, or in committee of the whole, shall be voted on by ballot.

DUTIES AND RIGHTS OF THE SPEAKER*Call to Order

3. The Speaker shall take the chair on each legislative day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned; shall immediately call the members to order and, after prayer, if a quorum is present, proceed to the order of business.

Preservation of Order

4. The Speaker shall preserve order and decorum while the House is in session; enforce the rules and orders of the House; prescribe the order in which business shall come up for consideration, subject to the rules and orders of the House; announce the question of business before the House when properly requested by any member; receive all messages and communications; put to vote all questions which are properly moved; announce the result of all votes and authenticate, when necessary, the acts and proceedings of the House.

Decorum in Debate

5. In debate, the Speaker shall prevent personal reflections and confine members to the question under discussion, but he shall not engage in any debate, or propose his opinion on any question without first calling some other member to the chair. When two or more members arise at the same time, he shall name the one entitled to the floor.

Questions of Order

6. The Speaker shall decide all questions of order subject to an appeal to the House when demanded by any ten members. He may speak to questions of order in preference to other members, and may make the concluding speech on any appeal from his decision, notwithstanding, he may have before spoken on the question; but no other members shall speak more than once on such appeal without leave of the House.

When properly requested by a member, the Speaker shall inform the House upon any point of order or practice pertinent to the business before it.

Preserving Order in Galleries

7. The Speaker shall have general control of the House Chamber, lobbies, and rooms and of the corridors and passages in that part of the Capitol assigned to the use of the House. In case of any disorderly conduct or disturbance in the galleries, corridors or passages, he shall have the power to order the same to be cleared, and may cause any person guilty of such disturbance or disorderly conduct to be brought before the bar of the House. In all such cases the members present may take such measures to prevent a repetition of such misconduct, either by the infliction of censure or such other penalty, as may be authorized by law, on the parties thus offending, as the House may deem best.

Presiding Officer in Absence of Speaker

8. The Speaker may designate by an appointment in writing entered upon the Journal of the House, any member to perform the duties of the chair for a period not exceeding three consecutive legislative days, but for no longer period, except by special consent of the House, and the member so designated shall be during the time for which he is designated, vested with all the powers and duties conferred by these rules, or by law, upon the Speaker. The Speaker shall have the right to call any member to the chair to perform the duties of Speaker but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment.

If the Speaker be absent at the time appointed for the meeting of the House, it shall be called to order by the Clerk, and a Speaker pro tempore selected by the House. The Speaker pro tempore shall preside over the House until such time as the Speaker shall be present.

Appointment of Attaches

9. The Speaker shall as soon as practicable after being authorized, appoint for the House such committee clerks, stenographers, pages and other attaches and employees as the House may by resolution direct, and may at his discretion remove any person so appointed and appoint another in his stead. He may also appoint, without resolution, a private secretary and a stenographer to himself. He shall appoint an official Chaplain whose duty it shall be to be present at the convening of each day's session for the purpose of opening the session with prayer.

Appointment of Committees

10. The Speaker shall appoint all committees, except where the House shall otherwise order. In appointing standing committees he shall designate the chairman and vice chairman of same. In the absence of the chairman of a committee the vice chairman shall preside. ### Vote of the Speaker

Clerk to Have Custody of All Records

18. The Clerk shall have the custody of all records and papers of the House, and shall not allow them to be taken from the table or out of his possession without the leave of the House, unless to be delivered to the chairman of a committee to which they may have been referred and then he shall take a proper receipt therefor. A copy of all bills for printing shall be furnished the Clerk by the public printer.

SERGEANT-AT-ARMS

Duties

22. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to attend the House and the Committee of the Whole during their sittings and to maintain order under the direction of the Speaker. He shall execute the commands of the House from time to time, together with such process, issued by the authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the Speaker.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES OF MEMBERS

Absence From the House

24. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House unless he have leave, or be sick and unable to attend, but any member who conscientiously believes that the seventh day of the week ought to be observed as the Sabbath shall be excused from attending upon the House on that day.

Every Member to Vote

25. Every member present when a question is put, or when his name is called, shall vote unless he is immediately and particularly interested therein, or the House excuses him. A motion to excuse a member from voting must be made before the House divides, or before the call of the yeas and nays is commenced, and it shall be decided without debate, except that the member making the motion may briefly state the reason therefor.

Members Shall Be in Places When Voting

26. While the yeas and nays are being taken every member shall be in his seat, and during the session of the House no person other than a member shall occupy the chair of a member.

Quorum

27. A majority of all the members elected to the House shall be necessary to proceed to business; seven members may adjourn, and ten members may order a call of the House, send for absentees, and make any order for their censure or discharge. On a call of the House, the doors shall not be closed against any member until his name shall have been called twice.

When Less Than Quorum Present

28. In case a number less than a quorum of the House shall convene, they are hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person or persons by them authorized, for any and all absent members as the majority of such members shall agree, at the expense of such absent members, respectively, unless such excuse for nonattendance shall be made as the House, when a quorum is convened, shall judge sufficient; and, in that case, the expense shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the House. This rule shall apply to the first meeting of the House, at the legal time of meeting, as well as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the House stood adjourned.

Taking Members Into Custody

29. No member of the House shall be taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms, on any question of complaint or breach of privilege, until the matter is examined by the Committee on Elections and Privileges, and reported to the House of Delegates, unless by order of the Speaker of the House of Delegates.

Punishment of Members

30. The House of Delegates may punish its own members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members elected thereto, expel a member, but not twice for the same offense. (Const., Art. 6, Sec. 25.)

Providing for Undisturbed Transaction of Business

31. The House of Delegates may punish, by imprisonment, any person not a member, for disrespectful behavior in its presence; for obstructing any of its proceedings, or any of its officers in the discharge of their duties, or for any assault, threat or abuse of any member for words spoken in debates; but such imprisonment shall not extend beyond the termination of the session.

ORDER AND DECORUM IN DEBATE

Recognition and Decorum

32. When a member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise in his place and respectfully address the presiding officer, as "MR. SPEAKER," and, upon being recognized, shall proceed, confining himself to the question under debate, avoiding all personalities and indecorous or disrespectful language.

When a member arises and addresses the Chair, the Speaker may recognize him by name; but no member in debate shall designate another by name.

Recognition by the Chair

33. When two or more members shall rise at the same time, the Speaker shall name the one who is to speak first, and his decision shall be final and not open to debate or appeal. However, in all other cases the member who shall rise first and addresses the Chair shall be first recognized.

Mover of Question to Have Preference in Debate

34. No question shall be debated until it has been propounded by the Speaker and then the mover of the question shall have the right to open and close the debate thereon.

Member Out of Order

35. When any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, but may be permitted, with leave of the House, to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide the case, but without debate. If there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to: if the decision be in favor of the member so called to order, he is at liberty to proceed; if the decision be against him, and the case requires it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House, or such other punishment as the House may properly impose.

Calling to Order for Words Spoken in Debate

36. If a member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to and they shall be taken down at the Clerk's table. And no member shall be held to answer, or be subjected to the censure of the House, for words spoken in debate, if any other member has spoken or other business has intervened after the words were spoken and before the exception to them was taken.

Decorum During Debate

37. While the Speaker is putting a question, ascertaining the result, or addressing the House, no one shall walk out of or across the House; and when a member is speaking, no one shall engage in conversation or pass between him and the Speaker.

Limitation on Debate

38. No member shall speak except in his place, and not more than twice on a question, except by leave of the House. And if a question be pending at the time of an adjournment and is renewed on the succeeding day, no member who shall have spoken twice on the preceding day shall be permitted again to speak without leave of the House. The House by majority vote may limit debate on any question.

Members Not to Be Disturbed While Speaking

39. No one shall disturb or interrupt a member who is speaking, without his permission, except to call to order if he be transgressing the rules.

Speaking Before Negative is Put

40. When the Speaker is putting the question, any member who has not spoken before to the matter may speak to the question before the negative is put.

PUTTING QUESTIONS AND VOTING

Putting Question; Division

41. All questions shall be put distinctly in this form, to-wit: "As many as are in favor [as the question may be] say 'Aye'." and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "As many as are opposed say 'No'." If the Speaker be in doubt as to the result, or if a division is called for by any member, the House shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and be counted, and afterward those in the negative. The count may be made by the Speaker, or, if he so directs, by the Clerk, or two members, one from each side, to be named for that purpose by the Speaker. When the result is ascertained the Speaker shall rise and state the decision of the House. Such vote shall not be printed in the Journal unless the yeas and nays are called for by not less than nine members of the House prior to the announcement of the decision by the Speaker.

Yeas and Nays

42. On the passage of every bill and joint resolution, and when the yeas and nays on any question are called for by one-tenth of those present, the Speaker shall direct the roll to be called, and every member present shall answer "Aye" or "No" when his name is called, unless excused. Before the result is announced the Clerk shall read to the House the names of those who voted in the affirmative, and then those who voted in the negative, at which time any member may correct a mistake committed in taking down his vote. The result shall then be announced, and the yeas and nays entered on the Journal, but if the House so orders, the announcement of the result and the entry of the yeas and nays upon the Journal may be postponed to the succeeding day, with liberty to absent members at any time before the result is announced by the Speaker, to appear and vote "Aye" or "No," in the presence of the House; and any member may, in the presence of the House, change his vote before the result is announced. The Journal shall also show those absent and not voting.

Upon calls of the House, in taking the yeas and nays, the names of the members shall be called alphabetically, except the Speaker shall be called last.

Pairs

43. Members may pair on any question by filing a signed statement of the same with the Clerk, who shall read the same to the House before the vote is taken. A blank form of pair for use of members shall be provided by the Clerk. No pair shall be recognized unless made in person by the member signing the same, or unless one or both of the parties thereto are absent.

Division of Question

44. Any member may call for a division of any question before the vote thereon is taken, if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition will remain for the decision of the House, but the member calling for the division of a question shall state in what manner he proposes it shall be divided. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible, but a motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither amendment nor motion to strike out and insert.

Calling of Yeas and Nays

45. No member or any person shall visit or remain by the Clerk's table while the yeas and nays are being called.

Tie Vote Loses Question

46. In all cases when the House is equally divided, the question shall be lost.

Verification of Vote

47. When a question upon which the yeas and nays have been taken has prevailed or failed by not more than five votes, the Speaker may, upon request of five members, order a verification of the vote. During such verification, no member shall change his vote unless it was erroneously recorded, nor may any member not having voted cast a vote. A verification must be called for immediately after a vote is announced and before any other business has intervened.

Explanation of Vote

48. No member shall be allowed to make any explanation of his vote during the taking of the yeas and nays; but after the roll has been called and the vote announced, any member may explain his vote and the explanation shall be recorded in the Journal if he requests it. The Speaker may limit the time allowed members for explaining votes.

When Members Not to Vote

49. Any member who has a personal or private interest in any measure or bill proposed or pending before the House shall disclose the fact and not vote thereon.

Voting Machine

49-a. A voting machine may be used in taking the yeas and nays on any question, for quorum calls and for determining the result when a division is demanded. When a vote is to be taken on the voting machine the Speaker shall announce the question to be voted upon and direct the Clerk to prepare the machine. The Clerk shall then sound the gong which shall be notice to all members to vote. After reasonable time has been given all members to vote the Speaker shall ask the question: "Have all members voted?" vote himself, if the vote being taken is upon a question on which he is required to vote, and then direct the Clerk to close the machine and ascertain the result. As soon as this is done, the Clerk shall hand the record of the vote to the Speaker and he shall promptly announce the result. No vote may be changed after it has been recorded.

No member shall vote for another member, nor shall any person not a member cast a vote for a member. In addition to such penalties as may be prescribed by law, any member who shall vote or attempt to vote for another member may be expelled as a member of the House or punished in such other manner as the House may determine. If a person not a member shall vote or attempt to vote for any member, he shall be barred from the floor of the House for the remainder of the session and may be further punished in such manner as the House may deem proper, in addition to such punishment as may be prescribed by law.

All other rules governing voting and the taking of the yeas and nays, insofar as applicable, shall apply to taking votes by means of the voting machine.

MOTIONS

Stating the Question

50. When a motion is made, it shall be stated by the Speaker; or, being in writing, it shall be passed to the desk and read aloud by the Clerk before debate.

Form of Motion

51. Every motion, except subsidiary, or incidental motions, shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member desires it; but this exception shall not apply to motions to amend.

Withdrawal of Motions

52. After a motion is stated by the Speaker or read by the Clerk, it is deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment, unless the previous question has been ordered, in which case it can only be withdrawn by leave of the House.

Order of Precedence of Motions

53. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received except:
1. To adjourn.
  2. To lay on the table.
  3. For the previous question.
  4. To postpone to a day certain.

5. To go into a Committee of the Whole on the pending question immediately.
6. To commit to a Committee of the Whole.
7. To commit to a Standing Committee.
8. To commit to a Select Committee.
9. To amend.
10. To postpone indefinitely.

These several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have precedence of another motion to amend; and if carried, the bill is rejected.

Motion to Adjourn

54. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the House is voting, or while a member is addressing the House, or when no business has been transacted since the motion to adjourn has been defeated.

Motions Not Debatable

55. The following motions shall be decided without debate, and shall not be amended:

1. To adjourn.
2. To fix the time to which the House shall adjourn.
3. To lay on the table.
4. For the previous question.
5. To suspend the constitutional rule requiring bills to be read on three several days.
6. To recess.

Motions Not in Order

56. No motion directing the appropriation or payment of money shall be in order.

Effect of Indefinite Postponement

57. When a question is postponed indefinitely, it shall not be again acted on during the session.

Motion to Reconsider

58. A motion to reconsider any question may be made by any member who voted with the majority, or in case of a tie vote, by any member. This motion shall be made on the same or next succeeding legislative day of the House. Such a motion, if seconded, shall take precedence of all other questions, except the consideration of a conference report or a motion to adjourn, and unless by motion postponed until some future time shall be acted upon at once. A motion to reconsider shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House, and if the House decides to reconsider, any member may thereafter call the subject up for consideration. A motion to reconsider a question, having been put and lost, shall not be renewed.

Debate on Motions to Reconsider

59. Debate shall be allowed on a motion to reconsider only when the question which it is proposed to reconsider is debatable. Where debate upon a motion to reconsider is in order, no member shall speak more than once nor for a longer period than three minutes.

Reconsideration of Question Requiring More Than Majority Vote

60. When a majority of members present vote in the affirmative on any question, but the question be lost because it is one in which the concurrence of a greater number than a majority of a quorum is necessary to an affirmative decision, any member may move for a reconsideration.

Effect of Motion to Table

61. A motion to lay on the table shall only have the effect of disposing of the matter temporarily, and may be taken from the table at any time after the eighth order of business has been passed.

Motion Must Be Germane

62. No motion on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

Previous Question

63. When any question is before the House, any member being in order and having the floor may move the previous question, but such motion to be put must be sustained by being seconded by ten members. The question being moved, the Speaker shall say, "Is the motion sustained?" and those favoring the motion shall rise. If a sufficient number arise, the previous question shall be thereby seconded, and the question shall then be put in this form, "Shall the main question be now put?" If this question be decided in the affirmative by a majority of the members voting, a quorum being present, it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question or questions upon which it has been asked and ordered, except when the motion applies to the main question, the members in charge of the measure under consideration, shall have five minutes to close the discussion before the vote is taken; and when the motion applies to an amendment the person proposing the amendment shall have three minutes to close the discussion on the amendment. Should the previous question be decided in the negative, the House shall proceed with the matter before it as though the previous question had not been moved.

When a member moves the previous question he shall specifically state in his motion whether it shall apply to the main question and the amendments or to the amendment or amendments only.

The previous question shall not be admitted in the Committee of the Whole.

MEETING OF THE HOUSE

Time of Meeting

64. The House shall meet every day, except Sunday, unless it shall be otherwise directed by special order, precisely at the hour to which it shall have adjourned at its last sitting; but if no hour were fixed at such sitting, then at two o'clock p. m.

To Be Presented in Triplicate

94. All bills shall be presented in triplicate and signed by the member introducing the same, the original copy for the use of the committee and for the permanent files of the House, the second for printing and copying, and the third for the use and accommodation of the members of the press, which shall be kept by the Clerk in some convenient place for this purpose.

Upon any bill there may be a motion to dispense with the constitutional rule, in order that the bill may be read twice or three times on the same day, and upon the first or second reading of any bill there may be a motion to dispense with the constitutional rule in order that the bill may, upon such reading, be read by its title. Provided, That in all cases there shall be three readings on each bill, and that an engrossed bill shall be fully and distinctly read. (See Const., Art. 6, Sec. 29.)

On the first reading of a bill, it may at any stage of the reading be rejected on motion.

Second Reading

104. No bill shall be put upon its second reading until the same shall have been printed and delivered to the members of the House at least one day previous to such reading, unless in case of emergency.

Amending and Engrossment

The bill shall then be reprinted and shall be the engrossed bill, and shall be designated as such. If no amendments are made the bill as originally printed may be ordered to its third reading and shall become the engrossed bill, and shall be designated as such. All House bills ordered to their engrossment and third reading shall be jacketed and engrossed with their number, title, by whom introduced, and if the bill is finally passed, the date of its passage and the signature of the Clerk. If a House bill is passed by the Senate and returned to the House without amendment, or if amended and the amendment or amendments be agreed to, it shall then be turned over to the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills. In the case of a Senate bill on second reading, if the same be amended by the House and passed on as amended, the amendment or amendments shall be noted in full on slips of paper in typewriting and attached to the bill at the proper place by the Clerk before the bill is returned to the Senate, and all the amendments shall also appear in the House Journal.

(Const., Art. 14, Sec. 2.) When a proposed amendment to the Constitution is under consideration, the vote of a majority of the members present shall be sufficient to decide an amendment thereto or any collateral or incidental questions thereto short of the final question.

[NOTE: Joint resolutions are used only for amendments to the State Constitution and to ratify amendments to the Federal Constitution. Such resolutions do not have to be submitted to the Governor for his approval.]

(2) Concurrent Resolutions: Concurrent resolutions shall be used for the purpose of expressing the sentiments of the Legislature, for authorizing expenditures incidental to the sessions and business of the Legislature, for agreeing upon adjournments beyond the constitutional limitation, for creating special joint committees, for raising a joint assembly and other inferior and incidental purposes of legislation, and such other purposes as the Legislature may deem proper. The adoption of such resolutions must be concurred in by both houses.

(3) House Resolutions: These simple resolutions shall be used for expressing the will or order of the House on matters in which the concurrence of the Senate is not necessary. This rule does not deny a member the right to introduce a resolution from the floor in case of urgency. The different classes of resolutions shall be numbered by the Clerk and entered in full in the Journal.

Action on in House

110. All joint resolutions shall be referred to the appropriate committee, and when any other resolution is presented, containing no reference of the subject thereof to a committee, it shall lie over for one day, to come up under the ninth order of business unless a majority of the House orders otherwise.

Petitions

111. All petitions, remonstrances, memorials and other papers addressed to the House shall be filed by the members with the Clerk prior to the convening of the House. When in the regular order of business the time is reached for presenting petitions or any such papers, the Clerk shall read a list of those on file, giving the member's name presenting same and a brief resume of the contents thereof, and the same shall be referred to the Committee of the member's selection unless otherwise ordered by the House. Each member upon filing any such petition, remonstrance or other paper, shall endorse thereon his name, and if not so endorsed it shall not be received. The Journal shall show the name of the member presenting such papers, a brief resume of the contents thereof, and the disposition made of same.

115. Amendments shall be read by the Clerk and stated by the Speaker before being acted upon.

By Striking Out Enacting Clause

116. A motion to amend by striking out the enacting clause of a bill shall have precedence over another motion to amend, and, if carried, the bill or resolution is rejected.

Amendment to an Amendment

117. A motion to amend a pending amendment may be received, but until it is disposed of no other motion to amend will be in order. But pending such amendment, a motion to amend in the nature of a substitute, and a motion to amend that substitute, may be received, but shall not be voted upon until the original matter is perfected.

Amendment to Have Precedence Over Substitute

118. If a substitute for a bill or resolution be offered, a motion to amend the original bill or resolution shall have precedence.

Motion to Amend to Have Precedence Over One to Strike Out

119. If a motion be made to strike out part of a bill or resolution, a motion to amend the part proposed to be stricken out shall have precedence.

Filling Blanks

(Const. Art. 7, Sec. 31.)

