The Honorable Joe Manchin, III
Governor of West Virginia
State Capitol, Building 1
Charleston, West Virginia 25305

Dear Governor Manchin:

The West Virginia State Board of Examiners for Licensed Practical Nurses is pleased to provide you with our report of the biennium covering activities during the period between July 1, 2008 and June 30, 2010.

The goal of this agency is to provide competent, professionally prepared licensed practical nurses to provide safe, quality nursing care to the citizens of West Virginia. This goal is shared by other health care licensing boards and state agencies, and is demonstrated by the prevailing spirit of cooperation that exists between this Board and those other agencies. Staff and members of this Board continue to be active in nursing regulation on a national as well as state level. A cooperative spirit is also evident in health care agencies who offer their facilities for educational purposes, and then employ licensed practical nurses as a part of their health care work force.

Please feel free to contact our office with questions or comments concerning information contained in this report.

For the Board,

Lanette L. Anderson, MSN, JD, RN
Executive Director

WEST VIRGINIA STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS FOR LICENSED PRACTICAL NURSES

OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES FOR FISCAL YEAR 2009 AND 2010

Members and staff of the West Virginia State Board of Examiners for Licensed Practical Nurses are active participants in meetings and activities across the country on matters of licensing, professional regulation and changing health care delivery systems. Members and staff continue, as has historically been the case, to serve on committees at the national level with agencies involved in licensing nurses from other states as well as agencies relating to health care and other professions within our own state. This involvement assures that members are aware of the many issues surrounding not only practical nursing, but the entire health care system, as the industry continues its attempts to organize and reorganize delivery of health care to achieve acceptable quality care with fewer health care practitioners and fewer health care dollars. Changes in the patterns of delivery and mix of competent providers have resulted in fluctuations in demand for licensed practical nurses. Over time the demand in one area increases while the demand in another area may decrease. Summaries of annual reports from the state's licensed practical nursing schools demonstrate over the past few years that new graduates are employed in acute care settings at a higher rate than in previous years. With the current/impending shortage of registered professional nurses, this will likely continue to be the case. Licensed practical nurses also continue to be steadily employed in long term care, and are an important part of the health care team in that setting. Numbers of actively licensed LPNs have risen gradually over the past ten (10) years, however those licensed as new graduates and experienced nurses are generally able to obtain employment in their areas.

The number of LPN schools in West Virginia remained at twenty-three in 2009 and 2010, however another school was given tentative state approval by the Board in October 2009. This new program located at Salem International University anticipates opening by the end of 2010. Of the existing twenty-three programs, twenty-one programs are within the vocational education system, one program, the B.M. Spurr School of Practical Nursing, is privately sponsored by Reynolds Memorial Hospital, and one program is located at New River Community and Technical College.

OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES FOR FISCAL YEAR 2009 AND 2010 PAGE 2

The Board utilizes the National Council Licensure Examination for Practical Nurses, through contract with the National Council of State Boards of Nursing, Inc. This examination provides for interstate endorsement of licensees without further testing. With computer adaptive testing technology candidates are permitted to contact the testing center and test six days a week, year round rather than twice per year. They are also permitted to test in any of over 100 testing locations across the country, rather than in West Virginia alone to get a West Virginia license. Results are transmitted to the Board via internet technology from the national testing service. Candidates are forwarded their results and licensure information for new licensees is posted on the Board's website as early as the same day as the candidate completes the exam. Retesting of failing candidates is available every forty-five (45) days.

The Board monitors licensee compliance with continuing competence requirements of twenty four contact hours of continuing education and four hundred (400) clock hours of practical nurse employment in each designated two year reporting period. A reporting cycle was completed with the renewal period ending June 30, 2010. The next reporting period will end on June 30, 2012. Continuing education audits are conducted on 7 to 10% of licensees per reporting cycle.