Amendment by Section

123. If a bill is being considered section by section, only amendments to the section under consideration shall be in order. After all sections have been considered separately, the whole bill shall be open for amendment except that an amendment seeking to strike out matter previously inserted and containing substantially no new proposition shall not be in order.

Amending Titles

124. After the passage of a bill or joint resolution, amendments to its title may be offered when the title is read for approval.

Amendments to Senate Bills

125. Any Senate bill or resolution may be amended in the same manner as a House bill or resolution. If a Senate bill or resolution is amended the same shall be noted by the Clerk on the jacket containing same before it is reported to the Senate.

After the reading of a Senate amendment to a House bill or resolution the question shall be, "Will the House concur in the Senate amendment?" But it shall be in order to move that the House concur in the Senate amendment with an amendment; or that the House refuse to concur and ask the Senate to recede.

If the Senate shall refuse to concur in a House amendment to a Senate bill or resolution, the following motions shall be in order and shall be privileged in the order named: First, That the House recede; Second, That the House insist and ask for a committee of conference; Third, That the House adhere.

Printing Official Copies

130. After the printed Journal has been approved and fully marked for correction, the type from which it was printed shall be changed in accordance therewith. From the type so corrected shall be printed the number of copies required by law for the regular bound volumes of the Journal, which shall be properly indexed. In addition thereto six copies shall be printed on 6x9 heavy-weight bond paper, with a certificate at the end thereof, certifying that the same is the official Journal of the House and the same shall be signed by the Speaker and Clerk. Such printed Journal shall be the official record of the House. They shall be bound in flexible binding, and bear the imprint on the back, "Official Journal of the House of Delegates of West Virginia," with designation of regular or special session, as the case may be, and the year. After being signed by the proper officers, two of these copies shall be retained in the office of the Clerk, and one copy shall be lodged in the office of the Governor, one with the Secretary of State, one with the Department of Archives and History, and one with the Clerk of the Senate.

Inserting Motions

132. Every written motion made to the House shall be inserted in the Journal with the name of the member making it, unless it be withdrawn on the same day it is submitted.

CHANGE OR SUSPENSION OF RULES

Rescinding or Amending Rules

133. All propositions to amend or rescind any standing rule or order of the House shall be by resolution and be at once referred, without debate, to the Committee on Rules, and shall be reported therefrom within two days. Any such resolution may be adopted by a majority vote, a quorum being present.

[NOTE: The power to make its rules of procedure is given the House under Sec. 24, Art. 6 of the Constitution.]

Suspension of Rules

134. These rules shall not be suspended, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present. Unless there be a unanimous consent for the suspension of rules, the vote shall be determined by yeas and nays.

[NOTE: The motion to suspend the rules is usually preceded by a member requesting unanimous consent of the House to do a particular thing. If no one objects the House is deemed to assent, and what is desired is allowed accordingly. If objection is made, then the member may move that the rules be suspended for the specific purpose or object he has in view. A motion to lay on the table may not be applied to a motion to suspend the rules. (Hind's Precedents, Sec. 5405.)]

Manual and Rules

135. On any question of order or parliamentary practice where the rules of the House or the joint rules of the House and Senate are silent or inexplicit, Jefferson's Manual and the Digest of the Rules and Practices of the House of Representatives of the United States Congress shall be considered as authority.

[NOTE: Jefferson's Manual was prepared by Thomas Jefferson for his own guidance as President of the United States Senate in the years he was Vice-President, from 1797 to 1801. The House of Representatives, in 1837, by rule which still exists, provided that the provisions of the Manual should "govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House." The Manual is regarded by English parliamentarians as the best statement of what the law of Parliament was at the time Jefferson wrote it. (House Manual and Digest), 70th Congress, 1st Sess., Sec. 278.]

2. As soon as the Senate, being organized, is informed that the House of Delegates is ready to proceed, as provided by section three of article seven of the Constitution, to open and publish the returns of the elections for state officers, the Senate, preceded by its president and other officers shall repair in a body to the hall of the House of Delegates. Upon their arrival the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Delegates, shall announce the presence of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall then address the Speaker of the House, stating that a majority of the Senate have assembled in the hall of the House of Delegates to be present at the opening and publishing of the returns of the elections for state officers, held on the.....day of.....

The Speaker of the House of Delegates shall invite the President of the Senate to a seat upon his right, and the other members of the Senate and officers thereof to take seats assigned them, and after announcing that a majority of the House of Delegates is present, shall then open and publish the returns of said election, proceeding by counties in alphabetical order, the Clerks of the two houses each taking down the returns as announced by the Speaker; to be entered upon the Journal of the House; and when completed and estimated the Speaker shall announce the votes received by each person voted for, for each of said offices, and those receiving the largest number of votes shall be by him declared duly elected; and the Senate shall then return to its hall; and if any two or more candidates for any of said offices have an equal and the highest number of votes for the same office, the two houses shall immediately proceed to choose one of such persons for said office by a joint vote, as provided by Section 3 of Article VII of the Constitution.

Disagreement and Conference

3. Whenever a measure of one house is amended in the other and the house in which it originated shall refuse to concur in the amendment, the house amending the measure may either insist or recede therefrom. But when a measure originating in one house is amended in the other, the house in which it originated may amend such amendment and a motion therefor shall take precedence of a motion to concur. If said house refuses to concur, the other house may either recede from or insist upon its amendment, and a motion to recede shall take precedence of a motion to insist. The motion to lay on the table or to postpone indefinitely shall not be in order in respect to the motion to recede from or to insist.

A motion to recede having failed shall be equivalent to the adoption of a motion to insist and shall be so entered upon the Journal. A motion to insist being decided in the negative shall be equivalent to the adoption of a motion to recede and shall be so entered upon the Journal. If the motion to insist prevails, the house so insisting shall request a committee of conference on the subject of disagreement, and shall appoint a committee therefor. The other house may thereupon appoint such committee. Unless a different number is agreed upon, such conference committee shall consist of five members from each house.

Such committee shall consider and report upon, only the subject matter of the amendment or amendments which were in disagreement, with necessary consequential changes. The committee shall meet at a convenient time, to be agreed upon by their chairman, and having conferred freely, shall report to their respective houses the result of the conference. In case of agreement, the report shall be first made, with the papers referred accompanying it, to the house which refused to concur, and there acted upon; and such action, with the papers referred, shall be immediately reported by the Clerk to the other house. In case of disagreement, the papers shall remain with the house in which the measure originated. If an agreement is reached, the report shall be made and signed in duplicate by at least a majority of the conferees from each house, one of the duplicates being retained by the conferees of each house.

Messages Between the Houses

4. When a message is sent by one house to the other, it shall be announced at the door of the house to which it is sent, by the Doorkeeper thereof, if it be in session, and then be respectfully communicated to the presiding officer by the person by whom it may be sent, but no message shall be received during a call of the roll. But the Clerk of one house may communicate a message to the Clerk of the other after adjournment, and any message so sent shall be received by the house to which it is sent whenever it may be in session.

Introduction of Bills

5. No bill, other than an appropriation bill, shall be introduced in either house after the fiftieth day of the session unless permission to introduce the bill be given by a concurrent resolution, setting out the title of the bill, and adopted by a two-thirds vote of all the members of each house present and voting.

One House to Notify Other of Rejection of Bill

6. When a bill or resolution passed in one house is rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be sent to the house in which the same shall have been passed.

Record of Bills

7. The Clerks of the two houses shall keep separate records or registers, in which shall be recorded every action taken by the Senate and House on each bill and resolution.

Clerk to Endorse Bills

8. The Clerks of the two houses shall endorse on each bill a statement of any action taken by their respective bodies.

Notice to Be in Writing

9. Notice to either House of the action of the other shall be in writing, signed by the Clerk of the House giving such notice.

Each House to Have Control of Own Printing

10. Each House may order the printing of bills, resolutions, reports and other documents without the consent of the other.

Joint Committees

11. Joint standing committees of the Senate and House shall be appointed as follows:

(1) Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills, to consist of five members from each House.

(2) Committee on Joint Rules, to consist of the presiding officers and two members of each House, to be appointed by the presiding officers.

(3) Such other joint committees as may be provided for by concurrent resolutions. A bill or resolution referred to a joint committee may be recalled from such committee by the House in which it originated.

Engrossed Bills to Be Filed With Clerk of House

12. All engrossed bills passed by, and joint and concurrent resolutions adopted by, both houses shall be filed with the Clerk of the House to be kept with the rolls of the Legislature and to be used by him in printing and publishing the acts of the Legislature.

Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills

13. The Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills shall consist of five members of the Senate and five members of the House of Delegates to be appointed by the presiding officer of each house, whose duty it shall be to compare carefully all bills and joint resolutions passed by both houses with the enrollment thereof, and to correct any errors or omissions they may discover and to make reports to their respective houses from time to time, of the correctly enrolled bills or joint resolutions. It shall be in order for the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills to report at any time.

Printing Enrolled Bills

14. After a bill has been passed by both houses, the type from which it was originally printed shall be corrected as to any typographical errors that may not previously have been corrected and to include any amendments that may have been made by either house since the last printing of the bill. After the type has been so corrected two hundred copies of the bill shall be printed (except charter bills, of which only twenty-five of each shall be printed). Twelve of these copies shall be on seven and one-fourth by ten bond paper, twenty pound basis of at least fifty per cent rag content, for the use of the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills, one of which copies when properly authenticated, shall become the enrolled bill, and the remainder shall be on twenty pound basis, sulphite bond paper. From these copies all judges shall be furnished enrolled bills as provided for in section fourteen, article one, chapter four of the code.

Authentication of Enrolled Bills

15. Enrolled bills shall be authenticated by the signature of the chairman of the House Committee and the chairman of the Senate Committee, composing such Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills, but in the absence of such chairman another member of the committee may act in his stead, and they shall require all bills and joint resolutions before such authentication to be free from interlineations or erasures and destroy any previous enrollment containing any interlineations or erasures. A certificate, showing in which House the bill originated and the date it takes effect, signed by the Clerks of the two Houses, shall be endorsed on the bill. After enrolled bills and joint resolutions are authenticated as aforesaid, they shall be signed by the Speaker of the House and by the President of the Senate.

Presenting Bills to Governor

16. After a bill shall have thus been signed in each house, it shall be presented by the said committee to the Governor, for his approval. The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be entered on the Journal of each house.

Record of Enrolled Bills

17. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Enrolled Bills to keep a record book of all bills presented to the Governor for his approval. The title and number of each bill presented to the Governor shall be entered in this book and when a bill is presented to him, the date presented and the signature of the Governor, showing receipt of same, shall be entered at the side of each title.

Action of Governor on Bills

18. Every bill disapproved by the Governor shall be returned by him to the house in which it originated, with his objection thereto unless the Legislature shall by its adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State within five days after said adjournment.

Every bill approved by the Governor shall, within five days after it is presented to him, be filed in the office of the Secretary of State and the fact of said approval communicated by the Governor to the house in which said bill originated.

Every bill which shall be neither approved nor disapproved by the Governor, shall immediately after the expiration of five days from the time it is presented to him, be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, who shall forthwith engross thereon a certificate to the following effect: "I certify that the foregoing act, having been presented to the Governor for his approval, and not having been returned by him to the house of the Legislature in which it originated within the time prescribed by the Constitution of the state, has become a law without his approval," and shall date and sign the same. The Governor shall notify the house in which the bill originated of each bill becoming a law without his approval.

Upon each bill returned to either house of the Legislature with the objections of the Governor, the Clerks of the Senate and House of Delegates shall engross the action, if any, of their respective houses on the reconsideration and passage of said bill, and sign the same.

Joint Meetings of Committees

19. Whenever any bill has been referred by the Senate to one of its standing committees, and the same or like bill has been referred by the House to one of its committees, the chairman of the respective committees, when in their judgment the interest of legislation or the expedition of business will be better served thereby, may arrange for a joint meeting of their committees for the consideration of such bill. All joint committee meetings shall be presided over by the chairman of the Senate committee.

What Shall Be Printed in the Journal

20. The following shall always be printed in the Journal of each House:
- (a) Messages from the Governor and messages from other House, the titles of all bills, and the title and text of all resolutions.
  - (b) Every vote taken by yeas and nays in each House, and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to each House.
  - (c) A true and accurate account of the proceedings of each House.

Manner of Printing the Journal and Bills

21. In printing the daily Journal of the proceedings of each house there shall be printed at the top of each page, except the first, the date of the Journal and on the last page of each day's Journal shall be printed the calendar for the next day.

At the top of the first page of each bill, preceding the title and number thereof, there shall be printed the name of the person by whom or the committee by which it was introduced and the date of introduction; and at the top of each page, except the first, shall be printed the number of the bill.

Use of Legislative Halls and Offices

22. Permission to use other than for statutory purposes, either Legislative chamber or offices used by the two houses may be granted by the President of the Senate or Speaker of the House as the case may be. During legislative sessions, the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate shall have power to regulate the use of the halls and stairways of the parts of the capitol building used by their respective houses, for any purpose whatsoever.

Resolutions

23. Resolutions requiring concurrent action may originate in either House, and shall be of two kinds, namely:

Joint Resolutions: These resolutions shall be used for proposing amendments to the State Constitution and for ratifying amendments to the Federal Constitution. Joint resolutions shall be adopted as provided in section two, article fourteen of the Constitution.

Concurrent Resolutions: Such resolutions shall be used for all purposes not covered by joint resolutions as defined above.

WEST VIRGINIA STATE FLAG

(See Frontispiece)

The present design for the West Virginia state flag was adopted by the legislature March 7, 1929. The proportions are the same as those of the United States ensign.

The field is pure white, upon the center of which is emblazoned in proper colors the coat-of-arms of the state, upon which appears the date of the admission of West Virginia into the Union and the motto "Montani Semper Liberi" (Mountaineers Always Freemen).

Above the coat-of-arms of the State of West Virginia there is a ribbon lettered, "State of West Virginia," and a wreath of rhododendron maximum in proper colors is arranged appropriately around the lower part thereof. The field of pure white is bordered by a strip of blue on four sides.

THE STATE FLOWER

The rhododendron, or big laurel (rhododendron maximum), was named as the official state flower under the provisions of a joint resolution adopted by the legislature of West Virginia January 23, 1903, during the administration of Governor Albert Blakeslee White.

THE GREAT SEAL OF WEST VIRGINIA

The seal, adopted by the legislature September 26, 1863, was designed by Diss Debar, of Saint Clara, Doddridge County, who served as Commissioner of Immigration under Governor Boreman, and who was a member of the Legislature of 1864.

*OFFICIAL MUNICIPAL REGISTER

CLASS I, II AND III CITIES

Under the provisions of Chapter 56, Acts of the Legislature, regular session, 1939, municipal corporations are classified by population as follows: (1) Population in excess of 50,000, Class I city; population more than 10,000 and not more than 50,000, Class II city; and population more than 2,000 and not more than 10,000, Class III city. Municipal corporations not included in these classifications are known as towns or villages.

Transition from one to another class of municipal corporation occurs automatically when the requisite population qualification has been met. Population is determined on the basis of the last preceding census taken under the authority of the Congress of the United States or the Legislature of West Virginia. Census of 1940 is used as basis in determining class of cities listed in Register.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America as a Government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign Nation of many sovereign States; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.—William Tyler Page.

THE PLEDGE TO THE FLAG

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America
 And to the Republic for which it stands,
 One Nation, indivisible,
 With liberty and justice for all.

*The Federal Communications Commission has set aside for use of the state police over the entire United States a band of frequencies or channels from 1600 to 1712 kilocycles. Because of the limited space in the radio spectrum, it is impossible for each state to have a clear channel of its own, but extreme care has been exercised to make sure that the states using the same frequency are located geographically as far apart as is possible.

AGRICULTURE

THE DAIRY INDUSTRY IN WEST VIRGINIA

Dairying and its various associated industries brought about $10,000,000 in cash to West Virginia farmers in 1939. In addition, a substantial sum was realized by individuals engaged in processing, distributing, and retailing dairy products. It is, therefore, easy to see that this phase of agriculture, taken in the aggregate, comes under the head of "big business."

This important division of farming in West Virginia is not static. Butter manufacture, for example, increased very nearly one thousand per cent from 1935 to 1939. National markets are opening to receive the dairy products originating on West Virginia farms. Modern transport and modern refrigeration are key factors in the development of this principal feature in West Virginia's agricultural picture.

Originally the dairy industry was a farm enterprise, with the farmer selling or giving away to neighbors his surplus of milk, cheese, and butter. As the population increased and the people of towns and villages created a demand for dairy products, local farmers inaugurated milk routes. Then came the city distributor, the individual who set up business right in town and who bought milk from surrounding farmers and subsequently bottled and distributed it to consumers. This small business was the forerunner of the modern city dairy plant, which buys milk in large quantities from farmers over a wide area, and which processes and pasteurizes milk and supplies the consuming public with all types of dairy products, including milk, cream, ice cream, and cottage cheese.

As the dairy business grew, those interested in the success of the industry adopted sanitary programs of production, handling and marketing, one of the principal requirements being that milk must be produced from clean, healthy cows, and handled in clean, sanitary quarters. The old milk can was replaced by the glass bottle on the retail route. On the farm appeared the modern dairy barn and milk house. Provision was made for testing cows for tuberculosis and Bang's disease, sanitary machinery and utensils were installed for the handling of milk, and modern methods of delivery provided for the benefit of both distributor and customer.

In 1935, the butter manufacturers of West Virginia organized. Five years later, with the cooperation of the state department of agriculture, they were able to report an annual production nearly one thousand per cent greater than in the year of organization. And yet this increased output represents only one-twelfth of the volume of butter consumed in the state, an indication of the possibilities in this one division of the dairy industry.

While the activity in the butter manufacturing business was providing new markets at home for dairy farmers, another factor entered the picture. The Carnation Company built and has in operation at Clarksburg a condensery with a production capacity of 300,000 pounds daily. The average daily production for the month of October, 1940, was 60,000 pounds, equivalent to 7,500 gallons of milk. It will thus be seen that this one plant is equipped to handle five times as much milk as is being purchased today.

In addition to the Carnation Company plant at Clarksburg, outside capital has established a receiving and cooling plant at Ellenboro, from where the product is taken to a condensery in Ohio. Another condensery, financed by local interests, will soon be opened at Sistersville.

As time goes on, it is probable that additional dairy processing plants will be established in the state. The department of agriculture has, within the past year, received a number of inquiries from outside capital regarding locations for condenseries and cheese plants. And with this, indications are that the next ten years will see strong developments on the side of production. As additional markets are provided, additional production will follow to feed these markets; and since the potential for dairy production in West Virginia has not nearly been approached, it is not over-optimism to say that in the future dairy production will provide a substantial new stimulus for farm income.

With the development of the business as a whole will come changes on our small West Virginia farms. Better living conditions may be expected. There will be better buildings, and more comfortable homes, with modern conveniences. The need for refrigeration, light, power, and the telephone will necessitate the expansion of these utilities into additional communities.

It is noteworthy that West Virginia dairymen are showing greater interest in better cattle, heavier production, and the development of purebred herds. In 1938, through the combined support of the state dairy and breed associations, the department of agriculture and other agencies, and some commercial organizations, the first state dairy cattle show was held. The show was repeated in 1939 and 1940, with a sale of registered dairy cattle being an added feature. If present plans are carried out, the show and sale will be repeated annually.

Indicative of the extent of the processing and marketing side of the dairy industry in West Virginia is the fact that in the fiscal year 1939-1940, a total of 191 creamery licenses were issued by the state department of agriculture to milk and ice cream plants, butter plants, cream stations, and cheese factories. This list does not include retail dairy outlets.

Just as dairying is a leader in producing farm incomes, so is it a leader in the development of modern agriculture. Dairy farming has virtually revolutionized the old system of farming. As an industry it has brought about the silo, the present system of distribution of commercial dairy feeds, the modern plan of crop rotation, the crops of alfalfa, lespedeza, and soybeans, the development of green silage from green hay, and the use of molasses and other preservatives in silage. In short, the dairy industry has changed the American system of farming, and the future undoubtedly will see even greater developments.

SOIL CONSERVATION ACTIVITIES IN WEST VIRGINIA

By L. L. LOUGH

State Coordinator, Soil Conservation Service

A few decades ago, the hills of West Virginia were covered with the finest growth of hardwoods and blue grass found anywhere in this country. The fertile valleys were well drained by creeks and rivers flowing with clear water. Game was plentiful in our fields and forests, and the pure water in our streams assured an abundance of fish at all times. Good crops could be produced most everywhere in the state. Fertile top soil covered the hills for a depth of from eight to twelve inches, and for a much greater depth than that in the valleys.