The Board continues to receive complaints against licensees for professional misconduct. In FY 2009 we received one hundred five complaints. That number has remained fairly stable over the past five years. Increases in numbers of disciplinary cases continue to be observed in all licensed professions in all states across the country. Continuing efforts to refine the process and procedures for complaint management have resulted in effective and timely resolution in most cases. The average complaint takes approximately seventy calendar days from receipt of the complaint to execution of board action either imposing disciplinary measures or dismissing charges as unsubstantiated or outside the jurisdiction of the Board. Board staff address groups of nurses, nursing employers, and students upon request to discuss the disciplinary process, the importance of accurate documentation when providing patient care, etc.

The Board has evaluated both procedures and processes regarding effectiveness of functioning of the agency as a comparison to map progress toward achievement of strategic initiatives and outcomes approved by the Board. The Board implemented a paperless licensure system in 2010 during the license renewal period. The renewal requirements and process remained the same, however no paper license was issued to licensees. Information on the Board's website regarding licensure status is updated each business day at 3:00 pm, and employers and nurses can verify any needed information on that website.

The LPN Board continues to participate in self-evaluation activities through its participation in the Commitment to Ongoing Regulatory Excellence Project sponsored by the National Council of State Boards of Nursing. This project involves data collection on areas including licensure, governance, nursing education, discipline, fiscal information, practice, and information technology utilized by the Board. Data is collected from Board staff, Board members, and stakeholders of the Board including licensees, nurses complained against, individuals who had filed a complaint, nursing schools, professional associations, and health care facilities. Data is compiled and results are provided at three year intervals. As the purpose of the project is to collect performance data from boards of nursing in order to identify best practices, those procedures or processes that make up the best, most effective practices are then to be identified and shared with other boards of nursing. Preparation of a strategic plan, reviewed by the Board each year during its June Meeting, incorporates specific activities to guide members and staff of the Board in achieving the strategic initiatives and outcomes related to the mission of the board.

The RN and LPN Boards meet annually to discuss matters of common interest and concern. In the joint meeting held June 16, 2010, the Boards reviewed information regarding the West Virginia Center for Nursing as well as other issues affecting nursing regulation. Pursuant to legislation passed during the 2010 Legislative Session, the LPN Board will collaborate with the RN Board and West Virginia Health Care Association to develop a pilot project for unlicensed assistive personnel to administer medications in long term care settings.

OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITIES FOR FISCAL YEAR 2009 AND 2010 PAGE 4

The Board is committed to collaboration with other health related or licensing agencies and organizations to improve public access to and information about education, licensure, practice, discipline and accountability for LPNs. The board maintains a web site, a toll free telephone line, and publishes two newsletters a year. Information from the licensee data base is available on the web site. It is therefore possible for anyone with internet access to check the status of a license of an LPN from the Board's home page. This information is updated on a daily basis each business day. The Board collaborated with the West Virginia State Treasurer's Office to implement the availability of online renewals and online endorsement applications, both of which have been successful. Also, the Board participates in the process of the submission of licensure information to the National Council of State Boards of Nursing's NURSYS Data Base. The purpose of this data base is to create an unduplicated list of all licensed nurses in the United States, which can be accessed for license verification purposes by other state boards of nursing and other interested parties.

FROM THE BOARD PRESIDENT

Basic Nursing Documentation Guidelines

by Gregory B. Chiartas, Esq., President

As part of the health-care team, licensed practical nurses are responsible for documenting patient data. Such documentation provides a mechanism to assist the health care team in communicating effective, appropriate, individualized care and evaluating the progress of that care accurately. While the main purpose of nursing documentation is not legal, medical records have the potential to become an integral part of legal proceedings as well as being admitted into evidence. In addition to these uses, nursing records require comprehensive, accurate, objective documentation to meet regulatory standards (such as JCAHO and Medicare) and for proper insurance reimbursement. This article will not address documentation systems and methods but is intended purely as a basic guideline for proper documentation.

Objective, Factual Information

Nurses must document accurately, completely, and objectively including any errors that occurred. An objective description is the result of direct observation and/or measurement. This means it should contain descriptive, objective information about what the nurse sees, hears, feels and smells. Do not record opinions or assumptions. If something is not documented, the assumption will be that it was not done. Nurses must record clearly, legibly and accurately and use appropriate terminology. Use a consistent format that follows documentation policies and procedures, as well as forms that are specific to each practice setting. Nurses should document their own observations and actions only and sign their notes using their first initial, full legal surname, and designation.

Timeliness

Contemporaneous documentation is essential and is defined as the completion of the health-care record notes as close to the time of care as possible. This enhances the credibility and accuracy of health-care records. Documentation of an intervention should never be completed before it takes place. Documentation in chronological succession assists in revealing a change pattern in a client's health status. But even if out of chronological order must be entered in the health-care record. While agency policies regarding documentation should be followed, to maintain a reasonable, prudent standard of documentation, recording of nursing care provided should be more comprehensive, in depth and frequent if the client is very ill, has unstable health-care needs and/or unpredictable outcomes.

Use of Space

Documentation must not have empty lines or spaces, and the time when assessments and interventions were completed must be noted. On forms or flow sheets every required space should be filled. "Not applicable" or "N/A" should be noted rather than leaving a space blank and lines drawn through designated unused areas.

Use of Abbreviations

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals and Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO) recently expanded its 2004 National Patient Safety Goals. These goals now include a list of "dangerous" abbreviations, acronyms, and symbols that you shouldn't use in clinical documentation. They apply to "all handwritten, patient-specific documentation," but also should be applied to computer documentation as software programming is adjusted and as stocks of preprinted forms are used up. The guidelines cover all clinical documentation, including order forms and documentation, progress notes, consultation reports, and operative reports. Licensed practical nurses need to know what, if any, abbreviations are acceptable in their agency or facility. Many organizations are currently developing policies that are aimed at reducing the number of common but preventable sources of errors. These policies are related to approved or prohibited abbreviations, or are policies requiring that no abbreviations be used in a practice setting.

Follow-up

Document any follow-up of assessments, observations or interventions that have been done, including whether a physician or other care provider has been notified regarding the client. Failed attempts to reach a physician or other care provider, the follow-up action taken, and the client's response to interventions should be documented on the client's health-care record.

Correcting Errors

To correct an error in a paper-based health-care records system, one method that can be used to appropriately make corrections is to cross through the word(s) to be corrected or eliminated with a single line, and insert your initials, along with the date and time the correction is made; then enter the correct information/explanation. Some facilities require that the correction is highlighted by using an arrow or asterisk. Check the agency/facility policy for the accepted means of correcting errors, as some require that words such as "documentation error", "error" or "mistaken entry" are included with your initials.

Recording Medication Administration

Document the administration of medications immediately after its administration. This prevents errors such as another nurse administering medication when the first dose was not recorded. The documentation of medications administered by others is not acceptable, and nurses should only record medications they have administered themselves. The practice setting policy should be explicit if exceptions are permitted. The nurse should also document in the health-care record additional pertinent information related to the process of administering medications, for example if a patient has questions, refuses medication or has an undesirable reaction to a medication. Nurses must also comply with relevant legislative documentation requirements, as well as practice setting policies.

Designated Recorder in Emergency Situations

In some emergency situations (e.g., during a cardiac arrest), documentation may be done by a designated recorder. When acting as a designated recorder, the recorder identifies the persons involved and the care they provided. The practice setting policies need to provide guidance and support for how a designated recorder should document and identify the forms that are to be used.

Clarification of Orders

If an order is poorly written, never guess or rely on group consensus to interpret that order. Always call the writer for clarification. There is a high risk for error and potential for an unsafe event to occur. A written record of every telephone call should be maintained, whether it is with another care provider for clarification of orders, or with a patient following discharge from the facility or unit.

Interactions with other Health-Care Professionals

It is the nurse's responsibility when participating in team or family conferences, to document in the health-care record the outcomes or agreed upon plans of action and the names of the people involved. All health-care professionals are responsible for documenting the care they provide or the actions taken. The system used should record all interactions with members of the health-care team, including clarification of orders, failed attempts to reach other team members, and the follow up action taken.

Client Education

Documentation of patient education requires knowledge and skills that are complex and comprehensive. Nurses perform, on a daily basis, a broad scope and depth of client education. Inadequate or incomplete documentation of client education impedes communication among health-care providers about what has been taught and diminishes the aspect of this component of care. When documenting and evaluating client education, it is important to record a brief description of the material taught, the patient's understanding, and any family or others present for teaching.