Today, the timber is nearly all gone. Most of the hill land is denuded not only of desirable vegetation, but also of most of the top soil. The streams are clogged with debris, and rarely do we find the water clear. The valleys have been over-cultivated and many acres of good bottom land are covered with non-fertile material, washed in from denuded hills. Erosion is evident everywhere we look. Game and fish are scarce. Thousands of acres will no longer produce a paying crop. Farmers by the thousands are striving to eke out an existence on poor, eroded land that was once productive. What has happened to change the picture so drastically in a few generations, and what has the future in store for the large numbers of people who are depending on the soil for a living?

The Problem

In 1934, a survey was made by the Soil Conservation Service to discover what part, if any, erosion played in bringing about the change. The survey showed that 39,458 acres had been totally destroyed by erosion. In addition, 4,032,191 acres were found to have lost from 75 to 100 per cent of the top soil, 9,736,326 acres from 25 to 75 per cent, and 1,477,050 acres up to as much as 25 per cent. This frightful loss of top soil, literally "the cream of the land," easily explains the change in the agricultural situation in this state. The future welfare of those directly depending upon the soil, as well as everyone who is indirectly affected, depends upon conserving what soil is left and assisting nature to restore some of that which has been lost.

Beginning Attack on Erosion

The Soil Erosion Service was set up in 1933 to help farmers protect their soil against the erosive forces of wind and water. In 1935, the organization was renamed the Soil Conservation Service. With information gathered from farmers who have tried to check erosion in the past and from state and federal agriculture experiment stations, a series of demonstration projects were established to attack the erosion problem by assisting individual farmers to plan and carry out erosion control and water conservation measures on their farms.

The first demonstration project was set up in Roane and Wirt counties in 1934. Projects were set up afterwards in Marshall, Jackson, Harrison, Greenbrier, Monroe, Cabell, Randolph, and Berkeley counties. In each of these demonstration areas, technical assistance was made available to the farmer in the reorganization of his farm for the purpose of obtaining the best land use and establishing control measures necessary to prevent erosion. At the present time, approximately two thousand farmers, in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service, are carrying out complete soil and water conservation programs on their farms.

Aid to the Farmer

These farmers are demonstrating in a practical way the correct land use and control of erosion on their farms. The demonstrations are proving very helpful in getting other farmers to adopt better methods of farming which lead to conservation of soil and water.

In order to complete their demonstration within a period not to exceed five years, the farmers in West Virginia whose farms were selected as demonstrators were given assistance other than technical by the Soil Conservation Service. First of all, assistance was rendered the farmer in the matter of determining the physical and economic conditions that should be considered in the development of a conservation program for his farm. With this information at hand, the farmer and technician from the Soil Conservation Service proceeded to reorganize the farm by determining the correct use to which each acre should be put. Then an agreement was reached as to what portions would best be used for woodland, pasture, and cultivation. Fences on many farms had to be relocated and new fences constructed. Materials and labor from CCC camps were provided in cases where it was found that the farmer possessed insufficient resources to complete the job.

After the farm was divided into areas with respect to the use to which such areas should be put, an examination was made of each area to determine what practices should be employed to conserve the soil and water. On the cultivated areas the very first job was to work out a crop rotation that would meet the needs of the farmer and prevent erosion. Such measures as contour cultivation, contour strip-cropping, terracing, and the use of diversion ditches were employed where conditions made one or more of them necessary. Technicians aided in establishing contour lines, and laying out strips, diversion ditches, and terraces. In many cases, labor and machinery were provided for the construction of the diversion ditches and terraces.

The pasture areas required considerable attention, and in all instances parts of the pasture were treated with lime and fertilizer. The farmer was given assistance in the matter of establishing contour furrows, repairing gullies, reseeding, building pasture division fences, and planting steep bluffs with walnuts.

In reorganizing the farm, all badly eroded and steep areas were retired to forest lands and wildlife plantings. To protect them from grazing, these areas, together with existing woods, had to be fenced. Labor and wire were provided where actually needed.

Demonstration Stage Passes

Through the desire and willingness of the farmer and the limited assistance provided by the Soil Conservation Service and other agricultural agencies, it has been possible to establish adequate demonstrations throughout the state which may serve as a nucleus for future conservation programs. The soil conservation practices which have been applied and tested on demonstration areas should eventually be extended over a wider portion of West Virginia agricultural land. The policy of the Soil Conservation Service is to assist farmers, through the medium of soil conservation districts, state agricultural extension services, state experiment stations, and other local, state, and federal agencies, in extending conservation practices to all the farms in the state.

Soil Conservation Districts

The Soil Conservation Districts Law was passed by the West Virginia Legislature at the regular session in 1939. Since June, 1939, when the law became effective, five districts have been organized within the state. Several additional districts will be organized in the near future.

Under the West Virginia law, land owners, with the assistance of the State Soil Conservation Committee, may organize soil conservation districts covering areas having definite conservation problems of similar nature. Such areas may include one or more counties or parts of one or more counties, or may be on a watershed boundary basis. Before the district can be legally set up, a referendum must be held and sixty per cent of the land owners within the proposed area must vote in the affirmative. A soil conservation district is administered by a governing body made up of five farmers and land owners living in the district. This governing body develops a conservation program and, when requested by farmers, provides assistance in carrying out a program on the individual farms.

The soil Conservation Service recognizes that sufficient demonstrational work has been done in West Virginia to form a basis for a state-wide conservation program. Soil conservation districts seem to provide the best medium through which conservation might be applied on all of the land. The Service will, therefore, upon the request of the governing body of the district, render all assistance possible to help carry out a complete conservation program in such district.

Varied Activities

In addition to the activities mentioned, the Soil Conservation Service has purchased more than 7,000 acres of sub-marginal land in Mason County. This area will be developed in every way consistent with good land-use practices for the best interests of the community in general.

A farm forestry project covering all Lewis County was started in May, 1940. The objective of this project is to foster the practice of farm forestry in agriculture, with a view to conserving soil and water resources, improving farm income, and aiding in the establishment of sound and economical land-use methods. Farmers are being given assistance in developing a good management program for their woodlots and are being furnished limited aid in carrying out the program.

The service has provided the Agricultural Extension Service technical assistance in planning approximately one hundred demonstration farms for soil and water conservation. These demonstration farms are located in counties outside of demonstration projects and are limited in number to not more than five in any one county.

Technical assistance and CCC labor have been provided the State Road Commission in establishing several miles of road bank erosion control demonstrations.

At the present time, the Soil Conservation Service and the West Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station are cooperatively carrying on several studies covering the economics of soil conservation and improved practices for erosion control and water conservation.

MOUNTAINEER BOYS' STATE

Boys' State is a mythical 49th State of the Union in which selected boys from the junior and senior classes of senior high schools create and form their own government. Beginning with the Sixth Mountaineer Boys' State in 1941, boys will be chosen only from the junior classes.

The first Boys' State was conducted in July, 1935, under the auspices of The American Legion of Illinois. To West Virginia goes the honor of being the second state in which the Boys' State was organized. Mountaineer Boys' State, sponsored by The American Legion of West Virginia, was incorporated in 1936, and the first session under the charter was held at Jackson's Mill, in Lewis County, May 31-June 6, 1936.

The corporation was organized in accordance with a resolution adopted by The American Legion at the 1935 convention in Fairmont, the incorporators being William G. Stathers, of Clarksburg, Phil M. Conley, W. Elliott Nefflen, and J. Franklin Greenlee, of Charleston, and Edward McGrail, of Parkersburg. The resolution provided for the establishment of a training camp and the setting up of a program for boys of high school age for the purpose of acquainting them with the principles of good citizenship. To the incorporators named in the charter, as well as to G. Stanley Hamric, Department Adjutant of The American Legion, R. Worth Shumaker, who has served as chief counselor since the organization in 1936, and the members of The American Legion of West Virginia generally all credit is due for the success of this important undertaking.

Since 1935, the Boys' State movement has spread throughout the country. In 1940, The American Legion, through its several departments, conducted a Boys' State in thirty-four states, the total enrollment being in excess of twenty thousand. The interest in Boys' State is not limited to the members of The American Legion. This important citizenship activity for youth is also supported wholeheartedly by many civic, religious, labor, and fraternal organizations throughout the state.

Prior to a certain time determined each year by the officials of the corporation, each Legion post is given the opportunity of making at least one reservation for a Boys' State citizen. Enrollment on a population basis takes place until April fifteenth, and the secretary of Boys' State, Inc., notifies each post of the number of members to which each county and post is entitled.

After April fifteenth, and until the quota (usually 350) of citizens is filled, applications are filed with less territorial restrictions. The fee in 1940 was fixed at twelve dollars.

When an application for membership is received, the boy is given a number. Those who are assigned the odd numbers automatically become members of the Nationalist Party. The Federalist Party is made up of those who receive the even numbers.

Mountaineer Boys' State is headed by a boy governor, ably assisted by a board of public works consisting of a secretary of state and the other elective state officials provided for by the Constitution and statutes of West Virginia. The boys set up their own political organizations, and each party conducts a primary election, in which candidates file for office. After the primary election the nominees of each party conduct a campaign for election to the offices to which they aspire. The primary election is run off the first day of the session and the general election the second day.

After the election and the new officials have been inducted into office, the remainder of the week's program is devoted to instruction in government by trained professional and public spirited citizens who have knowledge of the science of government. However, it must be remembered that the boys themselves perform all the work in connection with the offices to which they have been elected.

Every function of government operates. Courts are set up and judges regularly chosen, and other state officials take office and discharge their duties in the same manner as their "big brother" officials at the Capitol and elsewhere in West Virginia.

The State has its own state senate and house of delegates, with officials chosen by the respective bodies. The provisions of the West Virginia Code, supplemented by such additional measures as may be passed by the Boys' State legislature, are followed in the conduct of affairs of Boys' State.

Each boy at the camp actively participates in this serious but fascinating citizenship training. He learns that the orderly processes of law are indispensable in a democracy and that the duty of each citizen is to see to the preservation of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness guaranteed by the Constitution.

*The term "center of population", as used by the Census Bureau, is that point which may be considered as the center of gravity of the United States; in other words, the point upon which the United States would balance if it were a rigid plane without weight and the population distributed thereon, with each individual being assumed to have equal weight and to exert an influence on a central point proportional to his distance from the point.

In terms of latitude and longitude, the 1930 center is located in latitude 39° 3' 45" North, longitude 87° 8' 6" West. The closeness with which the center of population throughout its westward movement has clung to the thirty-ninth parallel of latitude is remarkable. The point farthest north was reached in 1790 and farthest south in 1830, but the difference was only 21.4 miles.

FISHING SPACE IN WEST VIRGINIA

By PAUL D. OLEJAR

Director of Education, Conservation Commission

The picture of a West Virginian with squirrel gun and fishing pole is not as farfetched as many people would believe. West Virginians are among the most outdoorsminded peoples in the United States, and hunting and fishing license sales reflect this inherited inclination. Although twenty-seventh in rank among the states as to population, the Mountain State is eleventh in the number of hunting and fishing licenses sold, being exceeded only by the very populous states. Or, stating it another way, a hunting and fishing license is purchased by one out of every 10.5 persons living in this state, compared with the average in the United States of one license for every 17.8 persons, including women and children.

An abundance of wildlife has made possible the outdoors avocations of so many residents of this state. Some of the most cherished and desirable game species of fish, birds, and mammals have made these lands their homes. As the years have gone by, much of this plentitude has vanished to the point of actual shortage and even extermination of some species. Probably no living West Virginian can remember seeing wild bison roam at large through the valleys, but there are many who can still recall the hordes of passenger pigeons, so numerous they blotted out the sun and broke down trees on which they alighted by the thousands. Today, of course, the wild bison no longer roams in our state and the passenger pigeon is extinct, not only in West Virginia, but in the world. Perhaps a few older residents can dimly remember the abundance of beaver which provided a steady and profitable source of income for trappers. The majority, however, have never seen a beaver, because this valuable animal was virtually exterminated and unknown for years until a restoration program was begun some years ago. As the result, a half hundred beaver colonies can be observed today, but even so this desirable animal can hardly be said to have more than a foothold on its comeback trail as yet.

In streams which ran cold and clear for hundreds of miles beneath sheltering trees, a marked change also has taken place. The shade has been removed due to cutting of timber, waters have been polluted, forest fires have caused untold destruction and other causes have made many such streams merely trickles in summer months, too warm for prized game fish such as the native brook trout. In rivers and other large streams, the sturgeon and spoon bill catfish, once commercially valuable, have become virtually extinct, and the catching of one is an occasion for newspaper mention. Other species, such as the white perch and striped bass, have become confined to a few restricted localities where they hang on grimly. In many miles of stream the only fish found are immigrant species such as the rainbow trout, introduced by man and maintained there only by constant replenishing from state and federal fish hatcheries. Even the common, prolific minnow is fighting a losing battle and emergency restocking is under way to help turn the tide.

The guiding agency in the efforts of West Virginians to conserve, perpetuate and manage their living renewable natural resources is the Conservation Commission. Since game, fish, forestry, and scenic and recreational efforts were coordinated in 1933 by creation of this agency, considerable progress has been made. This coordination of effort based upon technical advice has been abetted by the considerable aid of Civilian Conservation Corps manpower. As a result, it can be truthfully said that in spite of increased rod and gun pressure, and in spite of increased accessibility of formerly remote streams and coverts, hunting and fishing in general are definitely on the upgrade. Despite this fact, the path for conservation still is long and steep. The gains in conservation so far made paradoxically lead toward the most mountainous obstacle of all, namely, the limited hunting and fishing space.

The problem is especially acute in relation to angling. On most of the streams still offering reasonable good game fishing, space for the angler is at a premium on weekends and holidays. A finesse seems necessary at times in order to place hook and line in the water over the shoulders of other anglers. It is a condition from which anglers demand relief. A measure has been provided by several methods, the principal features being an increase in fish hatching, rearing and planting, and the inauguration of intensive stream surveys and analyses to serve as a basis for improvement programs to make the streams produce more fish per acre of water. Nevertheless, the problem of providing adequate fishing opportunities for West Virginians remains locked between the millstones of a steadily growing army of anglers grinding against a definitely limited water area. Statistics tell the story.

In 1933-34, West Virginians purchased 146,070 hunting and fishing licenses of all classes. The next year the figure jumped to 160,942 licenses. In 1935-36 it reached 174,236, and in 1936-37 the number was 183,669. Including unlicensed anglers such as children under fifteen, adults over sixty and bona-fide resident landowners who may fish on their own land during season, it is estimated that the number of hunters and fishermen in the state today is well over 200,000.

However, confining the statistical comparison entirely to licensed sportsmen, 37 per cent of all hunting and fishing licenses sold in 1939 were purchased during the first six months of the year. Assuming that all such licenses were purchased by anglers, since no hunting is permitted during this period, there were 60,973 individuals looking for a place to cast their lines. As the license sales show, this is a considerable increase over the number fishing even six years ago.

This steadily increasing group finds that its fishable water area does not increase in the same manner. Rather, the tendency is for further reduction of fishing waters from the already extremely limited area of approximately 148 square miles. That this water area is unfortunately small can be seen again from a few comparisons. With a total area of 24,022 square miles, West Virginia's water area represents only 0.61 per cent of the total land area. This may be without meaning, or perhaps a comparison with other states may be in order.

Basing computations upon the 1930 Federal Bureau of Census for Areas and Population, and the 1937 report of the United States Biological Survey of licenses sold, we see that the five states which have less than 200 square miles of water area are, in order, Rhode Island, West Virginia, Arizona, Connecticut, and New Mexico. Among these five states, West Virginia has the largest population. The rank of the five states among all the forty-eight states is as follows: West Virginia, 27; Connecticut, 29; Rhode Island, 37; Arizona, 43; and New Mexico, 44.

However, West Virginia ranked eleventh among all forty-eight states in licenses sold, with Arizona next in line among the five "driest" states, ranking forty-first, Connecticut forty-second, New Mexico forty-third, and Rhode Island forty-seventh. It will thus be seen that the hunting and fishing pressure in West Virginia is terrific in comparison to these others.

A comparison of available water area per license sold further illustrates this pressure. Rhode Island anglers have a choice of thirteen acres per license, New Mexico offers 3.57 acres of water per license, Connecticut 3.34 acres, Arizona 3.24 acres, and West Virginia 0.57 acres.

Upon the basis of 37 per cent of all licenses being used by anglers, the actual water acreage per license would be 1.55. However, assuming the more likely factor that all of the 164,791 licensees in 1939 did some fishing during the year, the water acreage per license is 0.574 acres. The problem is even more acute if considerable areas of such rivers as the Ohio, Kanawha, and Monongahela, which are unsuited to game fishing, are deducted from the 148 square mile total. These rivers constitute about half of the total water area of the state, and their elimination would reduce the above figures to 0.775 and 0.287 acres per license.

One more comparison among the five "driest" states to complete the picture shows that West Virginia ranks third in percentage of water area. Rhode Island is first among these five with 16.02 per cent of the total area in water; Connecticut is second with 3 per cent; West Virginia third with 0.61 per cent; Arizona fourth with 0.13 per cent; and New Mexico is last with 0.10 per cent.

As was pointed out earlier, partial relief for angling conditions has been provided by attention of the Conservation Commission to phases which are more open to control, such as restocking, intensive stream improvement, amelioration of pollution, control of forest fires, limitation of open seasons, and other conservation regulations. Progress in these phases has been quite rapid in the last several years. The Conservation Commission enlarged the Marlinton and Petersburg trout hatcheries, making them full-sized hatcheries and rearing stations capable of producing about two million trout per year; it has enlarged the Ridge Hatchery to make it produce more bass and a quantity of forage fish; and it has constructed and developed to a point of high productivity a new bass hatchery at Palestine, which in 1940 produced more than 60 per cent of all bass stocked in West Virginia.

The commission has modified the fish planting program to eliminate the dumping of thousands of tiny one and two inch fish whose survival ratio is less than 5 per cent, and inaugurated the policy of stocking larger fish, preferably three inches and upward to legal size, which have much better chances to survive and provide sport for fishermen.

As a result of expansion and intensification, fish planting in state streams has jumped from some 650,000 produced a dozen years ago to a high point of 3,340,000 produced in 1936. Since the policy of planting only larger fish has been in effect, limitations of rearing troughs and ponds have reduced the number of fish which could be produced in a year, but the figure still is well above 2,000,000.

Fish management, a young and vigorous science, has been called upon by the Commission to help West Virginia waters produce more fish per acre. Intensive and extensive stream studies are underway, especially in important bass streams such as the Elk, Greenbrier, South Branch of the Potomac, Cacapon, and Coal Rivers. Physical, chemical, and biological studies have been made and samples of water and river bottoms, food organisms and fish species inhabiting the waters have been subjected to laboratory analysis in the quest for technical information upon which an improvement program can be developed.

The shortage of food for larger fish in some of the streams was one of the first important facts brought to light. Like crop lands, waters must be fertile if the maximum pounds of fish possible to obtain from an acre of water is to be realized. Adequate food provisions for game species is a means of fertilization of the waters. Intensive stream improvement devices, such as log and stone dams to create pools and control runoff, have been utilized on several streams flowing through lands owned by the state and federal governments. Pollution factors have been given analysis.

An addition to fishable waters was the creation of artificial lakes in Seneca State Forest, Watoga State Park, and Cacapon State Park, which have become fish producers of merit. Study is being given to the biotics of the Tygarts Valley River reservoir created by the huge federal flood control dam near Grafton, and hope is held that eventually these impounded waters may become fish-producers.

The Conservation Commission recently obtained from the United States Engineer's office a list of flood control reservoirs planned in connection with the flood control program in this state, and it is interesting to note that when this program is carried to completion in the years to come the area of impounded waters will be approximately double the present water area. In other words, almost 300 square miles of water area would be added to West Virginia's outdoor recreational opportunities, making about 1.2 per cent of total state area under water. Even if the present seventy-five square miles of large river waters deemed unsuitable to game fishing are not materially reduced, the dam-construction program of the federal government will provide a marked gain in water area.

The fact that water is impounded in a reservoir is not automatically followed by the promise that additional fishing waters are thereby provided. A complicated biological problem is involved, a problem to which as yet skilled research scientists have not found a complete answer. The ecology of flood control waters requires much study to permit realization of comprehensive management. Nevertheless, there is hope that such future reservoirs will help to solve the problem of fishing space in West Virginia which even the most intensive water management practices yet devised have not yet solved, because the demand still far exceeds the supply.

THE MINERAL INDUSTRIES BUILDING AT WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY

By D. L. McELROY
Director, School of Mines

When the Board of Public Works released a conditional appropriation of $750,000 for the new Mineral Industries Building at West Virginia University, and the Board of Control subsequently awarded contracts for its construction, not only was there assured for the University a building that has been needed for years, but the ground-work was laid for important and needed research activities for the mineral industries of the state. The value of the products of the various mineral industries of West Virginia (totaling approximately $320,000,000 annually) is the greatest of any industry in the state. These mineral industries employ more people and pay more wages than any other industry. For these reasons, the benefits resulting from the construction and use of this new building will be felt to some degree by practically every citizen of West Virginia.

The new building, 310 feet long by 72 feet wide, and six stories high, including the basement, will be the largest on the University campus. Structural steel will be used in the building, which will have reinforced concrete floors, exterior walls of brick, and exterior trim of limestone. It will be of fireproof construction throughout. The general layout of the building is based on the principle that it will provide not only a practical but a complete workshop that may be used for both instruction and research. Expert consultants have been retained to furnish advice concerning special features, such as laboratory facilities, heating, and foundation work. By carrying all utilities in "breather walls" three feet thick along all corridors and in the ends of the building, any classroom can be converted quickly and without much expense into a laboratory, and any laboratory into a classroom.

When completed, West Virginia will have one of the outstanding mineral industries plants in the country, and every effort will be made to utilize it to the utmost benefit of the state. The installation of modern facilities will make it possible for our students to be given the best of instruction in class, and will permit extensive research in the matter of the safe and efficient production and utilization of our mineral resources. This research and instruction should help these basic industries become more prosperous. As the building will house the School of Mines, the Chemical Engineering Department, the Department of Geology, and the Geological Survey, it will be available for work in practically all phases of mining, coal preparation and utilization, ore dressing, combustion work, fuels, ceramics, metallurgy, geology, oil and gas, and all types of chemical analytical work.

Students of the University, both on the campus and in extension, will benefit most from the construction of the new Mineral Industries Building. The facilities for instruction for both undergraduate and graduate students in coal mining, oil and gas, geology, and chemical engineering will be greater than at any time in the past. As a matter of fact, these instruction facilities will be comparable with the best to be found anywhere in the country. The importance of this type of work is evident from the fact that over three thousand mining and industrial extension students are enrolled each year from the mineral industries.

When this new building is completed, the University will be in a position to turn out better trained technical men in mining, oil and gas, chemical engineering, and geology. The increased industrial activity in West Virginia makes the training of these young men one of the most important functions of the University, important not only to industry, but also to the young men who graduate from the schools of the state. An increase in the number of graduate students can be expected, which will mean much more research work into West Virginia industrial problems. The state will be provided with a greater number of young men especially trained to meet and solve these particular problems.

The state has many problems of production, preparation and utilization which need to be studied. Some of these problems involve methods, while others concern chiefly machinery and apparatus. Many are of a practical nature which, if solved, would probably be of immediate value to the industry. However, with the organization of a research program, some work should be done on fundamental subjects which have no immediate practical value, but which may provide the basis for later practical research.

It is hoped that the mineral industries, through their association by single companies and by some individual industrialists, will sponsor research work in the new building. This can be done economically by financing research fellowships for graduate students who will be able to work under the supervision of the regular staff members. Such research can be confined to the sponsor's own particular problems.

The mineral industries of the state need well-trained men, men capable of solving present problems, men fitted to go ahead with research work so vital to such industries. If all interested groups cooperate in promoting the use of the new building, the cost of it should soon be returned many times over to the citizens of West Virginia. It will be a workshop, not a monument.

DEPTH AVAILABLE FOR NAVIGATION

(Data Furnished by the War Department—Revised to October 1, 1910)

Ohio River—Improvement of the Ohio River, as authorized by Congress in the River and Harbor Act of June 25, 1910, provides for a channel depth of 9 feet in the entire 981 miles of the river by the construction of locks and dams and open channel work. The system of locks and dams throughout the river provides a navigable depth of 9 feet at ordinary river stage. New dams of modern design have been completed near Hogsett, West Virginia (Gallipolis Lock and Dam), and at Montgomery Island, 32 miles below Pittsburgh.

Monongahela River, West Virginia and Pennsylvania—The existing project provides for improvement of the river by 13 locks and dams to afford slack-water navigation from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, to 4 miles above Fairmont, a distance of 131 miles. The project is approximately complete and the controlling depth between Pittsburgh and Point Marion, Pa., 90.6 miles above the mouth is 9 feet, and above Point Marion 7 feet to the upper limits of the project.

Kanawha River, West Virginia—The existing project provides for the construction of 3 modern dams on the Kanawha River, with twin locks at London, Marmet and Winfield, and the Gallipolis lock and dam on the Ohio River, near Hogsett, West Virginia, to furnish a 9-foot navigable depth from the Ohio to a point 90.57 miles above the mouth. The dams at London and Marmet were completed in 1934, and the Winfield dam in 1937. The Gallipolis lock and dam was completed in October, 1937, thus making available a channel depth of 9 feet from the mouth of the river to the head of navigation.

Big Sandy River, West Virginia and Kentucky, Including Levisa and Tug Forks—The existing project provides for 3 locks and dams on the main river, 2 locks and dams each on Levisa Fork and Tug Fork, and regulating works below Lock No. 1, reaching to the Ohio River. The 3 locks and dams on the main river and the lower lock and dam on each fork have been constructed, providing a slack-water depth of 6 feet from the Ohio River to Louisa, Kentucky, 27 miles, and thence to Cox Branch on Levisa Fork and to Bear Branch on Tug Fork, 17.5 and 12.5 miles, respectively, above Louisa.

Tygart River Reservoir Project—The Tygart River Dam, located on the Tygart River  $2\frac{1}{4}$  miles upstream from Grafton, as authorized by the Public Works Administration January 11, 1934, and approved by Congress in the River and Harbor Act of August 30, 1935, provides for a dam 1,880 feet long and 207 feet high for the storage of 290,000 acre-feet of water to control floods and aid navigation in the Monongahela River. The dam has been completed and is now in operation as a unit in the reservoir system for the protection of Pittsburgh and the upper Ohio Valley generally.

Bluestone Reservoir Project—The proposed Bluestone Reservoir, located on the New River,  $2\frac{1}{2}$  miles above Hinton, was authorized by Executive order dated September 12, 1935, and approved by Congress in the Flood Control Act of June 22, 1936. The project, designed to afford flood control in the Kanawha and Ohio Valleys, for the development of power, and as an aid to navigation, provides for a concrete gravity type dam 165 feet high and 2,060 feet long, and a reservoir with a storage capacity of 610,000 acre-feet, extending approximately 36 miles up stream from the dam. Congress in the Flood Control Act of June 28, 1938, modified the provisions of the act of June 22, 1936, and authorized the acquisition of all necessary lands, easements and rights-of-way by the Federal Government. Funds are available to initiate construction as soon as steps for the acquisition of lands for the dam site are completed.

TYGART RIVER DAM

Located on the Tygart River, in Taylor County, 2.25 miles above Grafton.

Construction features: A concrete gravity type dam, 1,880 feet in length at the crest line and rising 207 feet above the river bed at the uncontrolled spillway section. Provides for the storage of 100,000 acre feet to make up the deficiency of water in the Monongahela River during low rainfall periods and for the storage of approximately 279,000 acre feet for flood prevention in the Monongahela and Ohio Valleys.

Cost, $18,500,000.00.

REVIEW OF 1940 BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN WEST VIRGINIA

By EARLE L. ELMORE

Director of Research, West Virginia Chamber of Commerce

Business in West Virginia during the early months of 1940 continued on the same active scale which had prevailed during the closing months of 1939. Before mid-year, the Congress initiated appropriations for National Defense which eventually totaled more than $13,000,000,000, $5,000,000,000 of which is estimated to have actually entered channels of trade and industry during the last half of 1940.

The coal mines, the natural gas fields, the chemical, steel, alloy, nickel, textile, and other manufacturing plants which feature West Virginia's industrial picture received immediate but indirect impetus to their production as a consequence of the defense expenditures. This is true in spite of the fact that specific defense expenditures within the borders of West Virginia during 1940 were very small in comparison with those made in other states. The indirect effect was nevertheless largely responsible for twelve months of trade and industrial activity seldom equalled in the state's history. Natural resource, as well as consumer goods industries, ran at near capacity in West Virginia throughout 1940, and mounting payrolls bolstered purchasing power, which was reflected unmissably in every line of trade.

The registration of all men between the ages of 21 and 36 in October for a year of military training under the provisions of "The Selective Training Service Act of 1940" provided the men for operation of the units of mechanical death dealing devices of modern warfare. The supplies to equip a force of 900,000 men in training camps in addition to the regular army required millions of dollars for housing, clothing, food, and other supplies.

Major Defense Projects

The $50,000,000 rehabilitation and expansion of the naval ordnance plant at South Charleston was the largest single defense project in West Virginia to get under way in 1940. The War Department announced on November 30th that it had awarded a contract to E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company for the design, equipment, and construction of a $15,000,000 synthetic ammonia plant near Morgantown. These two major defense projects, with the smaller contracts totaling approximately $6,000,000 awarded to West Virginia firms between June and the end of the year, brought the total to more than $70,000,000, which will add impetus to industrial activity for many months.

The original South Charleston armor plant was completed near the end of the first World War and remained idle until 1939, when the heat treatment of armor plate was resumed on a modest basis. The production of armor plate at this plant for the nation's expanding sea power will now be trebled, and an estimated additional 1,000 men will soon be employed. The machining of naval guns up to six inches in caliber will be started by the end of 1940 and at least 200 machinists will be employed. In addition, $1,527,000 will be expended on the construction of 450 housing units for defense workers and their families.

The Morgantown plant will employ more than 500 men for the manufacture of anhydrous ammonia, a basic chemical necessary to the production of explosives. Construction was started in November, and the plant may be completed within ten months and in full operation in eighteen months.

Since June, many West Virginia firms have received relatively small defense contracts calling for lumber, chemicals, steel, coal, alloys, textiles, glass, ceramic materials and other products. While the dollar value of defense contracts fell below those placed in several other states, West Virginia's contributions will be considerable in the supplying of raw materials for industries throughout the nation. West Virginia has been called the "treasure chest of industry," and aptly so, for it is truly a land of many natural resources. Its coal, petroleum, natural gas, clays, limestone, glass sand, sandstone, brines and timber are located within 350 miles of nearly one-half of the nation's population.

The Bituminous Coal Industry

While the bituminous coal industry did not have a cessation of operations such as was the case in 1939, activity was slowed somewhat for a few weeks after the first of October because the minimum prices established under the Guffey Act became effective on that date. Many large users of bituminous coal secured ample stocks before the minimum prices became effective, and, as a result, production lagged while these stocks of coal were being utilized. On a comparative basis, production dropped 3,000,000 tons in October and 1,600,000 tons in November from the same months in 1939.

The total production of West Virginia's mines during the first eleven months was 116,485,000 tons, and the December production, according to preliminary estimates, will bring the total for the year to slightly more than 126,000,000 tons, an increase of nearly 17 per cent over the 1939 production of 108,515,665 tons. The 1940 tonnage was the largest since 1929, when production was 139,000,000 tons.

Wages and salaries of employees engaged in bituminous coal mining totaled approximately $151,000,000 in 1940, an increase of 11 per cent over the 1939 wages and salaries. The number of employees averaged about 107,000, an increase of only 5 per cent, with the result that the average earnings of each man increased substantially over 1939.

The outlook for continued high production in 1941 is good. Near capacity in existing heavy industries and the construction of many new plants on behalf of national defense will undoubtedly keep coal production at a high level, and there is a distinct possibility that the 1941 production will exceed the 1940 output. However, estimates will mean nothing if peace comes to the world.

Manufacturing

The sharp rise in factory output in the last quarter of 1939, due to the influence of war orders coupled with better domestic buying in anticipation of rising prices, continued into the first half of 1940. The letting of defense contracts after the middle of June soon built up a backlog of orders for many manufacturing concerns. West Virginia's steel mills were operating at what amounted to 100 per cent capacity. Textile mills received orders for overalls, uniforms, serge cloth, blankets and a variety of other materials from the government. Nickel-copper, and other alloys, and stainless steel products were in great demand. The glass and ceramics industries were in full operation by the end of 1940.

Two new synthetic chemical products in the field of plastic made a long step forward in 1940. "Nylon" hosiery appeared on the American market and met with enthusiastic approval. Existing plants are still unable to supply the demand. The basic materials for "nylon" are made in West Virginia. "Liveglas," a vinylite plastic material, appeared in 1940 in the form of men's suspenders, wallets, belts, heels for women's shoes, and a variety of other products.

The total output of West Virginia's manufacturing industries in 1940 had an estimated value of $490,000,000, the best year since 1929. The 1937 factory production was valued at $480,526,000.

Construction

The progress of construction as shown by the value of contracts awarded lagged behind 1939 most of the time for the first 10 months of 1940, but the November total of $6,170,000 brought the grand total for eleven months to $36,649,000. This figure exceeded the full year of 1939, when the contracts awarded were $36,511,000. It is possible that the total for the year will exceed the 1934 figure of $46,193,000.

Petroleum

Loss of export markets because of war and the neutrality act restrictions, together with over-production, continued to depress crude petroleum prices in 1940. Increased motor travel by both tourists and truck transportation stimulated sales of gasoline and diesel truck fuels, but this increased domestic consumption did not offset the loss of export trade.

The total production in 1940 for West Virginia producing areas was estimated at 3,470,000 barrels, a decrease of nearly 3 per cent from the 1939 production of 3,580,000 barrels.

More than 205,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed by West Virginia motorists in 1940, for which they paid more than $41,000,000. This meant that a rich harvest of $10,700,000 in gasoline taxes was paid into the state treasury to be used for highway purposes.

Cash Farm Income

The index of prices received by West Virginia farmers for their farm products during the first half of 1940 was above 1939, but during the last quarter of the year prices were about the same. The prices of meat animals during the last quarter were below those established in 1939, when there was a sharp rise due to the stimulus of the outbreak of war in Europe.

The 1940 cash income of farmers from marketings of crops, livestock and livestock products, and government payments, will probably exceed $43,000,000. This will be a slight increase over the 1939 cash farm income of $40,973,000, which was made up of $11,028,000 from the sale of crops, $28,145,000 from sale of livestock and livestock products, and $1,800,000 from government payments.

Public Utilities

Electric power production, which set a new record in 1939, saw that record broken again in 1940. The increased activity of the bituminous coal mining industry, always a heavy consumer of electric power, as well as the expanding manufacturing industries, led the way in the consumption of electric power and pushed it to the highest levels in the state's industrial history.

The total output of electrical energy in 1940 for public use will reach 3,650,000,000 kilowatt-hours, an increase of almost 13 per cent over the 1939 production of 3,146,000,000 kilowatt-hours. Both fuel burning plants and hydro-electric plants shared in the increased output. The 1940 preliminary estimates indicate production of 437,000,000 kilowatt-hours by hydro-electric generating plants and 3,213,000,000 kilowatt-hours by other plants.

The consumption of natural gas in West Virginia in 1940 was about 11.6 per cent ahead of 1939, indicating a total value of gas sales of $13,300,000. This figure does not include natural gas used in field operations and in the manufacture of carbon black, or gas used by distributing companies in the conduct of their gas operations. The estimated volume of natural gas sold was 43,300,000,000 cubic feet.

Final statistics for 1939 show that the population served by natural gas in West Virginia on December 31st was 815,900; customers totaled 196,840; gas sales amounted to 38,871,200,000 cubic feet, valued at $11,947,700; and mileage of main totaled 9,010. The number of employees engaged in gas distribution totaled 3,220.

These natural gas statistics do not include total production of natural gas in West Virginia, but cover merely the consumption in this state. The estimated total production of natural gas for 1940 was 160,000,000,000 cubic feet, and included both domestic consumption and exports to other states.

Trade

The increase of industrial activity in 1940 and the resultant larger pay rolls was reflected in the increased volume of retail trade in nearly all types of retail outlets. Preliminary estimates indicate that the total sales in 1940 were $432,000,000, an increase of 6.7 per cent over the 1939 sales of $404,889,000.

The final census figures for retail trade in 1939 show that there were 18,928 stores having sales of $404,889,000; that 42,318 employees, with salaries aggregating $38,263,000, were engaged in retail trade; and that there were 16,202 active proprietors of unincorporated businesses whose withdrawals in lieu of salaries were estimated at $14,650,000.

The state's collections of the 2 per cent consumers' sales tax on retail sales and receipts of service establishments totaled $8,098,756 for the first eleven months of 1940, and the total for the year has been estimated at approximately $9,200,000, an increase of 10 per cent over the 1939 collections of $8,361,600. The 1937 collections totaled $8,781,992.

Other Industries

Banks and other financial institutions enjoyed a prosperous year in 1940. The debits to individual accounts as reported by the banks in the twenty-eight largest West Virginia cities were 10 per cent ahead of 1939. Life insurance companies reported sales of new paid-for ordinary life insurance would be about $56,000,000 in 1940, as compared with $52,339,000 in 1939.

As the result of the boom in building activity in residential dwellings and the spurt in defense activities and plant expansion, the lumber industry had increased business in 1940.

As a byproduct of increased employment and larger pay rolls, nearly all service industries, such as hotels, restaurants, laundries, dry cleaning establishments, and business services, reported increased business in 1940.

Employment and Pay Rolls

The estimated number of employees in non-agricultural business and government establishments in West Virginia, not including self-employed persons, casual workers, or domestic servants, and exclusive of military and maritime personnel, averaged 369,000 in 1940, an increase of 33,000 workers, or 9.5 per cent over the 1939 average of 346,000.

While the pay rolls of this group of employees are not available, the salaries of the non-agricultural employees and the groups excluded has been estimated at $543,000,000 for 1940. Self-employed persons whose withdrawals were estimated to be $110,000,000 are not embraced in these estimates.

The total income received by all the people of West Virginia in 1940 is estimated at $770,000,000. Of this aggregate sum, salaries and wages constituted $543,000,000; withdrawals of self-employed persons, $110,000,000; other labor income (pension, relief payments, et cetera), $42,000,000; and dividends, rents, interest, and royalties, $75,000,000.

However, the following municipalities in these dry counties have voted in favor of the establishment of state liquor stores: New Martinsville, Wetzel County; Ripley, Jackson County; Richwood, Nicholas County; and Spencer, Roane County.

Cities and towns have voted dry as follows: Blacksville, Ceredo, Franklin, Littleton, Lumberport, Mannington, Matoaka, Pennsboro, Ravenswood, Romney, St. Albans, Summersville, Wayne, West Union, Williamstown, and Worthington.

Majorities in favor of the establishment and maintenance of state liquor stores have been recorded at elections held in the following counties: Barbour, Pocahontas, and Preston.

Majorities in favor of the establishment and maintenance of state liquor stores have been recorded at elections held in the following cities: Clay, Clendenin, East Rainelle, Fayetteville, Glenville, Moorefield, New Martinsville, Parsons, Princeton, Richwood, Ripley, Rivesville, Spencer, and Weston.

WEST VIRGINIA'S PENAL MODERNIZATION PROGRAM

By WALTER R. THURMOND
President Board of Control

Confronted by outgrown and outmoded facilities and methods that had not been expanded or improved appreciably since the Moundsville penitentiary was established in 1866, West Virginia undertook an extensive penal modernization program in 1937 which now is nearing completion.

The seriousness of the overcrowding, which forced nearly 2,500 prisoners in space originally designed for only 862 and necessitated the incarceration of many state prisoners in county jails, had been generally recognized for several years. Then federal and state legislation forbidding the sale of prison-made goods in the open market was passed and this served to magnify the hazards of overcrowding by throwing into enforced idleness all the prisoners except the mine and farm hands and road gangs.

Under plans developed by the board of control and Governor Holt, the legislatures of 1937 and 1939 approved a program providing for expansion and reformation and setting up remedial projects, which included the establishment of a medium security prison, the installation of prison shops for the manufacture of certain commodities to be used by the state and other governmental units, the construction of an additional cell-block and extensive alteration and modernization of existing facilities at Moundsville, the ultimate introduction of a system of scientific classification of prisoners, and the establishment of a modern parole and probation system.