Documenting an Incident in the Medical Record

When an incident occurs, pertinent data should be documented in the health-care records of the patient involved in the incident. Other names should be documented in an incident/occurrence report. The purposes of a health-care record and an incident/occurrence report differ. The patient's record includes only events directly related to the client. The policy of the practice setting should clearly describe the process of completing an incident/occurrence report. An incident report provides a description of an unexpected or unusual event, like a patient fall, medication error or harm etc. Careful documentation of incidents is important for continuous quality improvement, learning from mistakes and risk management in case of a complaint or legal action. Proper documentation regarding an incident should be concise, accurate, objective and complete; be a record of what you observed (assumptions or guesses should be avoided) and should include the actions taken by other health-care providers at the time.

In today's healthcare arena the licensed practical nurse has a professional and legal responsibility to document patient data that accurately reflects nursing assessment, plan, intervention and evaluation of the patient's condition. Without proper documentation an essential element in proper communication between the health-care team is impossible inevitably leading to a reduction in continuity and quality of patient care and an increased possibility of medical-legal or disciplinary action.

RENEWAL INFORMATION

The next renewal cycle for LPN licenses in West Virginia will begin on March 1, 2010 and extend until June 30, 2010. You must renew your license during that time period to continue working as an LPN in West Virginia after June 30, 2010. Online renewal will again be offered. REMEMBER - CE AND EMPLOYMENT HOURS ARE REQUIRED FOR THE 2010 RENEWAL!!!! THESE ARE ALWAYS REPORTED TO THE BOARD ON THE EVEN-NUMBERED YEARS. Contact the Board office with questions.

The following information is provided to let you know how many CE and employment hours will be required for renewal:

IF YOUR ORIGINAL LICENSE WAS ISSUED ON:

07-01-2009 AND AFTER (#30345 AND HIGHER) YOU ARE EXEMPT FROM CE AND EMPLOYMENT FOR THIS REPORTING PERIOD;

07-01-2008 AND 06-30-2009 (# 28580-# 30344) A MINIMUM OF 12 CE HOURS (2 MUST BE ON END OF LIFE, INCLUDING PAIN MANAGEMENT) AND A MINIMUM OF 200 HRS OF EMPLOYMENT MUST BE COMPLETED;

LICENSED BEFORE 06-30-2008 (# 00001-# 29579) A MINIMUM OF 24 CE HOURS AND A MINIMUM OF 400 HRS OF EMPLOYMENT MUST BE COMPLETED.

CHANGES TO LICENSURE PROCESS

At its October 18, 2008 meeting, the Board determined that it will proceed with a "paperless" process with regards to licenses issued. Therefore, the LPN license that was issued to you in with your renewal in 2009 is the last paper license card that you will receive. In subsequent years beginning with 2010, the process and requirements will remain the same for renewals, however you will not receive a new license in the mail. The paper license is not the best mechanism for employers to use to verify licensure; the Board's website is primary source verification, which is required by most accrediting agencies for facilities. In addition, the information for each licensee on the Board's website provides additional information regarding date of initial licensure, disciplinary status, etc. that the paper license did not contain. Paper licenses will only be provided to new licensees and those who require a duplicate license due to a name or address change.

Healthcare Reform: What Does It Mean for Nursing?

by Gregory B. Chiartas, Esq., President

After bitter partisan battling for many months, on March 23, 2010 President Barack Obama signed into law the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. One week later President Obama signed the Healthcare and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010. Together these Acts constitute what is commonly known as "Healthcare Reform." So after all the smoke clears what does Healthcare Reform mean for the future of nursing?

First it is important to note that the American Nurses Association has been advocating in favor of major health care reforms that would guarantee access to high quality health care for all for over 20 years. Long ago the ANA could see that rising healthcare costs, increasing numbers of uninsured and underinsured individuals, problems in healthcare access and quality revealed that the health care system was broken and was in urgent need of sweeping reform. As a group on the front lines of healthcare nurses witnessed first-hand the following critical issues:

- 46 million Americans without health insurance (including approximately 24 million children)
- Millions more underinsured
- Exclusion of individuals with pre-existing medical conditions from most health insurance
- Financial waste in Medicare and Medicaid
- Shortage in practicing nurses and nurse educators
- Escalating healthcare costs
- Serious decline in quality of care.