Medium Security Prison

The medium security prison, built near Huttonsville, in Randolph County, on a tract of land which embraces nearly 3,000 acres, not only provides relief from the overcrowding at Moundsville and in county jails, but also marks a distinct departure from the more or less indifferent attitude of the state toward the care of its prisoners. Two dormitory units housing 600 prisoners have already been completed, a third unit is nearing completion, and the fourth, or service unit, is under construction and will be completed and ready for occupancy early in 1941.

Prisoners who are deemed most likely to be reestablished to an acceptable place in society are being sent to Huttonsville from the penitentiary and county jails. While admittedly only a start, this is an important step in the direction of classification of prisoners, for it removes from the influence of the habitual or hardened criminals those men who may be able to fit into a normal social position after undergoing a degree of disciplining and rehabilitation. As of November 1, 1940, nearly 300 prisoners had been sent to Huttonsville, and it was expected that an additional 300 or more would be transferred there by the end of the year.

Every detail of modern prison theories will be embraced in the completed fireproof structures, which from the outside more nearly resemble large school buildings than the common conception of prisons. The buildings are of red brick, and, instead of the usual window bars, tool-proof steel sectional windows, which resemble the ordinary type of French windows, have been installed. Cells are entirely lacking, and in their place long, airy dormitories, each housing fifty men, have been constructed. So large are the six dormitories already completed that the capacity can be raised, if necessary, to 100 men each without violating the minimum per-man space requirements of the state department of health.

In the administration unit are complete hospital facilities including a well-equipped surgery room, an x-ray unit, dental clinic, eye, ear, nose, and throat clinic, first aid clinic, and isolation ward, and a 20-bed convalescence ward.

There are no prison walls at Huttonsville. The honor system has been used from the very beginning and is a complete success. An attempt to escape is punishable by transfer to the penitentiary at Moundsville. All of the prisoners are kept outdoors as much as possible by assignment to farm tasks on a thousand acres of cultivated farm lands. In 1940, vegetables, fruits, milk, meat, poultry, and silage, having a total approximate market value of $50,000 were produced on the farm. These products will be used at Huttonsville, Moundsville, and at other state institutions, thus serving to reduce the per-capita maintenance costs at such institutions.

The New Medium Security Prison at Huttonsville

The members of the board of control believe that, with increased production resulting from the cultivation of additional land in the prison tract, the medium security prison will in time return to the state in kind the entire capital investment of $1,300,000.

With the completion of the service unit, which also will house the kitchen, dining-room, auditorium, and central heating plant, shops will be made available for employment of many of the prisoners in the production of certain commodities to be used in the state institutions.

Improvements at Moundsville

Construction of the interior wall of the new cell-block, which will approximately double the capacity of the Moundsville penitentiary, is well under way. The walls of the new yard will be used as one side and two ends of the large new building. Although the structure cannot be completed until additional funds are made available for the steel work, the warden of the penitentiary plans to use the long building as a dormitory immediately after it is roofed and floored. Cots for several hundred men will be placed in the room pending installation of the cells, thereby immediately relieving the congestion in the old building.

Space will be provided in the new structure for a classification unit where each prisoner will be assigned for observation upon commitment to the penitentiary. Here he will be examined for mental and physical defects by psychiatrists and physicians, who will endeavor to determine whether or not it is possible for him to be restored to an acceptable place in society. This study will enable the warden to determine whether the prisoner should be sent to the medium security prison, assigned to one of the road camps, or to one of the mine or farm crews, whether he should be allowed normal privileges at Moundsville or placed with the habitual, hardened criminals. The staff also will be expected to ascertain whether the violation for which the prisoner was sentenced resulted from some mental or physical ailment that can be corrected by special medical or therapeutic treatment.

While the new unit will solve the problem of congestion in the cells and the need for classification of prisoners, it will not solve the hazards of the enforced idleness of nearly 1,600 men. To meet this problem, the board of control is renovating old buildings and installing machinery for the manufacture of several commodities such as paint, smoking tobacco, work clothes, shoes, brooms, and metal furniture which will be used by the penitentiary and other state institutions and which may be purchased by other governmental units. While the primary purpose of the state-use industries is to provide employment for a large number of prisoners, it is expected that a sharp reduction in the operating costs of the institutions using the output will be effected.

The prison reform program also includes many other less spectacular improvements which already have been completed. These consist largely of the improvement and modernization of existing facilities such as the renovation of the dining room and barracks and the removal of the laundry from beneath the dining hall, the construction of a laundry-bath house, rewiring of the entire penitentiary to lessen fire hazards, improvement of the clinic and hospital facilities, and thorough vermin extermination in all the cells.

Probation and Parole

A highly important part of West Virginia's modernized penal program is the new probation and parole system which embraces all the better and practical methods of modern probation and parole theories. The law was passed at the regular session of the legislature in 1939. It is designed to fit in closely with the classification and rehabilitation programs of the penitentiary and medium security prison in restoring to useful citizenship adult persons convicted of crime.

Besides providing the machinery heretofore lacking for the investigation and supervision of parolees, the outstanding feature of the new system is its flexibility in dealing with convicted persons. As a result, no hard and fast blanket rule governs all cases, but the erraticism of the human element is recognized and each case is considered in the light of its own merits.

Under the old law only juveniles and misdemeanants could be placed on probation, but now adults convicted of felonies for which the penalties are less than life imprisonment (provided the persons have not previously been convicted of felonies) may be placed on probation by the judge having original jurisdiction in criminal actions. Pre-probation investigation and probation supervision are reserved to the judges and probation officers of the respective judicial circuits and the probation officers of the various counties in the state. The judges, however, have the option of calling upon the state director of probation and parole for aid in this particular work. In all events, complete reports of the investigation and the conduct of the probationer are filed with the state director for possible future reference.

The probation of adults is in accord with modern penal theories wherein the object of the state is to rehabilitate and restore the offender to an acceptable place in society, rather than imprison him solely for the purpose of punishment.

The new system makes eligible for parole consideration immediately after conviction and sentence those persons not twice previously convicted of felony and not serving life sentences. Those persons twice previously convicted of felony must serve the minimum sentence before becoming eligible for parole consideration, while life-term prisoners must serve ten years before being considered for parole.

The staff of the state director is composed of eight supervising officers, who, without cost to the prisoner, thoroughly investigate the applicant for parole and study his habits, family background, associations, prison record, prison conduct, health, employment opportunities, and the condition of those dependent upon him for support. With this information at hand, the director determines whether or not the applicant may be paroled. An affirmative decision must be confirmed by the governor before parole can be effected.

After released from the penitentiary, a parolee passes immediately into the supervisory influence of the state department. The supervising officers, who are assigned to certain districts, know where the parolee is going and in what work he will be engaged. They help him overcome his weaknesses and avoid influences which might tend to attract him from an acceptable life. The rehabilitation of the parolee and his readjustment to life in the outside world become the responsibility of the supervising officers in the district where the parolee will again endeavor to lead a normal life.

PROBATION AND PAROLE IN WEST VIRGINIA

By STANLEY E. DADISMAN
Director of Probation and Parole

The new probation and parole law, passed by the legislature at the regular session in 1939, provides the basis for an adult probation and parole program in West Virginia.

Probation is the action of a court releasing a convicted offender under supervision for a period of time. Parole is the action of an executive officer or officers releasing a prisoner under supervision during the remainder of his sentence.

Under the provisions of the law, courts of record having original jurisdiction of criminal actions are authorized to release misdemeanor and certain felony offenders on probation. The courts are authorized to appoint their probation officers, and in some counties and judicial circuits these officers have been appointed and programs successfully developed. The innovations of the law and the absence of provision for funds for probation work have prevented the institution of probation programs in some counties and judicial circuits.

Advantages of the new probation law include, for the first time in West Virginia, provision for investigation before and supervision after release on probation, and the authority to release adult felony offenders on their first conviction, except in cases wherein the maximum sentence for the crime committed is life imprisonment.

The law provides for the appointment by the Governor of a Director of Probation and Parole. Investigation and supervision work in parole cases, and in probation cases referred to the Director by courts, is performed by state probation and parole officers. The Director determines the qualifications of these officers and is authorized to conduct competitive examinations for their selection. Eight probation and parole officers, a parole and record clerk at the penitentiary, and a secretary at the Capitol constitute the present staff.

Prisoners at the penitentiary eligible for parole consideration are interviewed by the parole and record clerk. The prisoner's application is prepared without effort of or expense to the prisoner or his family. Applications of city and county jail prisoners are considered by the Director when presented to him in writing.

The investigation findings of a probation and parole officer concerning a prospective probationer or parolee are presented in written report form to the court in probation cases and to the Director in parole cases. This report covers the subject's past criminal record, education, occupation, family background, habits, associations, and health, besides providing information concerning the names, ages, relationship, and condition of those dependent upon him for support, his plan for home and employment, and any other factors which may aid in determining the advisability of release.

The court may release the investigated offender on probation under the supervision of a state probation and parole officer, or may sentence him to a period of imprisonment, as circumstances may in the judgment of the court require. The Director, with the approval of the Governor, may release an investigated prisoner on parole during the remainder of his sentence. If parole of a prisoner be considered inadvisable, the law requires that he be reconsidered for parole at least once each year as long as he is imprisoned. The best interests of the state and of the prisoner determine the propriety of release.

When the program under the new law was begun in July, 1939, the responsibility of supervising two hundred and forty-eight parolees released under the former law was assumed. The first releases under the new law were effected in October, 1939. Until September 1, 1940, one hundred and fifty-two prisoners confined in the penitentiary and county jails had been released on parole. Four of these have been returned for parole violation. Under provisions of an interstate compact for supervision of probationers and parolees, twenty-eight persons have been accepted from other states for supervision in West Virginia. On September

1, 1940, West Virginia had sixteen persons under supervision in other states. On that date, fifty-two probationers were under supervision by state probation and parole officers.

Since courts of record are authorized to appoint their own probation officers and develop their own probation programs, and since there is a noticed lack of uniformity in interpretation and application of the law, it is difficult at this time to estimate the success of probation on a state-wide basis.

All prisoners at the penitentiary eligible for parole, and all prisoners confined in city and county jails who have presented applications in writing to the Director, are being considered for parole. There will be no "forgotten man" in the penitentiary, since the case of every prisoner eligible for parole is reconsidered at least once each year as long as he remains a prisoner.

Probation and parole work is social service, an effort to rehabilitate offenders and prisoners, to aid in their readjustment and to give them an opportunity to stand on their own feet to the end that they, under helpful guidance over a period of time, may establish themselves as good citizens.

THE FEDERAL REFORMATORY FOR WOMEN AT ALDERSON

The Federal Reformatory for Women, situated at Alderson, on the picturesque Greenbrier River, is now in its fourteenth year of operation. Dr. Mary B. Harris, the superintendent, had years of training in social work before accepting this office. She was most successful in administering the affairs of similar state institutions in New York and New Jersey. Her staff is composed of intelligent and loyal women, devoted to the cause. Her success in this particular field of work is remarkable, as is clearly shown by a brief resume of the results accomplished to date.

The institution has a capacity of 500, and receives women with sentences of over a year. The institution was established in 1925 and opened in 1927, since which time it has received nearly five thousand women, committed from the federal courts throughout this country and Puerto Rico, and has returned to the various states over forty-five hundred women who had violated some federal law.

Of the 1,004 who have been paroled, twenty-six, or less than 3 per cent violated the terms of their parole. Less than 7 per cent of those who were sent out at the expiration of their good time on a parole status have been returned to custody for failing to live according to the conditions of their "conditional release." This is a remarkable showing, especially since approximately 50 per cent of those sent to the institution were not only violators of the Harrison Narcotic Act but drug addicts themselves.

The fundamental reason for this success is that the institution was built and has been operated as an educational project, the prime function of which, next to custody, is to train its inmates to become useful, law-abiding citizens when they return to their communities. The reformatory, constructed without walls and with a minimum of bars, presents the appearance of the educational institution that it is. The departure from the outworn theory of prisons as places of punishment is being followed not only at Alderson, but in all federal correctional institutions. All of them have well-developed programs of classification, education, and training.

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL PLATFORM

(Adopted at Chicago, July 17, 1940)

Preamble

The world is undergoing violent change. Humanity, uneasy in this machine age, is demanding a sense of security and dignity based on human values.

No democratic government which fails to recognize this trend—and take appropriate action—can survive.

That is why the government of this nation has moved to keep ahead of this trend; has moved with speed inexplicable to those who do not see this trend.

Outside the Americas, established institutions are being overthrown and democratic philosophies are being repudiated by those whose creed recognizes no power higher than military force, no values other than a false efficiency.

What the founding fathers realized upon this continent was a daring dream, that men could have not only physical security, not only efficiency, but something else in addition that men had never had before—the security of the heart that comes with freedom, the peace of mind that comes from a sense of justice.

To this generation of Americans it is given to defend this democratic faith as it is challenged by social maladjustment within and totalitarian greed without. The world revolution against which we prepare our defense is so threatening that not until it has burned itself out in the last corner of the earth will our democracy be able to relax its guard.

In this world crisis, the purpose of the Democratic Party is to defend against external attack and justify by internal progress the system of government and way of life from which the Democratic Party takes its name.

Toward the modern fulfillment of the American ideal, the Democratic Party, during the last seven years, has labored successfully—

1. To strengthen democracy by defensive preparedness against aggression, whether by open attack or secret infiltration;
2. To strengthen democracy by increasing our economic efficiency; and
3. To strengthen democracy by improving the welfare of the people.

These three objectives are one and inseparable. No nation can be strong by armaments alone. It must possess and use all the necessary resources for producing goods plentifully and distributing them effectively. It must add to these factors of material strength the unconquerable spirit and energy of a contented people, convinced that there are no boundaries to human progress and happiness in a land of liberty.

Our faith that these objectives can be attained is made unshakable by what has already been done by the present Administration—in stopping the waste and exploitation of our human and natural resources, in restoring to the average man and woman a stake in the preservation of our democracy, in enlarging our national armaments, and in achieving national unity.

We shall hold fast to these gains. We are proud of our record. Therefore the party in convention assembled endorses wholeheartedly the brilliant and courageous leadership of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and his statesmanship and that of the Congress for the past seven trying years. And to our President and great leader we send our cordial greetings.

We Must Strengthen Democracy Against Aggression

The American people are determined that war, raging in Europe, Asia and Africa, shall not come to America.

We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack. We favor and shall rigorously enforce and defend the Monroe Doctrine.

The direction and aim of our foreign policy has been, and will continue to be, the security and defense of our own land and the maintenance of its peace.

For years our President has warned the Nation that organized assaults against religion, democracy and international good faith threatened our own peace and security. Men blinded by partisanship brushed aside these warnings as war-mongering and officious inter-meddling. The fall of twelve nations was necessary to bring their belated approval of legislative and executive action that the President had urged and undertaken with the full support of the people. It is a tribute to the President's foresight and action that our defense forces are today at the peak of their peacetime effectiveness.

Weakness and unpreparedness invite aggression. We must be so strong that no possible combination of powers would dare to attack us. We propose to provide America with an invincible air force, a Navy strong enough to protect all our seacoasts and our national interests, and a fully-equipped and mechanized Army. We shall continue to coordinate these implements of defense with the necessary expansion of industrial productive capacity and with the training of appropriate personnel. Outstanding leaders of industry and labor have already been enlisted by the Government to harness our mighty economic forces for national defense.

Experience of other nations gives warning that total defense is necessary to repel attack, and that partial defense is no defense.

We have seen the downfall of nations accomplished through internal dissension provoked from without. We denounce and will do all in our power to destroy the treasonable activities of disguised anti-democratic and un-American agencies which would sap our strength, paralyze our will to defend ourselves, and destroy our unity by inciting race against race, class against class, religion against religion, and the people against their free institutions.

To make America strong, and to keep America free, every American must give of his talents and treasure in accordance with his ability and his country's needs. We must have democracy of sacrifice as well as democracy of opportunity.

To insure that our armaments shall be implements of peace rather than war, we shall continue our traditional policies of the Good Neighbor; observe and advocate international respect for the rights of others and for treaty obligations; cultivate foreign trade through desirable trade agreements; and foster economic collaboration with the Republics of the Western Hemisphere.

In self-defense and in good conscience, the world's greatest democracy cannot afford heartlessly or in a spirit of appeasement to ignore the peace-loving and liberty-loving peoples wantonly attacked by ruthless aggressors. We pledge to extend to these peoples all the material aid at our command, consistent with law and not inconsistent with the interests of our own national self-defense—all to the end that peace and international good faith may yet emerge triumphant.

We do not regard the need for preparedness a warrant for infringement upon our civil liberties, but on the contrary we shall continue to protect them, in the:

keen realization that the vivid contrast between the freedom we enjoy and the dark repression which prevails in the lands where liberty is dead, affords warning and example to our people to confirm their faith in democracy.

We Must Strengthen Democracy by Increasing Our Economic Efficiency

The Land and the Farmer

The well-being of the land and those who work upon it is basic to the real defense and security of America.

The Republican Party gives its promises to the farmer and its allegiance to those who exploit him.

Since 1932, farm income has been doubled; six million farmers, representing more than 80 per cent of all farm families, have participated in an effective soil conservation program; the farm debt and the interest rate on farm debt have been reduced, and farm foreclosures have been drastically curtailed; rural highways and farm-to-market roads have been vastly improved and extended; the surpluses on the farms have been used to feed the needy; low cost electricity has been brought to five million farm people as a result of the rural electrification program; thousands of impoverished farm families have been rehabilitated; and steps have been taken to stop the alarming growth of farm tenancy, to increase land ownership, and to mitigate the hardships of migratory farm labor.

We pledge ourselves:

To make parity as well as soil conservation payments until such time as the goal of parity income for agriculture is realized.

To extend and enlarge the tenant purchase program until every deserving tenant farmer has a real opportunity to have a farm of his own.

To refinance existing farm debts at lower interest rates and on longer and more flexible terms.

To continue to provide for adjustment of production through democratic processes to the extent that excess surpluses are capable of control.

To continue the program of rehabilitation of farmers who need and merit aid.

To preserve and strengthen the Ever-Normal Granary on behalf of the National Defense, the consumer at home and abroad, and the American farmer.

To continue to make commodity loans to maintain the Ever-Normal Granary and to prevent destructively low prices.

To expand the domestic consumption of our surpluses by the food and cotton stamp plan, the free school lunch, low-cost milk and other plans for bringing surplus farm commodities to needy consumers.

To continue our substantially increased appropriations for research and extension work through the land-grant colleges, and for research laboratories established to develop new outlets for farm products.

To conserve the soil and water resources for the benefit of farmers and the nation. In such conservation programs we shall, so far as practicable, bring about that development in forests and other permanent crops as will not unduly expand livestock and dairy production.

To safeguard the farmer's foreign markets and expand his domestic market for all domestic crops.

To enlarge the rural electrification program.

To encourage farmer-owned and controlled cooperatives.

To continue the broad program launched by this Administration for the coordinated development of our river basins through reclamation and irrigation, flood control, reforestation and soil conservation, stream purification, recreation, fish and game protection, low-cost power, and rural industry.

To encourage marketing agreements in aid of producers of dairy products, vegetables, fruits and specialty crops for the purpose of orderly marketing and the avoidance of unfair and wasteful practices.

To extend crop insurance from wheat to other crops as rapidly as experience justifies such extension.

To safeguard the family-sized farm in all our programs.

To finance these programs adequately in order that they may be effective.

In settling new lands reclaimed from desert by projects like Grand Coulee, we shall give priority to homeless families who have lost their farms. As these new lands are brought into use, we shall continue by Federal purchase to retire from the plow submarginal lands so that an increased percentage of our farmers may be able to live and work on good land.

These programs will continue to be in the hands of locally-elected farmer committees to the largest extent possible. In this truly democratic way, we will continue to bring economic security to the farmer and his family, while recognizing the dignity and freedom of American farm life.

Industry and the Worker

Under Democratic auspices, more has been done in the last seven years to foster the essential freedom, dignity and opportunity of the American worker than in any other administration in the Nation's history. In consequence, labor is today taking its rightful place as a partner of management in the common cause of higher earnings, industrial efficiency, national unity and national defense.

A far-flung system of employment exchanges has brought together millions of idle workers and available jobs. The workers' right to organize and bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing is being enforced. We have enlarged the Federal machinery for the mediation of labor disputes. We have enacted an effective wage and hour law. Child labor in factories has been outlawed. Prevailing wages to workers employed on government contracts have been assured.

We pledge to continue to enforce fair labor standards; to maintain the principles of the National Labor Relations Act; to expand employment training and opportunity for our youth, older workers, and workers displaced by technological changes; to strengthen the orderly processes of collective bargaining and peaceful settlement of labor disputes; and to work always for a just distribution of our national income among those who labor.

We will continue our efforts to achieve equality of opportunity for men and women without impairing the social legislation which promotes true equality by safeguarding the health, safety and economic welfare of women workers. The right to work for compensation in both public and private employment is an inalienable privilege of women as well as men, without distinction as to marital status.

The production of coal is one of our most important basic industries. Stability of production, employment, distribution and price are indispensable to the public welfare. We pledge continuation of the Federal Bituminous Coal Stabilization Act, and sympathetic consideration of the application of similar legislation to the Anthracite Coal industry, in order to provide additional protection for the owners, miners and consumers of hard coal.

We shall continue to emphasize the human element in industry and strive toward increasingly wholehearted cooperation between labor and industrial management.

Capital and the Business Man

To make democracy strong, our system of business enterprise and individual initiative must be free to gear its tremendous productive capacity to serve the greatest good of the greatest number.

We have defended and will continue to defend all legitimate business.

We have attacked and will continue to attack unbridled concentration of economic power and the exploitation of the consumer and the investor.

We have attacked the kind of banking which treated America as a colonial empire to exploit; the kind of securities business which regarded the Stock Exchange as a private gambling club for wagering other people's money; the kind of public utility holding companies which used consumers' and investors' money to suborn a free press, bludgeon legislatures and political conventions, and control elections against the interest of their customers and their security holders.

We have attacked the kind of business which levied tribute on all the rest of American business by the extortionate methods of monopoly.

We did not stop with attack—we followed through with the remedy. The American people found in themselves, through the democratic process, ability to meet the economic problems of average American business where concentrated power had failed.

We found a broken and prostrate banking and financial system. We restored it to health by strengthening banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions. We have insured 62 million bank accounts, and protected millions of small investors in the security and commodity markets. We have thus revived confidence, safeguarded thrift, and opened the road to all honorable business.

We have made credit at low interest rates available to small business men, thus unfastening the oppressive yoke of a money monopoly, and giving the ordinary citizen a chance to go into business and stay in business.

We recognize the importance of small business concerns and new enterprises in our national economy, and favor the enactment of constructive legislation to safeguard the welfare of small business. Independent small-scale enterprise, no less than big business should be adequately represented on appropriate governmental boards and commissions, and its interests should be examined and fostered by a continuous research program.

We have provided an important outlet for private capital by stimulating home building and low-rent housing projects. More new homes were built throughout the nation last year than in any year since 1929.

We have fostered a well-balanced American merchant marine and the world's finest system of civil aeronautics, to promote our commerce and our national defense.

We have steered a steady course between a bankruptcy-producing deflation and a thrift-destroying inflation, so that today the dollar is the most stable and sought-after currency in the world—a factor of immeasurable benefit in our foreign and domestic commerce.

We shall continue to oppose barriers which impede trade among the several States. We pledge our best efforts in strengthening our home markets, and to this end we favor the adjustment of freight rates so that no section or State will have undue advantage over any other.

To encourage investment in productive enterprise, the tax-exempt privileges of future Federal, State and local bonds should be removed.

We have enforced the anti-trust laws more vigorously than at any time in our history, thus affording the maximum protection to the competitive system.

We favor strict supervision of all forms of the insurance business by the several States for the protection of policy holders and the public.

The full force of our policies, by raising the national income by thirty billion dollars from the low of 1932, by encouraging vast reemployment, and by elevating the level of consumer demand, has quickened the flow of buying and selling through every artery of industry and trade.

With mass purchasing power restored and many abuses eliminated, American business stands at the threshold of a great new era, richer in promise than any we have witnessed—an era of pioneering and progress beyond the present frontiers of economic activity—in transportation, in housing, in industrial expansion, and in the new utilization of the products of the farm and the factory.

We shall aid business in redeeming America's promise.

Electric Power

During the past seven years the Democratic Party has won the first major victories for the people of the nation in their generation-old contest with the Power Monopoly.

These victories have resulted in the recognition of certain self-evident principles and the realization of vast benefits by the people. These principles, long opposed by the Republican Party, are:

That the power of falling water is a gift from God and consequently belongs not to a privileged few, but to all the people, who are entitled to enjoy its benefits;

That the people have the right through their government to develop their own power sites and bring low-cost electricity to their homes, farms and factories;

That public utility holding companies must not be permitted to serve as the means by which a few men can pyramid stocks upon stocks for the sole purpose of controlling vast power empires.

We condemn the Republican policies which permitted the victimizing of investors in the securities of private power corporations, and the exploitation of the people by unnecessarily high utility costs.

We condemn the opposition of utility power interests which delayed for years the development of national defense projects in the Tennessee Valley, and which obstructed river basin improvements and other public projects bringing low-cost electric power to the people. The successful power developments in the Tennessee and Columbia river basins show the wisdom of the Democratic Party in establishing government-owned and operated hydro-electric plants in the interests of power and light consumers.

Through these Democratic victories, whole regions have been revived and restored to prosperous habitation. Production costs have been reduced. Industries have been established which employ men and capital. Cheaper electricity has brought vast economic benefits to thousands of homes and communities.

These victories of the people must be safeguarded. They will be turned to defeat if the Republican Party should be returned to power. We pledge our Party militantly to oppose every effort to encroach upon the inherent right of our people to be provided with this primary essential of life at the lowest possible cost.

The nomination of an utility executive by the Republican Party as its Presidential candidate raises squarely the issue, whether the Nation's water power shall be used for all the people or for the selfish interests of a few. We accept that issue.

Development of Western Resources

We take satisfaction in pointing out the incomparable development of the public land States under the wise and constructive legislation of this Administration. Mining has been revived, agriculture fostered, reclamation extended and natural resources developed as never before in a similar period. We pledge the continuance of such policies, based primarily on the expansion of opportunity for the people, as will encourage the full development, free from financial exploitation, of the great resources—mineral, agricultural, livestock, fishing and lumber—which the West affords.

Radio

Radio has become an integral part of the democratically accepted doctrine of freedom of speech, press, assembly and religion. We urge such legislative steps as may be required to afford the same protection from censorship that is now afforded the press under the Constitution of the United States.

We Must Strengthen Democracy by Improving the Welfare of the People

We place human resources first among the assets of a democratic society.

Unemployment

The Democratic Party wages war on unemployment, one of the gravest problems of our times, inherited at its worst from the last Republican administration. Since we assumed office, nine million additional persons have gained regular employment in normal private enterprise. All our policies—financial, industrial and agricultural—will continue to accelerate the rate of this progress.

By public action, where necessary to supplement private reemployment, we have rescued millions from idleness that breeds weakness, and given them a real stake in their country's well-being. We shall continue to recognize the obligation of government to provide work for deserving workers who cannot be absorbed by private industry.

We are opposed to vesting in the States and local authorities the control of Federally-financed work relief. We believe that this Republican proposal is a thinly disguised plan to put the unemployed back on the dole.

We will continue energetically to direct our efforts toward the employment in private industry of all those willing to work, as well as the fullest employment of money and machines. This we pledge as our primary objective.

To further implement this objective, we favor calling, under the direction of the President, a national unemployment conference of leaders of government, industry, labor and farm groups. There is work in our factories, mines, fields, forests and river basins, on our coasts, highways, railroads and inland waterways. There are houses to be built to shelter our people. Building a better America means work and a higher standard of living for every family, and a richer and more secure heritage for every American.

Social Security

The Democratic Party, which established social security for the Nation, is dedicated to its extension. We pledge to make the Social Security Act increasingly effective, by covering millions of persons not now protected under its terms; by strengthening our unemployment insurance system and establishing more adequate and uniform benefits, through the Federal equalization fund principle; by progressively extending and increasing the benefits of the old-age and survivors insurance system, including protection of the permanently disabled; and by the early realization of a minimum pension for all who have reached the age of retirement and are not gainfully employed.

Health

Good health for all the people is a prime requisite of national preparedness in its broadest sense. We have advanced public health, industrial hygiene, and maternal and child care. We are coordinating the health functions of the Federal Government. We pledge to expand these efforts and to provide more hospitals and health centers and better health protection wherever the need exists, in rural and urban areas, all through the cooperative efforts of the Federal, State and local governments, the medical, dental, nursing and other scientific professions, and the voluntary agencies.

Youth and Education

Today, when the youth of other lands is being sacrificed in war, this nation recognizes the full value of the sound youth program established by the Administration. The National Youth Administration and Civilian Conservation Corps have enabled our youths to complete their education, have maintained their health, trained them for useful citizenship, and aided them to secure employment.

Our public works have modernized and greatly expanded the Nation's schools. We have increased Federal aid for vocational education and rehabilitation, and undertaken a comprehensive program of defense-industry training. We shall continue to bring to millions of children, youths and adults, the educational and economic opportunities otherwise beyond their reach.

Slum-Clearance and Low-Rent Housing

We have launched a soundly conceived plan of loans and contributions to rid America of overcrowded slum dwellings that breed disease and crime, and to replace them by low-cost housing projects within the means of low-income families. We will extend and accelerate this plan not only in the congested city districts, but also in the small towns and farm areas, and we will make it a powerful arm of national defense by supplying housing for the families of enlisted personnel and for workers in areas where industry is expanding to meet defense needs.

Consumers

We are taking effective steps to insure that, in this period of stress, the cost of living shall not be increased by speculation and unjustified price rises.

Negroes

Our Negro citizens have participated actively in the economic and social advances launched by this Administration, including fair labor standards, social security benefits, health protection, work relief projects, decent housing, aid to education, and the rehabilitation of low-income farm families. We have aided more than half a million Negro youths in vocational training, education and employment. We shall continue to strive for complete legislative safeguards against discrimination in government service and benefits, and in the national defense forces. We pledge to uphold due process and the equal protection of the laws for every citizen, regardless of race, creed or color.

Veterans

We pledge to continue our policy of fair treatment of America's war veterans and their dependents, in just tribute to their sacrifices and their devotion to the cause of liberty.

Indians

We favor and pledge the enactment of legislation creating an Indian Claims Commission for the special purpose of entertaining and investigating claims presented by Indian groups, bands and tribes, in order that our Indian citizens may have their claims against the Government considered, adjusted, and finally settled at the earliest possible date.

Civil Service

We pledge the immediate extension of a genuine system of merit to all positions in the Executive Branch of the Federal Government except actual bona fide policy-making positions. The competitive method of selecting employees shall be improved until experience and qualification shall be the sole test in determining fitness for employment in the Federal service. Promotion and tenure in Federal service shall likewise depend upon fitness, experience and qualification. Arbitrary and unreasonable rules as to academic training shall be abolished, all to the end that a genuine system of efficiency and merit shall prevail throughout the entire Federal service.

Territories and District of Columbia

We favor a larger measure of self-government leading to Statehood, for Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. We favor the appointment of residents to office, and equal treatment of the citizens of each of these three territories. We favor the prompt determination and payment of any just claims by Indian and Eskimo citizens of Alaska against the United States.

We also favor the extension of the right of suffrage to the people of the District of Columbia.

We pledge to continue to stand guard on our true first line of defense—the security and welfare of the men, women and children of America.

Our Democratic Faith

Democracy is more than a political system for the government of a people. It is the expression of a people's faith in themselves as human beings. If this faith is permitted to die, human progress will die with it. We believe that a mechanized existence, lacking the spiritual quality of democracy, is intolerable to the free people of this country.

We therefore pledge ourselves to fight, as our fathers fought, for the right of every American to enjoy freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly, petition, and security in his home.

It is America's destiny, in these days of rampant despotism, to be the guardian of the world heritage of liberty and to hold aloft and aflame the torch of Western civilization.

The Democratic Party rededicates itself to this faith in democracy, to the defense of the American system of government, the only system under which men are masters of their own souls, the only system under which the American people, composed of many races and creeds, can live and work, play and worship in peace, security and freedom.

Firmly relying upon a continuation of the blessings of Divine Providence upon all our righteous endeavors to preserve forever the priceless heritage of American liberty and peace, we appeal to all the liberal-minded men and women of the nation to approve this platform and to go forward with us by wholeheartedly supporting the candidates who subscribe to the principles which it proclaims.

DEMOCRATIC STATE PLATFORM (Adopted at Huntington, August 9, 1940)

The Democratic Party bears the unique distinction of being the oldest political organization in the United States. It is as old as the Nation itself. Its long unbroken history is interwoven gloriously with that of the Republic. It has survived a century and a half of service because it has been, and still is, sound in its principles, progressive in its policies, and unmatched in its governmental achievements.

Our party recognizes as basic those fundamental rights of free men in a free society proclaimed to the world through the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

But we would be unfaithful to our trust and untrue to ourselves did we fail to recognize, also, the constant change and growth in the fabric of government necessitating, now and then, a wider and more liberal interpretation of the underlying principles intimately affecting the affairs of men in order that such government may meet and successfully solve the new and challenging problems arising in the pathway of a progressive people.

Therefore, the Democrats of West Virginia, in convention assembled, earnestly reaffirm their devotion to the principles formulated and announced by Thomas Jefferson, and expounded and revitalized by his illustrious successors, Andrew Jackson, Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson, and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

National

We heartily approve and endorse the excellent platform of principles adopted by the National Democratic Convention in Chicago, and we commend it in its entirety to the voters of West Virginia. To the distinguished standard bearers of the party, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Henry A. Wallace, we pledge our earnest and loyal support, to the end that our State may contribute to their certain and triumphant election next November.

In the present world crisis, when governments of free men, such as we have in the United States, are threatened from without and within by all types of espionage and treachery, the American people are indeed fortunate in having available for further patriotic service a tried and true servant of all the people unequaled in his knowledge and experience in managing the domestic affairs of our Nation and wholly unmatched in handling the delicate problems of international relationships; that we do unequivocally endorse the defense program of Franklin D. Roosevelt and commend the invaluable services rendered by the Hon. Louis A. Johnson, former Acting Secretary of War in behalf of American preparedness.

Therefore, we congratulate the American people on the renewed opportunity afforded them to follow, for another four years, the brilliant and courageous leadership of our illustrious President, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

A life-long liberal, working hand in hand with Roosevelt, we affirm that West Virginia's greatest statesman and next Governor, United States Senator, M. M. Neely, has rendered a devoted and distinguished service to our Country and to our State. Accordingly we give our unqualified and enthusiastic endorsement to his excellent record as United States Senator and to his long unparalleled service.

In recognition of his splendid qualifications we rally around the banner of Judge Harley M. Kilgore for United States Senator, and we pledge to him our active and loyal support.

We commend West Virginia's Democratic Congressmen, Jennings Randolph, Andrew Edmiston, George W. Johnson, John Kee and Joe L. Smith. We call for their reelection and for the election of the Democratic candidate from the first Congressional District, Robert L. Ramsay.

State

The ability, character, and record of each of the Democratic candidates on the State ticket are well known and they merit the unequivocal support of the people of West Virginia: M. M. Neely for Governor; William S. O'Brien for

Secretary of State; William W. Trent for Superintendent of Free Schools; Richard E. Talbott for Treasurer; Edgar B. Sims for Auditor; Clarence W. Meadows for Attorney General; and James Blaine McLaughlin for Commissioner of Agriculture.

Headed by that illustrious statesman, M. M. Neely, success in the November election, and an honest, efficient, progressive, and impartial state administration are assured.

It has been significantly stated that Neely is to West Virginia what Roosevelt is to the nation. That speaks volumes—a plain statement that the people know to be true, fully appreciate and understand.

Schools

We favor and accordingly advocate, full nine-month terms for all public schools in this State, and salaries for teachers at least comparable to the salaries paid for other types of public service; an equitable retirement system for school teachers, including a more liberal schedule of benefits; provision by adequate legislative appropriations necessary for purchase and distribution of free uniform text books. We advocate the further extension of vocational agriculture and vocational trades training in our entire State public school system.

Roads

We will seek to achieve a more adequate program for the building and maintenance of State highways with special emphasis on the extension and improvement of secondary roads in order that those on the farms and in the rural sections of the State may enjoy additional facilities for transportation and travel. We will endeavor to accomplish the elimination of all favoritism in the location, construction, and maintenance of public roads.

Abolish Political Coercion

We advocate the enactment of a law that will provide complete protection to all State employees against every form of political coercion and especially prohibit the assessment, taxation, or solicitation of these employees for political purposes, and we pledge an honest enforcement of the present West Virginia corrupt practices act as it applies to the conduct of our Primary and General elections.

Labor and Capital

We believe in furnishing ample protection and safeguards to labor and providing a fair opportunity for the investment of capital. Each is a component part of a proven system and each, equally essential to the life of the other, and to the welfare of the State. We urge the increased protection of the life and safety of those who work with their hands.

Agriculture

We pledge our efforts to the further development and advancement of our great agricultural industry. Wholehearted support will be given to the promotion of the science of agriculture and welfare of the farmer, including adequate financial assistance to the Department of Agriculture, the West Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station, the College of Agriculture, the Extension Division, and all other cooperating agencies rendering related services. Active and material encouragement will be given to the location within the State of industries which will provide markets for farm products. We favor the fullest cooperation with the Federal Government to the end that the West Virginia farmers may receive their full share of Federal agricultural benefits.

Cooperation of State and Federal Government

Social Security

We advocate the extension of the Social Security program in order that adequate care may be bestowed upon the aged and needy, and to this end we pledge, on behalf of the State, the fullest possible cooperation with the Federal Government.

State Parks

We urge the enlargement and improvement of the State Park and Conservation program, and the fullest possible utilization of Federal assistance in behalf of this consummation.

Veterans

We pledge unhesitating cooperation of the State Government with Federal Agencies in securing all possible proper benefits for all of our war veterans and those dependent upon them.

State Institutions

We favor increased cooperation with the Federal Government in the matter of making public improvements and we recommend increased utilization of all avenues to secure Federal aid in the enlarging, improving, and equipping of State Institutions.

Business and Industry

We pledge ourselves to the promotion and encouragement of all legitimate business and industry, with a special emphasis on those which are designed to increase the employment of the idle.

Public Health Service

We advocate the extension of unemployment and public health service to the end that better standards of living may be attained.

Civil Liberties

We favor the absolute protection of all the civil liberties of all the people.

Equal Pay

We urge equal pay for men and women who are employed in the public service and who perform identical or substantially identical duties.

Aid to Municipalities

It is recognized as a fact that under the 1933 tax allocation schedule, as amended, the municipalities of West Virginia have been compelled to operate with revenues wholly inadequate, and that as a result of this unfortunate situation, important public services, such as protection against fire, police protection, street repairs, and lighting have been unduly curtailed or suspended. We hereby pledge that the existent tax structure will be so revised as to supply adequate revenues necessary to permit these municipalities to perform essential governmental functions.

Interim Committee

We advocate restriction of the work of the so-called Interim Legislative Committee to its original purpose of assembling facts and information for the guidance of the legislature; and prohibition of the passage of bills proposed by such Committee until after an opportunity has been afforded for public hearings thereon. The recommendations of this Committee should be made public a reasonable time before the convening of the Legislature.

Equal Rights

We favor equal rights and privileges for all citizens regardless of race, or color, or creed.

Honest and Efficient Administration

We pledge to the people of West Virginia a continuation of honest, efficient, progressive, and impartial administration of governmental affairs and a diligent, persistent, and untiring endeavor to promote the health, happiness, and prosperity of all the people of the State.

Conclusion

Firmly relying upon a continuation of the blessings of Divine Providence upon all our righteous endeavors to preserve forever the priceless heritage of American liberty and peace, we appeal to all the liberal-minded men and women of the State to approve this platform and to go forward with us by wholeheartedly supporting the candidates who subscribe to the principles which it proclaims.

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL PLATFORM

(Adopted at Philadelphia, June 26, 1940)

---

Introduction

The Republican party, in representative Convention assembled, submits to the people of the United States the following declaration of its principles and purposes:

We state our general objectives in the simple and comprehensive words of the Preamble to the Constitution of the United States.

Those objectives as there stated are these:

"To form a more perfect Union; establish justice; insure domestic tranquility; provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity."

Meeting within the shadow of Independence Hall where those words were written we solemnly reaffirm them as a perfect statement of the ends for which we as a party propose to plan and to labor.