Of additional importance, nurses saw the practical daily effects of this wounded healthcare delivery system on a daily basis. Over the course of many years they watched as our ailing healthcare system resulted in:

- More patients presenting in critical and emergent medical situations due to lack of regular doctor and nurse care, driving demand for intensive and costly care (preventable care)
- Lack of money straining hospitals and other facilities that then scale back staffing levels, leaving Nurses working at full-speed over the long haul
- Lack of adequate nursing staff making for unsafe working conditions for nurses, nursing burn out or early retirement from the work force and negative patient outcomes and quality of care

Lack of nurse retention strategies and the need for new nurses*

Lack of money, innovation and facilities to produce nursing faculty capable of training new nurses.*

The ANA along with many other nursing organizations represented the nursing profession at health care summits while working with lawmakers, the Obama Administration, health care coalitions and the media to deliver nursing's message, develop solutions and take action. As the healthcare crisis deepened, so did the advocacy and influence of nurses in public policy. Ultimately nurses along with large influential groups such as AARP raised their collective voices. The result has been the most sweeping significant change of healthcare policy in the history of the United States. Now that "Healthcare Reform" is a reality what are some of the potential impacts on nursing? Clearly the ink on the federal legislation is still not dry, so in many respects it may be too soon to tell but I believe that Healthcare Reform will be overwhelmingly positive for the nursing profession because it expands the need and role of nursing in the delivery of healthcare. Healthcare reform will now make medical services available to the majority of uninsured Americans and in time will actually lessen the workload on nursing. While relief may not be immediate, this legislation does more to encourage the proper efficient distribution of medical services, seeks to attract new nurses and retain older nurses and increases financial resources available to nursing faculty and those seeking a nursing education. These increases will shore up nurse staffing levels which are a cornerstone to quality of care. In turn better staffing will result in better patient outcomes and better patient satisfaction.

Nurse staffing levels, affected by the volume of very sick and/or emergent uninsured patients already seen as a huge burden will most likely ease in a system that finally offers low-cost insurance coverage options to the near 46 million uninsured Americans. An emphasis on preventative care should help decrease emergent care needs dramatically.

So, what about the nursing shortage? Well certainly access to affordable nursing education is a key. To some degree the financing issue has already been impacted by the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009. Provisions in the ARRA included $500 million earmarked to medical education, including nursing. Also, the National Health Service Corps and medically underserved community health clinics were to receive stimulus money. Early reports are that millions of these stimulus dollars have already been rushed to prop up nursing school programs and expand services at underserved clinics across the country. Provisions in Healthcare Reform take the ARRA several steps further by increasing the availability of loans available for nursing education (Nursing Student Loan program), expanding the Nursing Loan Repayment and Scholarship Program, increasing the Nurse Faculty Loan Program, expanding the Workforce Diversity Grant Program to include diploma and associate degree nurses to enter bridge or degree completion programs, increasing funding related to Nurse Education, Practice and Retention (including grants), and seeks to significantly increase the use of Advanced Practice Registered Nurses (APRNs) in daily health care delivery.

While not a panacea, both the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and Health and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 clearly represent a movement toward much needed, meaningful reform for our nation's healthcare system. As the largest group of healthcare professionals, nurses as a unit are a critical fundamental part of the delivery of health care and essential to the practical application of healthcare reform. Under this historic new federal legislation the future looks bright for the nursing profession and those they serve.

WV REDI SYSTEM

Nurses and other health care professionals have the opportunity to assist during a health emergency which exceeds normal response capacity. WV REDI, or Responder Emergency Deployment Information System, is now available. Registration with this system enables you to volunteer to assist with direct care services or public health response such as administration of vaccinations to a large population. To register with WV REDI, you may go to the system's website at www.wvredi.org and click on "Register Now." Information can also be obtained by calling the WV Bureau of Public Health at 304-558-6900. Registration does not commit you to volunteering during an emergency; you will always have the option of declining to participate if contacted.