The record of the Roosevelt Administration is a record of failure to attain any one of those essential objectives.

Instead of leading us into More Perfect Union the Administration has deliberately fanned the flames of class hatred.

Instead of the Establishment of Justice the Administration has sought the subjection of the Judiciary to Executive discipline and domination.

Instead of insuring Domestic Tranquility the Administration has made impossible the normal friendly relation between employers and employees and has even succeeded in alienating both the great divisions of Organized Labor.

Instead of Providing for the Common Defense the Administration, notwithstanding the expenditure of billions of our dollars, has left the Nation unprepared to resist foreign attack.

Instead of promoting the General Welfare the Administration has Domesticated the Deficit, Doubled the Debt, Imposed Taxes where they do the greatest economic harm, and used Public money for partisan Political Advantage.

Instead of the Blessings of Liberty the Administration has imposed upon us a Regime of Regimentation which has deprived the Individual of his freedom and has made of America a shackled Giant.

Wholly ignoring these great objectives, as solemnly declared by the People of the United States, the New Deal Administration has for seven long years whirled in a turmoil of shifting, contradictory and overlapping administrations and policies. Confusion has reigned supreme. The only steady undeviating characteristic has been the relentless expansion of the power of the Federal government over the everyday life of the farmer, the industrial worker, and the business man. The emergency demands organization—not confusion. It demands free and intelligent cooperation—not incompetent domination. It demands a change.

The New Deal Administration has failed America.

It has failed by seducing our people to become continuously dependent upon government, thus weakening their morale and quenching the traditional American spirit.

It has failed by viciously attacking our industrial system and sapping its strength and vigor.

It has failed by attempting to send our Congress home during the world's most tragic hour, so that we might be eased into the war by word or deed during the absence of our elected representatives from Washington.

It has failed by disclosing military details of our equipment to foreign powers over protests by the heads of our armed defense.

It has failed by ignoring the lessons of fact concerning modern, mechanized, armed defense.

In these and countless other ways, the New Deal Administration has either deliberately deceived the American people or proved itself incompetent longer to handle the affairs of our government.

The zero hour is here. America must prepare at once to defend our shores, our homes, our lives, and our most cherished ideals.

To establish a first line of defense we must place in official positions men of faith who put America first and who are determined that her governmental and economic system be kept unimpaired.

Our national defense must be so strong that no unfriendly power shall ever set foot on American soil. To assure this strength our national economy, the true basis of America's defense, must be free of unwarranted government interference.

Only a strong and sufficiently prepared America can speak words of reassurance and hope to the liberty-loving peoples of the world.

National Defense

The Republican party is firmly opposed to involving this Nation in foreign war.

We are still suffering from the ill effects of the last World War—a war which cost us a twenty-four billion dollar increase in our national debt, billions of uncollectible foreign debts, and the complete upset of our economic system, in addition to the loss of human life and irreparable damage to the health of thousands of our boys.

The present National Administration has already spent for all purposes more than fifty-four billion dollars—has boosted the national debt and current federal taxes to an all-time high; and yet by the President's own admission we are still wholly unprepared to defend our country, its institutions and our individual liberties in a war that threatens to engulf the whole world; and this in spite of the fact that foreign wars have been in progress for two years or more and that military information concerning these wars and the rearmament programs of the warring nations has been at all times available to the National Administration through its diplomatic and other channels.

The Republican party stands for Americanism, preparedness, and peace. We accordingly fasten upon the New Deal full responsibility for our unpreparedness and for the consequences of involvement in war.

We declare for the prompt, orderly, and realistic building of our National Defense to the point at which we shall be able not only to defend the United States, its possessions, and essential outposts from foreign attack, but also efficiently to uphold in war the Monroe Doctrine. To this task the Republican party pledges itself when entrusted with national authority. In the meantime we shall support all necessary and proper defense measures proposed by the Administration in its belated effort to make up for lost time; but we deplore explosive utterances by the President directed at other governments which serve to imperil our peace; and we condemn all executive acts and proceedings which might lead to war without the authorization of the Congress of the United States.

Our sympathies have been profoundly stirred by invasion of unoffending countries and by disaster to nations whose ideals most closely resemble our own. We favor the extension to all peoples fighting for liberty, or whose liberty is threatened, of such aid as shall not be in violation of international law or inconsistent with the requirements of our own national defense.

We believe that the spirit which should animate our entire defensive policy is determination to preserve not our material interests merely, but those liberties which are the priceless heritage of America.

Reemployment

The New Deal's failure to solve the problem of unemployment and revive opportunity for our youth presents a major challenge to representative government and free enterprise. We propose to recreate opportunity for the youth of America and put our idle millions back to work in private industry, business, and agriculture. We propose to eliminate needless administrative restrictions, thus restoring lost motion to the wheels of individual enterprise.

Relief

We shall remove waste, discrimination, and politics from relief—through administration by the States with federal grants-in-aid on a fair and non-political basis, thus giving the man and woman on relief a larger share of the funds appropriated.

Social Security

We favor the extension of necessary old age benefits on an ear-marked pay-as-you-go basis to the extent that the revenues raised for this purpose will permit. We favor the extension of the unemployment compensation provisions of the Social Security Act, wherever practicable, to those groups and classes not now included. For such groups as may thus be covered we favor a system of unemployment compensation with experience rating provisions, aimed at protecting the worker in the regularity of his employment and providing adequate compensation for reasonable periods when that regularity of employment is interrupted. The administration should be left with the States with a minimum of federal control.

Labor Relations

The Republican party has always protected the American worker.

We shall maintain labor's right of free organization and collective bargaining.

We believe that peace and prosperity at home require harmony, teamwork, and understanding in all relations between worker and employer. When differences arise, they should be settled directly and voluntarily across the table.

Recent disclosures respecting the administration of the National Labor Relations Act require that this Act be amended in fairness to employers and all groups of employees so as to provide true freedom for, and orderliness in self-organization and collective bargaining.

Agriculture

A prosperous and stable agriculture is the foundation of our economic structure. Its preservation is a national and non-political social problem not yet solved, despite many attempts. The farmer is entitled to a profit-price for his products. The Republican party will put into effect such governmental policies, temporary and permanent, as will establish and maintain an equitable balance between labor, industry, and agriculture by expanding industrial and business activity, eliminating unemployment, lowering production costs, thereby creating increased consumer buying power for agricultural products.

Until this balance has been attained, we propose to provide benefit payments, based upon a widely-applied, constructive soil conservation program free from government-dominated production control, but administered, as far as practicable, by farmers themselves; to restrict the major benefits of these payments to operators of family-type farms; to continue all present benefit payments until our program becomes operative; and to eliminate the present extensive and costly bureaucratic interference.

We shall provide incentive payments, when necessary, to encourage increased production of agricultural commodities, adaptable to our soil and climate, not now produced in sufficient quantities for our home markets, and will stimulate the use and processing of all farm products in industry as raw materials.

We shall promote a cooperative system of adequate farm credit, at lowest interest rates commensurate with the cost of money, supervised by an independent governmental agency, with ultimate farmer ownership and control; farm commodity loans to facilitate orderly marketing and stabilize farm income; the expansion of sound, farmer-owned and farmer-controlled cooperative associations; and the support of educational and extension programs to achieve more efficient production and marketing.

We shall foster government refinancing, where necessary, of the heavy federal farm debt load through an agency segregated from cooperative credit.

We shall promote a national land use program for federal acquisition, without dislocation of local tax returns, of non-productive farm lands by voluntary sale or lease subject to approval of the States concerned; and the disposition of such lands to appropriate public uses including watershed protection and flood prevention, reforestation, recreation, erosion control, and the conservation of wild life.

We advocate a foreign trade policy which will end one-man tariff making, afford effective protection to farm products, regain our export markets, and assure an American price level for the domestically consumed portion of our export crops.

We favor effective quarantine against imported livestock, dairy, and other farm products from countries which do not impose health and sanitary standards equal to our own domestic standards.

We approve the orderly development of reclamation and irrigation, project by project and as conditions justify.

We promise adequate assistance to rural communities suffering disasters from flood, drought, and other natural causes.

We shall promote stabilization of agricultural income through intelligent management of accumulated surpluses, and through the development of outlets by supplying those in need at home and abroad.

Tariff and Reciprocal Trade

We are threatened by unfair competition in world markets and by the invasion of our home markets, especially by the products of state-controlled foreign economies.

We believe in tariff protection for Agriculture, Labor, and Industry, as essential to our American standard of living. The measure of the protection shall be determined by scientific methods with due regard to the interest of the consumer.

We shall explore every possibility of reopening the channels of international trade through negotiations so conducted as to produce genuine reciprocity and expand our exports.

We condemn the manner in which the so-called reciprocal trade agreements of the New Deal have been put into effect without adequate hearings, with undue haste, without proper consideration of our domestic producers, and without Congressional approval. These defects we shall correct.

Money

The Congress should reclaim its constitutional powers over money, and withdraw the President's arbitrary authority to manipulate the currency, establish bimetallism, issue irredeemable paper money, and debase the gold and silver coinage. We shall repeal the Thomas Inflation Amendment of 1933 and the (foreign) Silver Purchase Act of 1934, and take all possible steps to preserve the value of the government's huge holdings of gold and reintroduce gold into circulation.

Jobs and Idle Money

Believing it possible to keep the securities market clean without paralyzing it, we endorse the principle of truth in securities in the Securities Acts. To get billions of idle dollars and a multitude of idle men back to work and to promote national defense, these acts should be revised and the policies of the Commission changed to encourage the flow of private capital into industry.

Taxation

Public spending has trebled under the New Deal, while tax burdens have doubled. Huge taxes are necessary to pay for the New Deal waste for neglected national defense. We shall revise the tax system and remove those practices which impede recovery and shall apply policies which stimulate enterprise. We shall not use the taxing power as an instrument of punishment or to secure objectives not otherwise obtainable under existing law.

Public Credit

With urgent need for adequate defense, the people are burdened by a direct and contingent debt exceeding fifty billion dollars. Twenty-nine billion of this debt has been created by New Deal borrowings during the past seven years. We pledge ourselves to conserve the public credit for all essential purposes by levying taxation sufficient to cover necessary civil expenditures, a substantial part of the defense cost, and the interest and retirement of the national debt.

Public Spending

Millions of men and women still out of work after seven years of excessive spending refute the New Deal theory that "deficit spending" is the way to prosperity and jobs. Our American system of private enterprise, if permitted to go to work, can rapidly increase the wealth, income, and standard of living of all the people. We solemnly pledge that public expenditures, other than those required for full national defense and relief, shall be cut to levels necessary for the essential services of government.

Equal Rights

We favor submission by Congress to the States of an amendment to the Constitution providing for equal rights for men and women.

Negro

We pledge that our American citizens of Negro descent shall be given a square deal in the economic and political life of this nation. Discrimination in the civil service, the army, navy, and all other branches of the government must cease. To enjoy the full benefits of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness universal suffrage must be made effective for the Negro citizen. Mob violence shocks the conscience of the nation and legislation to curb this evil should be enacted.

Un-American Activities

We vigorously condemn the New Deal encouragement of various groups that seek to change the American form of government by means outside the Constitution. We condemn the appointment of members of such un-American groups to high positions of trust in the national government. The development of the treacherous so-called Fifth-Column, as it has operated in war-stricken countries, should be a solemn warning to America. We pledge the Republican party to get rid of such borers from within.

Immigration

We favor the strict enforcement of all laws controlling the entry of aliens. The activities of undesirable aliens should be investigated and those who seek to change by force and violence the American form of government should be deported.

Veterans

We pledge adequate compensation and care for veterans disabled in the service of our country, and for their widows, orphans, and dependents.

Indians

We pledge an immediate and final settlement of all Indian claims between the government and the Indian citizenship of the nation.

Hawaii

Hawaii, sharing the nation's obligations equally with the several States, is entitled to the fullest measure of home rule; and to equality with the several States in the rights of her citizens and in the application of our national laws.

Puerto Rico

Statehood is a logical aspiration of the people of Puerto Rico who were made citizens of the United States by Congress in 1917; legislation affecting Puerto Rico, in so far as feasible, should be in harmony with the realization of that aspiration.

Government and Business

We shall encourage a healthy, confident, and growing private enterprise, confine government activity to essential public services, and regulate business only so as to protect consumer, employee, and investor and without restricting the production of more and better goods at lower prices.

Monopoly

Since the passage of the Sherman Anti-trust Act by the Republican party we have consistently fought to preserve free competition with regulation to prevent abuse. New Deal policy fosters government monopoly, restricts production, and fixes prices. We shall enforce anti-trust legislation without prejudice or discrimination. We condemn the use or threatened use of criminal indictments to obtain through consent decrees objectives not contemplated by law.

Government Competition

We promise to reduce to the minimum federal competition with business. We pledge ourselves to establish honest accounting and reporting by every agency of the Federal government and to continue only those enterprises whose maintenance is clearly in the public interest.

Free Speech

The principles of a free press and free speech, as established by the Constitution, should apply to the radio. Federal regulation of radio is necessary in view of the natural limitations of wave lengths, but this gives no excuse for censorship. We oppose the use of licensing to establish arbitrary controls. Licenses should be revocable only when, after public hearings, due cause for cancellation is shown.

Small Business

The New Deal policy of interference and arbitrary regulation has injured all business, but especially small business. We promise to encourage the small business man by removing unnecessary bureaucratic regulation and interference.

Stock and Commodity Exchanges

We favor regulation of stock and commodity exchanges. They should be accorded the fullest measure of self-control consistent with the discharge of their public trust and the prevention of abuse.

Insurance

We condemn the New Deal attempts to destroy the confidence of our people in private insurance institutions. We favor continuance of regulation of insurance by the several States.

Government Reorganization

We shall reestablish in the Federal Civil Service a real merit system on a truly competitive basis and extend it to all non-policy-forming positions.

We pledge ourselves to enact legislation standardizing and simplifying quasi-judicial and administrative agencies to insure adequate notice and hearing, impartiality, adherence to the rules of evidence and full judicial review of all questions of law and fact.

Our greatest protection against totalitarian government is the American system of checks and balances. The constitutional distribution of legislative, executive, and judicial functions is essential to the preservation of this system. We pledge ourselves to make it the basis of all our policies affecting the organization and operation of our Republican form of government.

Third Term

To insure against the overthrow of our American system of government we favor an Amendment to the Constitution providing that no person shall be President of the United States for more than two terms.

A Pledge of Good Faith

The acceptance of the nominations made by this Convention carries with it, as a matter of private honor and public faith, an undertaking by each candidate to be true to the principles and program herein set forth.

We earnestly urge all patriotic men and women, regardless of former affiliations, to unite with us in the support of our declaration of principles to the end that "government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from this earth."

REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM

(Adopted at Charleston, August 15, 1940)

Preamble

Mountaineers are always free men.

The time has come for West Virginians to demonstrate that this State motto is no mere idle boast.

We are faced, in State and Nation, with an issue unmatched in gravity since 1860.

In the Nation, that issue is whether we shall surrender to State Socialism, or return to the American way.

In the State, the issue is whether we shall yield to the same forces, or rise to the challenge as befits a Commonwealth born in the travail of a Nation fighting for existence.

It is a time when preservation of the America we have known and revered overshadows every other consideration.

There are abuses and weaknesses in the State Government. These abuses we will remove if entrusted with authority. These weak spots we will strengthen. But before the central, towering issue of the national campaign, our purely local problems, important as they are, pale to insignificance. If the American form of government be not preserved nationally, there soon will be no State government to worry about.

We endorse and adopt as our own the courageous, American platform proclaimed by the Republican National Convention at Philadelphia. And we pledge our support to the candidacy of Wendell L. Willkie and Charles L. McNary, Tom Sweeney, Daniel Boone Dawson, and all other Republican candidates.

We have witnessed, during the past eight years, an almost complete distortion of the American concept of government. We have endured a period of unprecedented political betrayal.

The machinery of a once great American political party has been seized and twisted to a pattern of acquisition and collectivism.

A President elected on a pledge to reduce public expenditures has squandered the public substance, doubled the public debt, raised taxes to an all-time high and threatened the Nation's solvency.

A regime paying lip-service to democracy has destroyed states' rights, packed the Supreme Court, regimented industry and sought to centralize all authority in Washington.

A President who, as a candidate, cried out against an overmanned government, has built up an army of public employes and dependents so numerous that it may hold the balance of power in this election. He has arrayed class against class. He has stifled the industrial enterprise of the Nation. He has jeopardized our peace. He has neglected our national defense. He has impaired the strength and sapped the vitality of the American people.

Today, this man, in violation of a sacred national tradition, with the active assistance of those now reaching out for control of the Government of West Virginia, backed by an army of public beneficiaries recruited through two terms of federal control, is seeking to perpetuate himself in the office of President of the United States.

We assert, with all the sincerity of which we are capable, that defeat of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and rescue of American Government from the State Socialism toward which he has headed it, is the most important task before the American people today.

To this cause we dedicate our Party. To this duty we obligate our candidates. To this crusade we invite all true Americans.

Economy and Taxation

(In the Nation)

The money for the payment of the expenses of government and of the national and state indebtedness, unless our debts are to be dishonestly repudiated, must be taken from the people by taxation. It is not possible to collect from "economic royalists" any great proportion of our governmental requirements even if all of the property of the wealthy be appropriated. In the future, as in the past, the bulk of taxation must be paid by the great middle class of our people and by the poor. Only the irresponsible demagogue claims that any considerable part of the tax bills of the future will or can be satisfied out of the property of the wealthy. "Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors."

Almost one-third of the income of the people is now being taken by the tax collector. It is taken at the expense of food, clothing, and shelter of every man's family, and drains industry of its lifeblood and prevents the maintenance of job security.

We cannot long continue in the direction in which we are going. We are rapidly approaching the exhaustion of public credit. The expenditures of government must be brought within the government's income by reduction of expenditures and increased taxation, or the national debt must be dishonestly repudiated. We cannot continue to "borrow and spend" and retain our national honor or our system of popular government. Liberty may be lost even by a prosperous people; it cannot live in a bankrupt nation.

In 1931, the national government expended $3,168,000,000. In 1939, it spent $9,268,338,000. Although almost one-third of the income of the people is being taken by taxation, our annual deficits have increased the national debt to $45,000,000,000. Our net national deficit from 1931 to 1938 actually totalled more than all the deficits of all the other major nations of all the world combined for the same period. If we were to start paying the interest on the national debt and $500,000,000 on the principal each year, it would take one-fourth the national income for ninety years, in addition to the amount that would have to be raised for all other expenses of government.

The time must come when we must start paying the national debt. When that time comes, taxes must be increased and governmental economy practiced. The "New Deal" has neither the courage nor the will to face these self-evident facts, but continues, as it has for seven years, to borrow and spend. It once pretended a purpose to practice economy, but it has recently brazenly abandoned even that pretense. It does not propose to turn in the direction of national solvency. It does not face in that direction. During seven years its policy has become established. There is no turning aside by the "New Deal." With increased momentum, the "New Deal" carries us rocking and reeling on our way to national disaster. In November the people must choose whether to continue in the way they are being taken, or to start back up the hard and rocky hill to national solvency. It is a hard choice, but the American people have the courage and moral integrity to make it.

(In the State)

The per-capita cost of our state government has doubled in ten years. If the people of West Virginia are to meet, without impoverishment and distress, the increased Federal taxation that must come, they should be prepared for this additional burden by a substantial reduction in state taxation. This can be done without the curtailment of any essential function of the state government. The Republican party pledges itself to the attainment of that purpose with sincerity, faith, and determination. Specifically, it promises to raise the levels of exemption under the consumers' sales tax from five cents to twenty-five cents.

Feeding of Jail Prisoners on an Actual Cost Basis

The Republican party, further recognizing the urgent need for economy in government, strongly disapproves of the present system of feeding prisoners in county jails because it invites the sheriffs to charge the maximum permitted by law and to feed a minimum meal—thereby making an unjust personal profit. We advocate the feeding of prisoners on an actual cost basis, and we therefore believe the laws should be clarified so that county commissioners would reimburse the sheriffs only for actual expenses incurred in feeding prisoners.

Schools

We regard the maintenance of an efficient public education system as one of the greatest duties and responsibilities of government, the school being second only to the home in its training of the citizens of tomorrow. The public education system should be absolutely and completely divorced from politics and from all semblance of political control, and the school teachers should be wholly free from political dominance, both in their selection and in their tenure as such teachers. They should have compensation and retirement pay adequate and appropriate to a high and honorable profession and they should not be required to engage in, but should abstain from, political activity. We believe that the county Boards of Education should represent the best citizenship, without regard to political affiliation or partisan activities, and to that end we advocate that the members of such Boards be elected at special elections, by ballots without party designation, and not at general elections.

Judicial Election

We advocate the enactment of legislation providing for the election of all judges on a separate, non-partisan ballot.

Institutions

We condemn the practice existing in recent years of confining insane persons in the county jails for months at a time awaiting the time when there will be room for them in our insane asylums. Certainly, out of the millions of dollars expended by the State in the last seven years for less worthy purposes, sufficient funds could have been made available to care for these victims of misfortune. The indescribable conditions, under which these unfortunate wards of society have been confined among criminals and in filth, have occasioned distress to those whose loved ones have thus been mistreated, and disgraced a generous and humane people.

Our industrial schools for delinquent children should be provided with equipment and teachers to give the youth committed to the schools that training in crafts that was contemplated by the people of the State in their establishment and which would go far to rehabilitate these young people and make them useful members of society. As now maintained, our industrial schools are little more than places of confinement and schools of crime.

Those in charge of our insane asylums and industrial schools should owe their positions to their training and professional fitness and not to their political influence. They should hold their positions so long as their services are satisfactory and should not lose them at every change of state administration.

Municipalities

Every municipality of West Virginia has suffered from a lack of revenue for essential city services. They have been compelled to resort to unfair and unwise nuisance taxes to exist. We pledge ourselves to give proper and constructive relief to this situation.

Public Highways

The large investment of the State of West Virginia in its public roads and highways gives them a place of primary importance in the economy of the State. It is therefore the judgment of the Republican Party that a three-man Road Commission should be restored. One of its members should be an engineer, one an administrator, and the other a man familiar with finances, with the minority party represented by one of the Commissioners.

Such a commission will be better able to give closer supervision and attention to the roads of the State, and especially to the secondary road system which, having been allowed to lapse into disrepair, is sorely in need of extension and repair.

The Negro

We reaffirm our traditional friendship for our Negro citizens as evidenced by the fact that all existing state institutions for Negroes were established and expanded under Republican administrations and all existing state laws for their protection and advancement were adopted under similar auspices.

We pledge that our American citizens of Negro descent shall be given a square deal in the economic and political life of this State and Nation. Discrimination in the Civil Service, the Army, the Navy and all other branches of the Government must cease. To enjoy the full benefits of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, universal suffrage must be made effective for the Negro citizen. Mob violence shocks the conscience of the Nation, and legislation to curb this evil should be enacted.

Experience has taught that full protection of the Negro's interest necessitates his representation on all boards, committees and governmental agencies, including membership upon Boards of Education in counties having sufficient Negro population to require a Negro representative for the Negro schools of such counties.

We therefore pledge our support to these policies.

Labor and Capital

Labor and capital are equally interested in the immediate removal of the shackles placed upon them by the New Deal. To secure a sound, lasting and permanent peace between capital and labor, and to secure stable business and a prosperous people, we advocate more cooperation and less conflict in industry.

We assert that every person who earns his living by labor has the right "collectively to bargain" for the sale of his labor; has the right to be granted a safe place to work, sanitary surroundings, and a decent place to live; and has the right to have good schools and recreation for himself and family. He is also entitled to a saving wage that fits the standard of living of our Nation.

We also assert that every person who is engaged in business or industry is entitled to safety and protection in the use of his property, from sabotage, misuse, and destruction. He is also entitled to a fair and reasonable return on his investment and a reasonable rate of taxation. Both capital and labor are entitled to equal protection under the law.

The American opportunity for an employee of today to become the employer of tomorrow must be preserved.

Agriculture

We reaffirm the position taken by us in our platform of 1936, and accordingly pledge our support to the State Department of Agriculture, the Agricultural Experiment Station, the College of Agriculture, the Extension Division, and all allied agencies for greater service to the farmers; and also to the development of policies that will bring about a greater use of West Virginia's farm products in West Virginia homes.

We further pledge that, should distribution of farm products be necessary in the administration of relief, such products, so far as practicable, shall be purchased from West Virginia farmers and shall not be purchased in, and imported from, other states.

Elections

Recalling the recent active participation of Federal employees of high and low degree in the pre-primary contest of the opposition party and the methods to which resort was had by the present candidate for Governor on the opposition ticket—to wrest the political control of that party from the genuine Democrats for himself and his associate New Dealers, we pledge a comprehensive revision of the primary and general election laws to the end that a repetition of such practices may be avoided and that there may be secured to the people of this state both primary and general elections free of fraud, corruption and coercion.

Liquor Control

We believe that laws should be enacted and administrative policies and regulations adopted which will actually take state liquor control out of politics, and keep it out of politics; which will prevent all persons connected with liquor control from taking any part in politics; and which will prevent the state purchase of liquor through local agents, political or otherwise. All such purchases of liquor should be made directly from the manufacturer or importer, and thus the State will have the benefit of the great saving that will be effected by such policy.

We believe that stringent laws should be enacted and rigidly enforced to prevent any liquor manufacturer, importer, or wholesaler from making any contribution, direct or indirect, to any political party or to further any political activity. We are opposed to the indiscriminate and non-selective licensing for the sale of beer and we believe that vigilant care should be had to revoke any licenses that may have been issued to unworthy persons.

To that end we advocate that no beer license be issued or continued in any municipality without approval of municipal authorities or, outside of a municipality, without the approval of the County Court.

Water Power

This State has suffered directly and seriously from development of the New Deal water power program. Millions of tons of West Virginia coal have been displaced. Operators, miners, railroads, and railway workers alike have been penalized. Expansion of this program is a definite threat to our great basic industry. We oppose its further extension and pledge our candidates to work for its curtailment when elected to office.

Protective Tariff

West Virginia, as an important mining, agricultural and manufacturing state, has a vital stake in preservation of the American market for American producers. It has felt the impact of New Deal trading in depleted markets, curtailed production and lost jobs. It has seen its coal displaced by imported fuel oil. It has suffered the invasion of underselling foreign manufacturers, with a consequent shrinkage of buying power for its farm products;—all this as a result of an ill-advised attempt to trade off the ninety percent home market for the ten percent foreign market.

This condition can be corrected only through the election of a Republican Congress which will restore the protective tariff. It is particularly important, therefore, that we send to Washington from West Virginia a Republican United States Senator and six Republican Congressmen.

Conclusion

These are the principles upon which we stand. They are the ramparts of American freedom.

For a century and a half we have protected this freedom through adherence to the safe advice of Washington against the perpetuation of any political regime. Not until the New Deal arrogantly brushed it aside had the third term tradition been threatened.

We are opposed to a third term for any President as a threat to the very liberty of the American people. Preservation of this liberty transcends the bounds of narrow partisanship. It is a call to public service. In answering that call, we invite all true Americans, regardless of political affiliation, to join us.

ABSTRACT OF WEST VIRGINIA ELECTION LAWS

Registration of Voters

Registrars for elections held in presidential years are appointed by county courts on the first Monday in March, and for "off year" elections on the first Monday in May. Two registrars are appointed for each precinct, one from each major political party, and appointments are made upon the recommendation of the county executive committees of the two major political parties.

For the purpose of amending, correcting and completing registrations, registrars sit for two days, commencing on the second Monday in April in presidential election years, and on the first Monday in July in "off years."

County courts convene on the third Tuesday preceding both primary and general elections for the purpose of examining, amending, and correcting registration lists. Courts also convene on the Tuesday next preceding elections for the purpose of adding names of persons entitled to vote who have not been registered by the registrars. This term continues for a period not to exceed two days.

Election Officials

Three commissioners and two clerks are selected by county courts to hold elections, but not more than two commissioners and one poll clerk may be appointed from the same political party. The selections are made from the two major political parties, one commissioner and one clerk being appointed by the court upon the recommendation of each political party.

For the purpose of counting the ballots, a receiving board consisting of three commissioners and two clerks is appointed in precincts in which there are 400 or more registered voters.

Primary and General Elections

Primaries are held on the second Tuesday in May in presidential years and on the first Tuesday in August in "off years." General elections are held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November in even years.

At every election, the polls open at 6:30 in the morning and close at 6:30 in the evening.

Qualified Voters

Citizens of West Virginia who have resided in the state for one year, and in the county for sixty days prior to an election, may vote at the primary and general elections. Each voter must be registered as a member of a particular political party and the political affiliation must be disclosed by the list of registered voters of the precinct.

Minors, persons of unsound mind, paupers, and those under conviction of treason, felony, or bribery in an election are not permitted to vote.

Absent Voters' Ballots

Qualified voters who are registered and who expect to be absent from the state upon the day of an election may obtain absent voter's ballots from the clerk of the county court. Application for ballots must be filed not more than thirty nor less than ten days prior to the date of the election.

Members of Political Committees

In each presidential year, two male and two female members of the state executive committee of each party are elected at the May primaries. Three additional members-at-large are elected by the members of the state committee. In cities of 10,000 population or over, one male and one female member of each county committee is elected from each ward.

One male and one female member of the congressional, senatorial, and judicial circuit executive committees of each party are also elected at the May primaries. Terms of the members of all executive committees begin on the first day of June and continue for four years thereafter.

National Committeemen and Committeewomen

Democratic National Committeemen and Committeewomen are elected in presidential years by the members of the state committee. Republican National Committeemen and Committeewomen are elected by the delegates to national conventions.

Delegates to National Conventions and Presidential Electors

Delegates and alternate delegates to national conventions are elected at the May primaries. Presidential electors are chosen at the general election.

Presidential Preference

In presidential election years aspirants for the nomination for the office of President of the United States may, without the payment of a filing fee, have their names placed on the regular party ballot by filing with the Secretary of state an announcement in the form designated by law.

Judicial Conventions

State conventions to nominate presidential electors and judges of the supreme court of appeals are held between the first and fifteenth days of August next preceding the general election in presidential years. The time is fixed by the state executive committee of each party. County committees designate the date and places for the holding of conventions to nominate judges of circuit and inferior courts.

PUBLIC ASSISTANCE IN 1940

By A. W. GARNETT
Director of Public Assistance

West Virginia has had an integrated program of public welfare for the past four years. The more recent history of the Department of Public Assistance has emphasized the expansion of measures for the prevention of poverty and the preservation and restoration of health.

Due to the reduction of the number of employables receiving grants, a sharp decline in the department's general relief rolls began in June, 1939, continued through September, and then leveled out into fairly normal seasonal variations. Old age assistance showed a slight decrease, while the blind case load remained comparatively static and the number of dependent children showed a consistent increase. During the past year, an average of approximately 39,714 cases received actual assistance grants each month and some departmental service was rendered an additional 15,967 cases.

The department's supplementary services have, on the whole, greatly expanded. As referral agency to the WPA, approximately 50,000 employable persons were referred to this governmental agency during the past fiscal year. Over 900 children committed to the state were under the supervision of the department, and a state-wide program of special services was carried on for 2,530 children who were neglected or in danger of becoming delinquent. Through the efforts of the state and county children's workers there has been a progressive development of better child-placing standards and protective safe-guards for children and adoptive parents.

The department supervised the state's child-caring institutions and children on probation and parole from the state industrial schools. It also operated two camps for children, using them as temporary receiving homes for dependent children while more permanent plans for their future were being made. Camp Randolph, at Elkins, has an average population of about sixty children, while Camp Fair Chance, near Madison, provides care for an average of one hundred children.

Closely related to the grant-giving program is that of commodity distribution through the various county offices, in cooperation with local merchants. The commodities, furnished through the Surplus Marketing Administration, include cereals, fruits, vegetables, and dairy products. During the past fiscal year, distribution was made of commodities the value of which, estimated on the basis of retail prices to consumers in communities where distributed, totaled $2,091,000. A portion of this food was distributed to schools for hot lunch projects, and it is estimated that 45,000 children benefitted from this program during the past school term.

The department furnished seeds for and supervised the cultivation of 31,518 subsistence gardens, the average value of such gardens being estimated at $23.77. It has become increasingly apparent that the permanent value of a welfare program can be measured largely by the number of families it helps to become self-supporting again, and it is felt that the garden program is an important step in this direction.

There has been a significant change within the past fiscal year with reference to the medical care of old age assistance, aid to the blind and aid to dependent children cases, the relief categories supported in part by federal funds. By far the greater part of our medical program is supported by general relief funds, and, until December 1939, the entire medical program was thus supported by the counties and state. Since that time, however, the grants made to these three classes of recipients have been increased so as to cover medical care and hospitalization. This, obviously, means that the federal government now participates in the costs of the medical program.

Since June, 1939, the department has maintained a mobile unit for the treatment of trachoma. The route now covers twenty counties, and about 225 persons are treated each month. In many cases, sight has been restored, and in many more the disease has been arrested, its contagion halted, and the pain greatly lessened.

A total of 1,782 crippled children were under care during the past fiscal year, 895 of whom were hospitalized or placed in convalescent homes. The department has maintained regular diagnostic and treatment clinics in Martinsburg, Parkersburg, Huntington, Morgantown, Wheeling, and Charleston.

Through a program of adult physical rehabilitation, the department has restored to employability 659 persons who would otherwise be in need of assistance grants. When the cost of rehabilitation is compared to that of relief for even a year, the fiscal soundness of the program is apparent. Equally apparent but more difficult to estimate is the value of the improvement in morale which results from making a citizen self-sustaining as compared to abandoning him to the career of a relief client.

Until July 1, 1940, the department sponsored thirty-four venereal disease clinics, furnishing clinicians, nurses, supplies, space, and transportation of patients. On that date these clinics were taken over by the State Health Department and this step has enabled the Department of Public Assistance to enter into an agreement with the health department for a program of treatment of neuro-syphilis, the cost of which will approximate the rate of expenditure for the venereal disease clinics heretofore sponsored. This program contemplates the treatment of a limited number of cases located by the county health departments and approved by the Bureau of Venereal Diseases of the State Health Department for admission to certain of the state-owned and state-operated hospitals, the treatment to extend over a period of from six weeks to two months for each case. The cost of these services will be limited to the approximate cost to the institution of maintaining the beds devoted to this purpose. The general effect of this plan is to rehabilitate persons rather than allow the progressive severity of the disease to result in ultimate institutional care for the remainder of their lives.

As of July 1, 1940, the department was maintaining 319 persons as patients in the tuberculosis sanatoria at Hopemont, Pinecrest, and Denmark. At that time there were 169 tuberculous persons on the waiting list, and it is estimated that if the department were to care for the entire number eligible for such support in these institutions, the cost would approximate $178,120 per year.

The department has served as the selecting agency for the CCC, and 7,286 young men were enrolled in the corps for the period from July 1, 1939, to November 1, 1940. A veterans' service division interviewed 12,805 veterans and their families in an effort to aid them in obtaining any benefits to which they might be entitled. During the past fiscal year benefits amounting to $122,798.24 were obtained.

Eleven county infirmaries, with an average total population of 368 inmates, were operated by the department at an average cost of $11.62 per month for each inmate. The department contributed a part of the maintenance cost of infirmaries in fifteen other counties, and in all counties admission to such infirmaries was under the direct supervision of the department.

RESUME OF 1940

Year of crisis, of war and the destruction of nations, 1940 found an echo in the quiet hills of West Virginia.

The tempo of the state's industrial production, caught up on the surging wave of the nation, increased to a point where it was comparable to the best years in business history.

In West Virginia's basic industry, coal, statisticians recorded a total 1940 production of more than 126,000,000 tons, second only, they said, to the 139,000,000 tons produced in 1929. On every side, industrial expansion built a firm foundation for business activity during the months ahead. Postal receipts soared to $5,142,158.98, an all-time record for the state.

Industrial Expansion

President Roosevelt came to Charleston, inspected the United States Naval Ordnance plant at South Charleston, and announced that it is a vital link in the nation's chain of armories. Later, it was announced in Washington that $50,000,000 would be spent at the plant for needed expansion.

The Appalachian Electric Power company announced that it would spend $5,000,000 for additions to its generating plant at Cabin Creek, Kanawha County, while in Harrison County, at Clarksburg, the Carnation Milk company built a creamery which will provide employment for many persons in that community.

New du Pont Plant at Morgantown

The largest single industrial development, however, had its scene in northern West Virginia. In July, 1940, the du Pont concern purchased 1,000 acres of land in Grant district, Monongalia County, and announced that $15,000,000 would be spent in the construction of and equipment for a plant to produce synthetic ammonia, similar to the product of the plant at Belle, in Kanawha county. A few weeks later, the War Department contracted with the company management to operate the proposed Morgantown plant for ammonia production. Anhydrous ammonia is the explosive constituent of all munitions.

Production at the Morgantown plant of 270 tons of ammonia daily will be in full swing by the fall of 1942, although the plant's first unit will be in production late in the year 1941. Approximately 3,500 men are to be employed in the construction of the new plant, and permanent employment will be provided for more than five hundred persons when the plant is completed.

Nylon, Lucite and Vinylite

At the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company plant at Belle, production of the new substance, nylon, was well under way during 1940. Made from coal, air, and water, nylon production was only one of the magical chemical developments of 1940 in which West Virginia industry figured, the others being another du Pont product, lucite, which can "bend" light rays in a curve, and vinylite, a new plastic manufactured by the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corporation.

New Buildings at State Institutions

With business activity booming to new high levels, state revenues found a favorable reflection from the rosy glow of prosperity. Construction of new buildings at state institutions costing approximately $5,000,000 was begun by the Board of Control. One of the largest items in this record construction activity is the allotment of $500,000 for construction of a Mineral Industries Building at West Virginia University.

Disasters and Epidemics

State news was topped during the twelve months by disaster, as was the case in virtually all of the world. Right at the beginning of the year, on January tenth, an explosion of accumulated gas in the Pond Creek Pocahontas Coal Company mine at Bartley, Logan County, snuffed out the lives of 91 men. It was the worst disaster since the Everettsville mine explosion thirteen years earlier, when 97 lives were lost.

The worst epidemic of infantile paralysis in the state's history was a feature of newspaper headlines in the latter part of the year. Most widespread in southern counties, the malady brought death to thirty children among the more than six hundred who were afflicted. The opening of schools was postponed in many counties, and officials in several communities banned attendance at public gatherings by children under sixteen years of age.

Few Changes in Administrative Officials

Administration of state affairs underwent few major changes during the period. George Ward, of Randolph county, commissioner of banking, resigned. H. P. Brightwell, of Charleston, served for a time as acting commissioner, being succeeded by R. Carl Andrews, of Charleston, former Democratic State Chairman, as commissioner.

In the closing moments of 1940, on December thirty-first, Governor Holt reappointed Colonel C. C. Tallman to another four-year term as head of the department of public safety. On January 11, 1941, the Governor appointed Clay S. Crouse, Democrat, of Beckley, Judge of the Criminal Court of Raleigh County, to succeed Harley M. Kilgore, who was elected United States Senator at the general election in November.

Election Year

One of the big events of the year was the quadriennial general election held on November fifth. United States Senator Matthew M. Neely, of Fairmont, was victorious over Daniel Boone Dawson, Charleston mayor, in the gubernatorial contest; Harley M. Kilgore, Beckley judge, was the winner over State Senator Thomas B. Sweeney in the contest for United States Senator; and, Herschel H. Rose, of Fairmont, and W. T. Lovins, of Huntington, were elected to the Supreme Court of Appeals. All are Democrats. With the election of the two Democratic candidates for Judge, the retirement of Judges Haymond Maxwell and John H. Hatcher from the high court became automatic.

All Democratic members of the House of Representatives were reelected, and Robert L. Ramsay, Democrat, of Follansbee, was elected as successor to Andrew C. Schiffler, Republican, of Wheeling, as Representative from the First Congressional District.

With the exception of Clarence W. Meadows, who began his second term as Attorney General, each member of the board of public works was elected to office for a third consecutive term.

New Merit System

Examinations were held late in the year under a merit system of employment instituted in state departments receiving federal funds. Dr. Carl M. Frasure, of West Virginia University's department of political science, was appointed by Governor Holt as supervisor. Approximately two thousand state employees are affected by the merit system.

Selective Service

For West Virginia's young men between 21 and 35 years of age, 1940 may mark the most crucial year in their lives. In October, 237,000 of these young men registered for possible compulsory military service in a new citizen's army of the United States. A total of 155 West Virginians responded to the first call for conscripts after registration.
